WASHINGTON.

PROUD OF PRESIDENT.

Democratic Views of Newlands.

Head of the Nation a Sturdy American.

Republican Party Seemingly not in Harmony With Him.

Imperial Lands Thrown Open. Reports on the Situation in Venezuela.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Praise from a Democratic source is something more than the President could reasonably expect, but Representative Newlands of Nevada, in a letter received here today, speaks in highest terms of the President.

"I regard Mr. Roosevelt as preëminent in the Republican party for sincerity, earnestness and courage," he says, and adds: "Outside of radical questions and party differences, the Democrats must concede that President Roosevelt has conducted himself well, and that he is an American of whom every American should feel proud."

Mr. Newlands, however, believes the Republican party and the President are not in unison on the subject of trusts. He says that Mr. Roosevelt, while Governor of New York, sought to bring the great wealth of that State into some degree of contribution to the State expenses, and that, consequently, New York Republicans forced Mr. Roosevelt into the Vice-Presidency to get rid of a reform Governor.

"Their action was not in the interest of reform," writes Mr. Newlands, "but against it. They hoped to put him in a position of absolute inaction. The question is not whether Mr. Roosevelt is a reform President, but whether the Republican party is a reform party. That is the issue in this campaign. I contend that the Republican party is against the President. So far as its actions are concerned, whatever may be its verbal expression, it is against the President, and is not in sympathy with his reform views, though it will exploit them before the public for the purpose of securing an extension of power."

After paying this remarkable Democratic tribute to the President, Mr. Newlands says the Democrats are trying to harmonize to beat him.

POLITICS IN NEW ENGLAND.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Senator Scott of West Virginia, a member of the Republican National Committee, went all through New England looking into politics, and this is the report he brings back to Washington:

"I heard a great deal of talk concerning the prospect of Democratic gains and possibly some sort of victory in Maine as the result of the visit of W. J. Bryan, Senator Carmack and others there recently, but I do not think there will be any change in the net result. I am informed by Joseph Manley, member of the National Executive Committee from that State, that Maine will go as strongly Republican as usual, and I have every confidence in his judgment, as well as what my own observations lead me to conclude.

"I do not think Bryan's visits to that locality inured very much to the benefit of the Democratic party in New England. Carmack's speeches certainly did harm, if anything, on account of the radical attitude he assumed upon the question of the Philippines. I do not believe New England people are reconciled to the view of this question that he has taken."

In speaking of the Congressional outlook in West Virginia, Senator Scott said he believed a solid Republican delegation would be returned to the next Congress.

"As I reckon the situation," said he, "the combined majority of the Republican nominees for Congress in the five districts will be about 17,000. This is a very conservative estimate. All will go Republican by majorities from 2200 up to 5000. Our present Governor carried the State by 18,000, while McKinley carried it by 21,000. My Congressional estimate, therefore, is less than the majorities in other elections.

"One fact may be taken into consideration, however. In the Second, Third and Fifth districts, a coal strike has been in progress. This may result in a reduction of the majorities of 1900, but at the same time, I do not think there is any doubt about the general result."

IMPERIAL LANDS.

HERMANN'S ORDER REVOKED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Acting Commissioner-General Richards of the Land Office today revoked Commissioner Hermann's order withdrawing from entry lands around Imperial, Cal. Commissioner Hermann withdrew these lands from entry when it became known that a resurvey was necessary, and now that the resurvey has been authorized by Congress and a contract authorized to be let, the Land Office sees no reason why the lands should not be thrown open to entry again, and that order has been made in the interest of settlers.

Commissioner Hermann is now on his vacation, and there are many stories afloat that he will not remain long in his present place as Commissioner-General of the Land Office. There seems nothing to warrant belief in these reports. At the Land Office it was said today that he is expected back to resume his desk in about a month, and there is no intimation that the President is dissatisfied with his administration of Land Office affairs.

CANAL COMMISSION.

SIX MEN TO BE NAMED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Information has been received here that the President practically has decided to nominate six members of the present Isthmian Canal Commission for service under the Spooner act, authorizing construction of waterways. The members are Rear-Admiral John G. Walker, Alfred Noble, George S. Morrison, Col. Peter C. Hains, William H. Burr and Lieut.-Col. Oswald Ernst. Samuel Pasco, Lewis M. Haupt and Emory E. Johnson will retire at the conclusion of their present service. Prof. Haupt has already resigned.

The selection of these six members leaves only one more to be chosen. It is said the President is favorable to the appointment of Senator James K. Jones of Arkansas, whose term in the Senate expires March 3 next. The Constitu-

CRASHED INTO TREE.

Charles Fair and Wife Killed.

Automobile Leaves the Direct Road.

Chauffeur Becomes Insane as Result of Shock.

Victims Were on the Way to Paris from Trouville—Estate Involved.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

EVEREAUX (France) Aug. 14.—[By Atlantic Cable.] Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fair, Americans, who were related to Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr., (Miss Virginia Fair,) were returning to Paris from Trouville today, when their automobile swerved and crashed into a tree fifteen miles from here. Both were killed. The chauffeur became insane in consequence of the shock.

Mr. and Mrs. Fair had been staying at Trouville during the racing week. They had a very fast 45-horse-power automobile, which attracted considerable attention, and with which they were highly pleased. Fair had been from Trouville to Paris and back again in one day with the machine. The bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Fair were taken to the Chateau Buisson du Mai.

EYEWITNESS'S STORY.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

EVEREAUX, Aug. 14.—The accident occurred at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon and almost in front of the Chateau Buisson du Mai. The Fairs intended to dine and spend the night in Paris and return to Trouville for lunch tomorrow.

The wife of the gate keeper of the Chateau was the only witness to the disaster. She says she noticed a big red automobile coming along the road at a tremendous speed. Suddenly something happened, and the heavy machine slid sidewise from the right to the left side of the road for about sixty yards. It then dashed up an embankment, turned a complete somersault and crashed into a big elm tree in front of the gate of the Chateau. The automobile was completely wrecked. The front axle was broken and other parts of the machine were smashed, including the steering gear.

When the automobile turned over the wife of the gate keeper says she saw Mr. and Mrs Fair thrown high in the air and fall with a heavy thud to the ground. The chauffeur, who was sitting behind the Fairs, was precipitated into a ditch. He staggered to his feet, calling for help. The gate keeper's wife rushed to his assistance, and aided him in extricating Mr. and Mrs. Fair, who were buried beneath the wrecked machine and in the last throes of death. Both had sustained ghastly injuries, and were almost unrecognizable. Fair's head had been crushed in, while his wife's skull was split. The chauffeur was terribly affected at the calamity, and seemed bereft of his senses. He threw himself into a ditch on the opposite side of the road and rolled about crying "my poor master."

M. Borson, owner of the Chateau Buisson du Mai, was summoned, and after advising the local authorities of the accident, he ordered the bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Fair to be carried to the gate-keeper's lodge. Here they now lie on mattresses, and flowers have been strewn over them. In the room are three wax tapers, burning dimly. The accident was evidently due to the bursting of a tire. At the time it occurred, the automobile, which was capable of running seventy-four miles an hour, was going at the rate of sixty-two miles an hour. The local police authorities hold in their possession and have sealed up a valise belonging to the Fairs, which contains jewelry, two letters of credit, a French note worth $200, and some old coins.

THEIR PARIS SOJOURN.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PARIS, Aug. 14.—The Fairs have been living lately in Paris at the Hotel Rits, and kept their apartments there while they were staying at Trouville. This morning, the Fairs sent a dispatch from Trouville to the management of the Hotel Rits, saying they would arrive this evening.

Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, who was Mr. Fair's sister, returned from Trouville Sunday and left for New York yesterday on the North German Lloyd steamer Kron Prinz Wilhelm.

NEWS AT SAN FRANCISCO.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 14.—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fair left San Francisco in the latter part of May last for a trip to Europe. Charles Fair was the son of the late Senator Fair, and was one of the heirs to the immense estate of the late Senator. It is peculiar that a son of the late John W. Mackay, one of Senator Fair's partners, was also killed near Paris, a few years ago, by being thrown from his horse.

Charles Fair has been enthusiastic about automobiles ever since the machines came into use abroad. He was one of the first to bring automobiles to this Coast, and he owned three or four of them. He had what was very likely the largest and swiftest automobile in California. It is a huge French racing machine, and is capable, it is said, of going at a speed of seventy miles an hour. It had a forty-horse-power engine. He imported it from France, and with it imported a chauffeur.

The machine is well known on the streets of San Francisco, and in all the neighboring counties. Many a time have townspeople and farmers in San Mateo, Marin and Alameda counties rushed out of their houses, only to see the huge machine already in the distance, and leaving a trail of dust and smoke behind. Fair was also interested in yachting, and owned the steam yacht Lubero.

Fair and his wife left San Francisco for Europe May 30 last. Charles was the third of the four children of the late Mr. and Mrs. James G. Fair. Teresa, who is now the wife of Hermann Oelrichs, is the oldest of the heirs. Then came James, who died about ten years ago. Charles was the third, and the youngest was Virginia, who is now the wife of W. K. Vanderbilt.

In the spring of 1894, Charles married Maude Nelson. The ceremony took place in Oakland and was almost a secret one.

Charles Fair was one of three heirs to an immense estate, estimated in value at between $35,000,000 and $30,000,000. The other two are his two sisters.

When informed of the tragic end of his brother-in-law and his wife this afternoon, Hermann Oelrichs said:

"I am terribly shocked, but not surprised. I said only a few days ago that if Charlie persisted in carrying on his experiments along this line the result would be fatal, sooner or later. I have warned him repeatedly, but he always laughed and said there was no danger."

Fair left this city on last Decoration Day for Europe to stay two or three months. Last week a letter arrived saying that he intended sailing for the United States on the 30th of this month.

"Mr. Fair went to Europe to see what improvements had been made during the last year or two in automobiles," continued Oelrichs. "He had purchased a new one, he said, that could sustain a speed of 85 miles an hour for several hours. It was built along radically new lines, and would be one of the first machines of its class to be imported into the United States.

"Charles Fair was born in Virginia City on April 21, 1867, and was consequently 35 years of age. He brought the first automobile across the continent to this city. He was also greatly interested in photography, and constructed one of the largest cameras ever built in the United States."

Fair's lawyer, Mr. Haggerty, says the death of Charles will not upset the present arrangements for the management of the Fair estate. The property is now managed by Herman Oelrichs. Under this arrangement, Charles Fair deeded certain property to his sisters. There is now much speculation as to what will become of Charles Fair's share. On this point Haggerty says:

"Under the law of California, when a couple are victims of a common calamity, and both are between 14 and 60 years of age, and there is no evidence as to which died first, the man is presumed to have lived the longer. In such a case, all the property would go to Mr. Fair's relations—his sisters. On the other hand, if there is evidence to show that Mrs. Fair lived longer than Charles Fair, her relations in the East would inherit the property involved."

Haggerty will not discuss the matter of the will. From other sources it is learned that Charles Fair had a will which is now supposed to be locked up in his safe here in San Francisco. So little is known here of Mrs. Fair's relatives that Haggerty says he does not know where her heirs reside. It is supposed, however, that they live in New Jersey.

THE CHAUFFEUR.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 14.—It is thought that Louis Brety was the chauffeur who was in charge of the automobile at the time of the accident to Mr. and Mrs. Fair near Paris today. Fair had Brety with him when he was in this city a short time ago, and Brety left the city for Paris with the Fairs.

YOUNG FAIR'S MARRIAGE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Charlie Fair married Miss Nelson in Oakland early in 1894. Senator Fair was not at the time reconciled to the marriage. The young people went to live in a suite on Van Ness avenue. In December of that year Senator Fair was stricken with his last illness. Charlie Fair and his wife had been east on a honeymoon and had just returned. When sent for, Charlie Fair went to the Lick House and remained in the room where his father was lying. At the young man's request, the wife of Charlie Fair was sent for, and there was a reconciliation at the deathbed.

During the litigation over the Fair estate, Charlie Fair and his wife made their home mainly in this city at the Palace Hotel. But as a rule, they were abroad every year. According to friends of the couple, Charlie Fair and his wife, being of a similar disposition, were always very happy together. They were boon companions, as well as man and wife. Altogether Mrs. Fair had accumulated a fortune of $300,000 in her own right, most of the money having been given to her by her husband and invested for her. So little is known here of Mrs. Fair's relatives, that Fair's lawyer, Heggarty, says he does not know where her heirs reside. It is supposed, however, that they live in New Jersey.

Charles L. Fair's estate consists of $1,000,000 inherited from his mother and an undivided one-third of the Fair estate. This estate is now estimated to be worth, after all the litigation, between $20,000,000 and $30,000,000. Lawyer Heggarty says the death of Charles Fair will not upset the present arrangement for the management of the Fair estate. The property is now managed by Herman Oelrichs. Under this arrangement, Charles Fair deeded certain property to his sisters. Mr. and Mrs. Fair left here May 30, last, to go abroad. They had then but returned recently from Paris, where Fair had attracted attention by building some remarkably fast automobiles, and where it was his intention to create a still better roadster. The couple proceeded at once to Paris, and since that time friends in this country have heard frequently from the travelers.

IT'S JUST AS BEFORE.

Pardee Speaks of His Candidacy.

No Bad Effects from the Primaries.

Unpledged Delegations Make a Forecast Difficult.

Dispute as to Make-up of Yuba's Delegation—Cutter May Be Complimented.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] At the local headquarters of Dr. Pardee, his supporters profess the greatest confidence in their candidate's ultimate success.

Dr. Pardee, when interviewed regarding the results from all over the State, said: "We who are candidates always hope for the best. I have not been able to get any definite information concerning the real result of the election, but what I have heard indicates that Gov. Gage has not gained any more delegates than were credited to him. I am not at all discouraged by what I have heard as to the outcome of the election, and my candidacy will go on just as before. There are a number of delegations that are unpledged, and these will make it impossible to forecast the action of the convention with any degree of certainty."

YUBA'S DELEGATES.

MAY COMPLIMENT CUTTER.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

MARYSVILLE, Aug. 14.—It is stated today that four of Yuba's six delegates to the Republican State Convention are not anti-Gage. Dinsmore and Forbes are, but the balance, after giving Senator Cutter a complimentary vote, if his name be placed in nomination for Governor, will go to Gage. They merely promised, it is said, to vote for Cutter, but refused to be pledged against Gage.

IS SNYDER A JOKE?

HERRIN SO REGARDS HIM.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The greater the shrinkage in Gage's voting strength among the delegates to the State nominating convention, the louder the ward heelers, purchased Democrats and boss push in general in this city shout that he has everything in sight. The only support of any magnitude that Gage is receiving comes from the cities, San Francisco, Sacramento and Los Angeles. A well-drilled boss push can make a great dead of clatter, but conservative electors from the interior of the State contribute less noise and cast more votes than the machine delegates elected with Democratic votes in the cities.

As an example of what all the brag and bluster of Gage bosses amounts to, the best authorities here on the political situation do not give Gage over 70 of the 171 votes south of the Tehachepi line. If these were not enough to prick the bubble claims of the syndicated bosses, it is a fact, under this political outlook, Gage cannot get over 98 of the 227 votes south of San Francisco.

The frantic efforts of the organs of the Gage-Burns boss machine to make a showing of strength for their candidate made it apparent that the bosses have concluded that if Gage be not nominated on the first ballot, he cannot be nominated at all.

Mayor Snyder of Los Angeles is in the city, and very proud of the assistance his Democratic "push" gave the Gage ticket in the South. It is understood that Snyder has demanded of Herrin that the latter ordes the railroad "push" throughout the State to support him for the nomination for Governor as a reward for his services to the southern Republican machine. It is said, however, that Herrin regards Snyder as one of the recent jokes.

SHEPARD FOR PRESIDENT.

CHAIRMAN GRIGGS'S CHOICE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "For President in 1904, Edward M. Shepard," is the nomination made in a conversation with Democrats at the Hoffman House yesterday by James M. Griggs, chairman of the National Democratic Congressional Committee, who is conducting an energetic campaign by which the Democrats hope to capture the next Congress.

This announcement, coming from a Democrat who had been a staunch adherent of Bryan, and one occupying the position held by Chairman Griggs, is regarded as possessing considerable significance. It may be regarded as launching what has already assumed the proportions of a boom for Shepard for the Democratic nomination two years hence.

"I regard Mr. Shepard as one of the ablest and strongest of our national leaders," said Mr. Griggs. "I consider him the most promising in connection with the future leadership of the party. While it is a long while in advance for a prediction, I regard him as the most likely man for the Democratic nomination in 1904.

"I have the warmest admiration for Shepard, and the Democrats of the

WEAVING HIS WEB AROUND THOMPSON.

INSPECTOR HUNT STRENGTHENING CASE AGAINST SUSPECT.

Theory of Police is That Minnie Mitchell Was Murdered in the Bartholin Home and Her Body Taken in Thompson's Laundry Wagon.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—What the police believe to be another strong link in the chain of evidence being forged around the men under suspicion was developed tonight, when Police Lieut. Backus, under instructions from Inspector Hunt, took the horse and laundry wagon which it is thought may have been used to convey the body of Minnie Mitchell to the spot where it was found, and went over the same ground.

Two police officers, who were unaware of the locality where the body was found, were put in charge of the wagon. After proceeding leisurely to Sixty-eighth and State streets, the horse was turned into State street and given his head. Slowly he ambled along to within 250 feet of the spot where Minnie Mitchell's body was found. There he stopped and nibbled a bunch of grass growing along the side of the road. Then, turning a half-circle, he crossed the road, and stopped at a point directly in front of where the police had found a pair of bloody cuffs on the prairie a few feet from the road, which are believed to have belonged to Bartholin.

At this point, the driver turned the horse about, and he crossed Seventy-fourth street, and stopped at a point where Minnie Mitchell's shoe had been previously picked up. From this point the horse leisurely took his way south, until within a few feet of Seventy-fifth street, where he turned abruptly and retraced his steps, stopping about twenty feet north of Seventy-fourth street, and about forty-five feet north of where the body was found.

A second test was made by Lieut. Backus, and upon this occasion the horse stopped directly in front of the spot where the body was found.

Witnesses have been produced who will testify that Oscar Thompson, John Claffy and a third man, supposed to have been Bartholin, were in the street with this horse and wagon at daylight the morning after the disappearance of Minnie Mitchell.

Thompson has become almost a physical wreck under the "sweat-box" ordeal, and appears to be breaking down. In answer to the inspector's questions today, he said that he had no recollection of what he did the supposed night of the Mitchell murder. He remembered having eaten his supper, and of feeding the dog the next morning. The interval, however, was a blank. Thompson said that Edwards, one of Mrs. Bartholin's roomers, was a doctor, and might have "doped" him. Thompson will be put through the "sweating" process again.

THOMPSON'S GRIM JOKE.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—Becoming desperate, tonight while being subjected to a vigorous examination by Inspector Hunt, Thompson, who is detained pending investigation of the Bartholin-Mitchell murders, confessed to everything that the police have been trying to make him tell. When he had finished, Thompson laughed derisively and said: "Inspector, that story is a lie. You wanted me to tell you all these things. I have admitted all, but I might confess that it is all a lie."

Inspector Hunt, who has been laboring with Thompson for days, thought for a moment that the solution of the mystery was pouring from Thompson's lips, but the next moment he realized that Thompson was endeavoring to perpetrate a joke.

After Thompson was returned to his cell, Inspector Hunt said: "I believe that strange confession of Thompson's is his last card, and that he will tell a terrible story before long."

Troops Close Two Schools in Finisterre—Fortifications at Ploudaniel.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

PARIS, Aug. 14.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The Cabinet met at the Elysee Palace today. Premier Combes communicated reports on the situation in Finisterre, one of them being from the Superior of the Congregation of the Holy Ghost, to which the resisting sisters belong. In this report the Superior said the sisters had been ordered twice to leave their schools, but these orders had not been obeyed, owing to opposition by the peasantry, and by the owners of the properties in which the schools are situated.

Continuing, M. Combes declared that official reports showed the agitation over the closing of schools in Finisterre was purely a royalist movement. There had been grave occurrences, said the Premier, which came within the penal laws, and which would result in prosecutions, instructions for which had been sent to the Procurer-General.

CLOSE TWO SCHOOLS.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

BREST (France) Aug. 14.—Soldiers and gendarmes left here last evening to protect the commissaries in closing religious schools at Plougonvelin and Ploumoguer, Finisterre, and the schools were closed this morning, despite protests by inhabitants of the towns.

It was rumored at first that the troops were going to St. Meen and Folgoet, and the peasantry flocked to those places, remaining on guard until 6 o'clock this morning, when it was learned that the soldiers had gone to Plougonvelin and Ploumoguer. At Ploudaniel the barricade of carts, which barred the way to the Sisters' school has been replaced by a network of barbed wire, and pointed stakes have been driven into the ground to injure the horses of the gendarmes. In addition a moat has been dug in front of the school door and filled with filth.

STRONG RESISTANCE.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

BREST, Aug. 14.—The gendarmes met with strong resistance at Plougonvelin, from the assembled crowd, who unhorsed one of the number. It took the gendarmes an hour and a half to force the barricades erected in front of the school in that village.

Numerous detachments of gendarmes are arriving at Brest to assist the commissaries in their work of closing the unauthorized schools.

KNOCKS ROMANCE OUT.

LETTER FROM MRS. DEACON.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

PARIS, Aug. 14.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The Matin, which has been publishing the story of alleged secret betrothal between Crown Prince Frederick William of Germany and Miss Gladys Deacon, daughter of Mrs. Edward Parker Deacon, today ceases publication of the story, in consequence of a letter from Mrs. Deacon, which follows:

"I have read with the most profound sadness the Matin's articles. I know better than anyone the real character of the very brief relations during that meeting of forty-eight hours at Blenheim, the home of the Duke and Duchess of Marlborough, brought about between the Crown Prince and my daughter, who are both children. It required considerable imagination to transform the matter into a state affair."

LETTER FROM CAPT. BARTLETT.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—A letter received today by the secretary of the Peary Athletic Club from Capt. Samuel W. Bartlett of the club steamer Windward dated Domino Run, Labrador, July 26—four days after leaving Sydney—says: "Everything works smoothly, and are in hopes of reaching Etah August 20, and then we shall have no difficulty in crossing Smith Sound and finding Peary. Hope to see you in New York September 20 with the best of news."

OATS CORNER LITIGATION.

CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—Argument was begun today before Judge Chytraus for the dissolution of the forty-five injunctions issued in behalf of Waite, Thoburn & Co., and other Board of Trade firms against numerous commission houses, the Bank of Montreal, President Warren of the Board of Trade, and the directors of the exchange, to restrain them from running a corner in July oats. Old Board of Trade members say the case will be the most important in the history of the grain trade, for the decision will probably regulate all trade hereafter in grain for future delivery.

Jersey City Druggist and His Relatives Employ a Lawyer to Recover a Large Sum for Them.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] That Benjamin Franklin left a fortune is not generally known, yet Benjamin Franklin Bache, a druggist of Jersey City, and his relatives, who claim to be lineal descendants, have employed a lawyer to recover for them $400,000.

Bache claims that at his death Benjamin Franklin left £100,000 sterling to the cities of Boston and Philadelphia to be held in trust as a fund for the aid of invalid and incapacitated printers. This fund, Bache says, has never been used, as the donor desired, and now amounts to more than $400,000.

Associated with Bache is his brother, Walter, his sister, Mrs. Boos, and Mrs. Fine of Philadelphia, all of whom claim to be great grandchildren of Benjamin Franklin. Bache says they have family records which will establish their relationship.

LONDON "TIMES" SCORES IRISH ADMINISTRATION.

CADOGAN AND GERALD BALFOUR SEVERELY CRITICISED.

Held Responsible for Present Disturbed Condition of the Emerald Isle—Names of Five Nationalist Members Who Attended the Coronation Ceremony.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

LONDON, Aug. 14.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The Times, in an editorial article, frankly blames Earl Cadogan, the retiring Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, and Gerald W. Balfour, who was chief secretary for Ireland from 1895 to 1900, for the present disturbed condition of that country. The paper says Earl Cadogan cannot be praised as a successful ruler, and that Mr. Balfour's weak administration was a great disappointment after his brother's conspicuous success as chief secretary.

At their own request, the Times this morning publishes the names of five Nationalist members of the House of Commons, Lieut.-Col. John Philip Nolan, Samuel Young, Edward C. Thompson, Maj. John E. Jameson and William O. Doherty, who attended the coronation of King Edward in Westminster Abbey.

BACK TO COWES.

KING EDWARD AND QUEEN.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

LONDON, Aug. 14.—[By Atlantic Cable.] King Edward and Queen Alexandra left London for Cowes this afternoon. They drove in semi-state to the railway station, escorted by the Life Guards, through streets thickly crowded with cheering people.

The King and Queen arrived at Portsmouth at 4:30 p.m., and went on board the Victoria and Albert, which sailed at once for Cowes. The warships in Portsmouth Harbor dressed ship and fired the royal salute, when the King went on board the yacht.

The King and Queen arrived at Cowes at 6 p.m.

POSSIBLE TRIP TO IRELAND.

LIVERPOOL, Aug. 14.—According to the Daily Post of this city, King Edward has promised the Chief Secretary for Ireland, George Wyndham, to visit Dublin, Cork and Belfast in February, at the latest, possibly in November.

KING'S RECOVERY COMPLETE.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

LONDON, Aug. 14.—The British Medical Journal makes the announcement that it is authorized to say that there is no truth whatever in the recent rumors that King Edward will undergo a second operation. The Journal declares that the King's recovery is complete, and that his general health is better than for a long time past.

ELKS MUST HOLD NO MORE STREET FAIRS.

GRAND LODGE ADOPTS A RULE PROHIBITING THEM.

Feeling Among Members Was That These Fairs are not in Accord With Fundamental Principles of Order—Walk-over for Denver.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SALT LAKE, Aug. 14.—Street fairs or carnivals held under the auspices of Elks' lodges were absolutely prohibited by the Grand Lodge of that order today. For some time opposition to this method of raising funds has been growing, it being considered that it was not in accord with the fundamental principles of the order, and the report of the Committee on Laws and Rules, recommending that they be prohibited, was adopted overwhelmingly.

The new law will not go into effect until January 1, as many lodges in different parts of the country have already made plans for the holding of such fairs prior to that date.

The Grand Lodge took final adjournment today, after fixing the date for the 1903 reunion at Baltimore for Thursday, July 21. The newly-elected Grand Lodge officers were installed with all the solemn ceremony of the order, and much other important work accomplished, including the adoption of the report of the Elks' National Home Committee, locating the home for aged and indigent Elks at Bedford City, Va. The property secured for this purpose was formerly the Hotel Bedford, and was purchased by the committee for $12,050. The building was constructed at a cost of $90,000. The report recommends the expenditure of from $10,000 to $15,000 in repairs before opening, and also recommends that the Grand Lodge make a change in the organic law of the order, making it compulsory that applicants for membership be required to procure a physician's certificate of freedom from disease before being admitted.

The prize drill of marching clubs, scheduled for today, was a disappointment, as but one competitor appeared, the Denver lodge. They were given a prize of $250 for their drilling.

East and West trains were laden with homeward-bound Elks tonight, though thousands will stay over tomorrow, and go on the excursions to the big mining towns, and other State points of interest. Many will also stay over until Monday, to witness the Jack Root-George Gardner glove contest.

YOUTHFUL TWIN ROBBERS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WEST SUPERIOR (Wis.) Aug. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Robert and John Scott, twins, aged 13, sons of the late Mayor John W. Scott, were each given twenty-one lashes on the back by order of Judge Haley in the Municipal Court today in lieu of a reform-school sentence. By confession and evidence, the police claim the youngsters to be guilty of stealing probably hundreds of dollars from ten or twelve houses closed for the summer months by the occupants.

ROASTED HIS HORSE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PANA (Ill.) Aug. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Gus Ginet, a teamster, today severely cudgeled a balky horse which he recently purchased, and because he could not make it budge piled straw and hay underneath it, set fire to it and let it burn. The horse soon fell over dead. Ginet then cut the horse to pieces, cooked it and fed it to his hogs. He was arrested through the efforts of the Humane Society. Threats of summary punishment have been made.

Managing Editor of New York Yellow Journal Proves an "Easy Thing" for Butte Sneak Thief.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BUTTE (Mont.) Aug. 15.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Bradford Merrill, managing editor of the New York World, is wandering around somewhere in the National Park, minus a night shirt, dress suit, underwear and a lot of other effects, valued at $500.

Merrill made his first visit to Butte yesterday, and he had not been here more than two hours before a sneak thief singled him out as a good thing, and stole his dress-suit case and valise from in front of his hotel. Merrill says the valise contained all his wearing apparel, except the suit he had on, besides a lot of notes and some money, the amount of which he would not disclose. The police are looking for the stolen stuff, but Merrill could not even wait to lay in a new supply.

PIERRE LORILLARD'S ESTATE.

TRENTON (N. J.) Aug. 14.—The executors of the estate of Pierre Lorillard have filed with the Secretary of State as clerk of the prerogative court, a preliminary report of the income and disbursements of the estate. ANOTHER PRESIDENT FOR STEEL TRUST.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] With the home-coming of J. Pierpont Morgan, next week, the retirement of Charles M. Schwab, president of the United States Steel Corporation, and the election of James Gayley, the present first vice-president, as his successor, will be taken into immediate consideration.

Schwab's ill health is one of the reasons that have brought the management of the million-dollar trust to the view that the change should be made. But there are other reasons more potent than his physical condition, which suggest that his successor be named. These have been known ever since he was made president of the corporation, in accordance with the bargain entered into with Andrew Carnegie, by which Schwab became part of the United States Steel Corporation. Since that day he has been a figurehead, and the whole executive and administrative functions of the vast combination have devolved upon the present management.

From the beginning it was patent that the president was not in sympathy with his associates. He was not an old man, but he was too old to take up a line of thought entirely new, and adapt himself to conditions with which he was wholly unfamiliar. When it came to discussing mechanical details he was at home. When it came to originating or directing commercial operations, he was at sea, and so it came about that the executive and administrative work of the aggregated industries fell on other shoulders. So far as known, there was no specific agreement entered into with Carnegie as to how long Schwab was to remain a president. If there was, the time limit has expired.

LOUISVILLE GETS HONOR

Pythians to Meet There Two Years Hence.

Knights of Khorassan Pick St. Louis.

Murray Woman Vanishes—Mythical White Race—Bound for Hawaii.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 14.—The Supreme Lodge of the Knights of Pythias will hold its next biennial session in Louisville, Ky., in 1904. The Kentucky delegates made a strong fight against St. Louis, the only other candidate for the convention honor, and won by [illegible] 2 to 1.

The election of supreme officers occupied the greater part of the morning and afternoon sessions. The balloting resulted as follows: Supreme Chancellor, Tracy R. Bangs of Grand Fork, [illegible]; Supreme Vice-Chancellor, Charles [illegible]hivley of Indiana; Supreme Prelate, George E. Church of Fresno, Cal.; Supreme Keeper of Records and Seals, [illegible]. C. White (re-elected;) Supreme Master of Exchequer, Thomas D. [illegible]es of Wilmington, N. C.; Supreme Master at Arms, L. H. Farnsworth of [illegible] Supreme Inner Guard, Cyrus W. [illegible] of West Virginia; Supreme Outer Guard, John W. Thompson of Washington, D. C.; President of the Board of Control of the Endowment Rank, C. [illegible] Neal of Chicago; Major-General Commander of the Uniform Rank, James R. Carnahan [illegible] of Indianapolis.

The Supreme Chancellor reappointed [illegible] Graham a member of the Supreme Tribunal, his term having expired. The Supreme Tribunal held a meeting today and had under consideration the case of John A. Hinsey, [illegible] president of the Endowment Rank. Hinsey is accused of conspiracy and misusing the funds. His case was taken under advisement and a decision is looked for tomorrow. The [illegible] elected as its Supreme Recorder Robert A. Brown, clerk of the Supreme Court of Indiana.

The Dramatic Order of the Knights of Khorassan decided to meet in St. Louis in 1904, consequently they will not meet with the Supreme Lodge two years hence.

The title of Sublime Venerable Prince was abolished. The officers installed were: Imperial Prince, John H. [illegible]es of St. Louis; Imperial Basha, [illegible] D. Hadfield of Peoria; Imperial Vizier, [illegible] D. F. Summey of Charlotte, N. C.; Imperial Secretary, H. W. Belding of St. Louis; Imperial Treasurer, C. B. [illegible] of Indianapolis.

BATHBONE SISTERS.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 14.—The Bathbone Sisters adopted a new law [illegible] daughters of members eligible to membership. Election of officers was scheduled for this afternoon, but deferred until tomorrow. Mrs. D. [illegible], the Supreme Chief, is a candidate for reelection. Mrs. Belle Quinby, the Supreme Senior, is also a candidate for the highest honor.

Competitive drills in class A and class B of the Uniform Rank were held today. In class A contests were held at the United States military reservation in the city. The companies competing were [illegible] Kalamazoo, Mich.; Calhoun, [illegible] Chevalier of San Diego, Cal., and [illegible] D. D. Burns Hussars of Missouri. The Los Angeles company withdrew from the competition. Alexandria Company of Indiana was suspended after an inquiry. It was charged that the Alexandria company was made up of picked men from other companies of Indiana. The Judges of the contests are United States Army officers.

In class B competitions were held in the Mechanics' Pavilion. The entries were Liberty company and Riverside company of California. No awards in both classes will be made Saturday.

GOLD FROM GUMBO CLAY.

WAY OF EXTRACTING IT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

COMA, Aug. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The discovery has just been made at Dawson of a method by which [illegible] values may be extracted from the clay. This is a common, sticky, [illegible] bearing material found on Last [illegible], Hunker, Bonanza, Eldorado and other creeks, in large quantities. [illegible]reds of thousands of dollars have undoubtedly been lost because of the [illegible] to wash this peculiar auriferous [illegible] and new fortunes are promised from the old and once-rejected dirt. Deputy Sheriff Jack Ellbeck's No. 10, Last Chance, two Australians, who had handled similar earth in their own country, solved the difficult problem. This took place but recently, and others are preparing to work as they have done. The process consists in working the clay with an arrastra—a mud-style grizzly. Out of 500 cars of [illegible]ce-washed dirt, the Australians got $32 to the car. Three of the cars yielded one cubic yard, showing that [illegible] runs $36 per yard.

[illegible], Hamburger, who has bought [illegible]7, Eldorado, one of the richest [illegible] in the Klondike, is installing a [illegible] plant to work the gumbo clay, which exists there in great quantities. Dozens of arrastras are being [illegible] along many creeks.

Stone was commissioned by Capt. SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 14.—The Supreme Lodge of the Knights of Pythias will hold its next biennial session in Louisville, Ky., in 1904. The Kentucky delegation made a strong fight against St. Louis, the only other candidate for the convention honor, and won by a vote of 1 to 1.

The election of supreme officers occupied the greater part of the morning and afternoon sessions. The balloting resulted as follows: Supreme Chancellor, Tracy R. Bangs of Grand Fork, N. D.; Supreme Vice-Chancellor, Charles Worley of Indiana; Supreme Prelate, George E. Church of Fresno, Cal.; Supreme Keeper of Records and Seals, Frank C. Whits (re-elected;) Supreme Master of Exchequer, Thomas D. Meares of Wilmington, N. C.; Supreme Master at Arms, L. H. Farnsworth of Iowa; Supreme Inner Guard, Cyrus W. Phillips of West Virginia; Supreme Outer Guard, John W. Thompson of Washington, D. C.; President of the Board of Trustees of the Endowment Rank, C. H. Strong of Chicago; Major-General Commanding Uniform Rank, James R. Carnahan of Indianapolis.

The Supreme Chancellor reappointed Frank A. Graham a member of the Supreme Tribunal, his term having expired. The Supreme Tribunal held a meeting today and had under consideration the case of John A Hinsey, former president of the Endowment Rank. Hinsey is accused of conspiracy and misusing the funds. His case was taken under advisement and a decision is looked for tomorrow. The Tribunal elected as its Supreme Recorder Robert A. Brown, clerk of the Supreme Court of Indiana.

The Dramatic Order of the Knights of Khorassans decided to meet in St. Louis in 1904, consequently they will not confer with the Supreme Lodge two years hence.

The title of Sublime Venerable Prince was abolished. The officers installed were: Imperial Prince, John H. Holmes of St. Louis; Imperial Basha, J. D. Riddell of Peoria; Imperial Cadi, F. F. Summey of Charlotte, N. C.; Imperial Secretary, H. W. Belding of St. Louis; Imperial Treasurer, C. B. Hall of Garden Grove, Iowa; Imperial Sentinel, William Beatty of Toledo; Imperial Inter, C. B. Stansbury of Los Angeles; Imperial Trustee, E. D. Gufler of Louisville; Imperial Azim, A. S. Hall of Indianapolis.

CATHBONE SISTERS.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 14.—The Cathbone Sisters adopted a new law admitting daughters of members eligible to membership. Election of officers was conducted for this afternoon, but was carried until tomorrow. Mrs. D. Cathbone, the Supreme Chief, is a candidate for reelection. Mrs. Belle Quinn, the Supreme Senior, is also a candidate for the highest honor.

Competitive drills in class A and class B of the Uniform Rank were held today. In class A contests were held at the United States military reservation in this city. The companies competing were Kalamazoo, Mich.; Calhoun, Chevalier of San Diego, Cal., and D. Burns Hussars of Missouri. The Los Angeles company withdrew from the competition. Alexandria company of Indiana was suspended after an inquiry. It was charged that the Alexandria company was made up of picked men from other companies of Indiana. The judges of the contests are United States Army officers.

The class B competitions were held at the Mechanics' Pavilion. The entrants were Liberty company and Riverside company of California. The awards in both classes will be made Saturday.

GOLD FROM GUMBO CLAY.

WAY OF EXTRACTING IT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TACOMA, Aug. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The discovery has just been made at Dawson of a method by which gold values may be extracted from the gumbo clay. This is a common, sticky, clinging material found on Last Chance, Hunker, Bonanza, Eldorado and other creeks, in large quantities. Hundreds of thousands of dollars have undoubtedly been lost because of the failure to wash this peculiar auriferous clay, and new fortunes are promised from the old and once-rejected dirt. Deputy Sheriff Jack Eilbeck's claim on Last Chance, two Australians, who had handled similar earth in their country, solved the difficult problem. This took place but recently, and others are preparing to work as soon as they have done. The process consists of soaking the clay with an arrastra—the old-style grizzly. Out of 500 cars of the washed dirt, the Australians got to the car. Three of the cars yielded one cubic yard, showing that gold was $36 per yard.

Hamburger, who has bought No. 27, Eldorado, one of the richest claims in the Klondike, is installing a steam plant to work the gumbo clay, which exists there in great quantities. Dozens of arrastras are being built along many creeks.

MINDANAO WHITE RACE.

ONLY SPANISH HALF BREEDS.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 14.—A theory disputing the existence of a race of white men on Mindanao Island was advanced today by C. G. Stone, who was recently a member of the army engineering corps in the Orient, and who returned Thursday.

Stone was commissioned by Capt. Boyle to make a tour of the island for the purpose, in part, of ascertaining the truth of the reports that a race of people distinct from the Filipinos inhabited the interior of the island of Mindanao. Stone says his travels consumed considerable time, during which he observed the dialects of several tribes, and was afforded unusual opportunities for investigation. He declares that the statements as to the existence of native whites on the island are not true. He met many persons of Spanish characteristics descended from Spanish ancestry, particularly in the matter of complexion, when contrasted with the Moro skin, but his inquiries led to the development that this lighter-hued people were descended from Castillians who had long ago settled on Mindanao, and had married native women.

No colonies of these people were found at any point, and Stone noted them at scattered places. All of them had forgotten the faith of their forbears, and were devout followers of Mohammed.

MISS MURRAY VANISHES.

MRS. MARSH IS ARRAIGNED.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 14.—Mrs. Irene Marsh, who yesterday afternoon shot Miss Alice Murray in the lobby of the Alhambra Theater, was this morning arraigned before Judge Cabaniss. The case went over until next Tuesday.

Mrs. Marsh declined to make any statement in regard to her action, further than those made yesterday. She seemed greatly agitated, however. As soon as the brief hearing in court was ended, Mrs. Marsh hurried away. She was set at liberty last night on $100 bail, furnished by her counsel.

It was stated this morning that it was doubtful if the woman would be prosecuted. Miss Murray has vanished from the view of the police. She left the McNutt Hospital last night in company with Marsh, and so far the police have not been able to find any trace of her.

SYNDICATE ACCUSES GOW OF RASCALITY.

SENSATIONAL CHARGES IN SUIT AGAINST TRUSTED AGENT.

Alleged to Have Taken Advantage of Confidence Reposed in Him by Employers and Defrauded Them of Many Thousands of Dollars.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 14.—Charges of fraud are made against Patrick George Gow in the complaint of the Jumper Gold Syndicate, a British corporation, which was filed in the Superior Court today. Gow until lately was manager of the syndicate's Jumper and New Era mines in Tuolumne county. These mines were purchased in 1895 and 1896 by him as agent for the British concern, which has its principal office in Glasgow. Ernest A. Stent was the owner of the New Era and part owner of the Jumper mine. It is alleged that he was willing to sell the New Era for $80,000, but Gow represented that the lowest price for it was $125,000, which sum the syndicate paid, and Gow then received from Stent $15,000 out of the purchase price.

It is charged that Gow caused the syndicate to pay Stent $10,000 for a water right, which could be had for nothing as part of the purchased mining property, and that Stent gave him one-third of this money.

The Griffith group of mines in El Dorado county was bought by the syndicate in 1896 for $150,000 on Gow's recommendation and report. It is alleged that although he stated that the owner was a man named Bowers, the real seller was Stent, and that Stent was willing to sell for $80,000. Gow, it is said, received from Stent one-third of the excess of $50,000, which was obtained from the syndicate.

Another allegation is that it was Gow's duty under his agreement to report the offer of an option on the Dolores gold mine in Chihuahua, Mex. The syndicate would have taken this mine, the complaint states, had the offer been communicated. Gow took the option himself, and organized the Dolores Mining Company, in which he held 53,000 of the 100,000 shares. It is said that the profits from the Dolores mine since the purchase have not been less than $250,000.

Besides a salary of $420 per month, Gow was to receive from the syndicate one-tenth of its annual profits from the Jumper and New Era mines during his life, and this percentage was to be paid to his heirs for five years after his death.

BOUND FOR HAWAII.

BURTON AND THURSTON.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 14.—The Australian liner Sierra sailed today for Honolulu and the Antipodes. She had a good freight and a salon full of passengers, among whom were Senator J. R. Burton of Kansas, Mrs. Burton, former Senator J. M. Thurston of Nebraska, Mrs. Thurston, Mrs. E. P. Dole and Hon. H. E. Cooper of Hawaii, all for Honolulu, and A. C. Jeffries, father of James, champion heavyweight pugilist of the world. He is headed for Australia to preach and spread the gospel. There were a number of religious enthusiasts on hand to bid him adieu, and as the Sierra pulled away from the wharf they gave him an old-fashioned hymn or two for a parting salute.

GAGE MUST GO TO TRIAL.

FRITZ IS TIRED OF DELAY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The criminal-libel case against John D. Spreckels and W. S. Leake was called in Police Judge Fritz's court this morning, and continued until next Monday at 10 a.m. Attorney Nougues, who appeared for the Governor, protested that it had been agreed to postpone the case for two weeks, but his protest went unheeded. Judge Fritz announced that he would go on with the hearing next Monday, regardless of any further objections that might be made by the Governor.

STATE UNIVERSITY.

BRIGHT OUTLOOK FOR YEAR.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, Aug. 14.—Instruction for upper classmen and graduates was commenced at the State University this afternoon. Today also marked the beginning of registration for the fall term. When the enrollment had closed at a late hour this afternoon it was found that 1260 seniors, juniors, sophomores and advanced students had registered. This number is 100 more than the figures for the corresponding time last year.

More than 600 applications for entrance to the freshmen class have been received, and despite the fact that the entrance requirements are more severe this year than ever, it is believed that the entering class will break all previous attendance records.

Notable among those who enrolled today was Chang Hung Koo, who was driven from the Imperial Chinese Railway College of Peking during the Boxer outbreak. He will take work in the college of civil engineering.

RED MEN'S COUNCIL.

BUSINESS TRANSACTED.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 14. At today's session of the council of the Improved Order of Red Men, it was decided that hereafter the Great Council shall pay the mileage of the representatives to that body. In the past the expenses of the representatives were paid by the individual tribes.

The Great Council appropriated the sum of $2500 for extension work during the next twelve months. A State organizer will be appointed to carry on the work of extension. It was decided that the next session of the Great Council shall be held in Sacramento.

The Great Council of the Degree of Pocahontas fixed the per capita tax at 12 cents for the first six months and 13 cents for the subsequent six. It was decided that hereafter no one shall be empowered to organize a council of the order without the sanction of the Great Pocahontas.

MINING SHARES WORTHLESS.

COMPLAINT OF A LAWYER.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 14.—A suit for $400,000 was commenced today in the United States Circuit Court against John Charles Kemp Van Ee and Joseph Hamilton Brotherton. The plaintiff is Samuel Wheeler, official receiver of the London and Westminster Contract Corporation, Limited. Wheeler is a London lawyer, who is winding up the affairs of the corporation.

Wheeler alleged that, in 1896, the defendants sold the corporation 5000 shares of the Consuelo gold mines and certain mining interests of the Debenture and Share Syndicate of the purported value of $275,000. The corporation paid $287,500 to the defendants. It is now alleged that the shares are worthless. Kemp Van Ee is now interested in Calaveras county mines. Brotherton was until a recent date in San Francisco.

LUNATIC AT LARGE.

TRYING TO BURN TOWN.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

MOKELUMNE HILL, Aug. 14.—An attempt was made last night about midnight to again set fire to the town by piling straw in an outhouse and igniting it. The fact confirms the suspicion that the big fire of last week which laid waste the large part of town, and did damage to the extent of about $25,000, was the act of an insane man who is believed to have escaped from the Stockton asylum. The man has been seen in these parts for several weeks, but repeated attempts to find and capture him have proved futile. He lives in the woods, and subsists by foraging among orchards and gardens during the night.

A few moments before this fire was discovered he was seen by the night watchman beating a hasty retreat from the direction of the fire.

BRIEF COAST DISPATCHES.

MacKenzie-Young Nuptials.

SAN JOSE, Aug. 14.—Miss Mariel MacKenzie, daughter of Harbor Commissioner John D. MacKenzie, was united in marriage today to David Young of San Francisco. The ceremony took place at the residence of the bride's father, Rev. Frances Palmer of the First Presbyterian church officiating. The honeymoon will be spent in Southern California.

The Boston in Commission.

VALLEJO, Aug. 14.—The cruiser Boston has been recommissioned at the Mare Island navy yard, after undergoing extensive repairs. Her battery has been fitted with modern pivot mounts, and all woodwork possible has been removed. From seventy feet in length her coasts have been extended to 130 feet above the water. This has been done to accommodate the wireless telegraphy apparatus.

Seeking American Seamen.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 14.—The Chronicle says that agents of the Colombian government have been busy for some weeks seeking officers and men on this Coast for its contemplated warships, and both in Seattle and San Francisco overtures have been made to seafaring men to enlist in the Colombian navy. A former American naval officer of this city has been asked to accept the position of executive and navigation officer of the Cutch, now being fitted out at Seattle, and it has been planned to recruit a number of San Franciscans for the crew.

Value of Valentine Estate.

OAKLAND, Aug. 14.—According to an appraisement filed today, the estate of John H. Valentine, late president of Wells, Fargo & Co., is valued at $426,352.

Blew Out His Brains.

OAKLAND, Aug. 14.—Richard Kingshott, a carpenter, aged 60 years, today blew his brains out with a shotgun. He was despondent.

Dies of Her Burns.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 14.—Mrs. Emma Dougherty, an invalid, who was seriously burned while lighting a gas stove at her home last night, expired today. She leaves a widower and several children.

Death Came Suddenly.

SAN JOSE, Aug. 14.—Charles B. Merties, a sewing machine solicitor, whose residence is Oakland, was found dead in bed in his room this morning. An inquest will be held tomorrow. There are no suspicious circumstances and death is believed to be due to heart trouble. His age was about 60.

Boy Rescued from Death.

MARYSVILLE, Aug. 14.—Frank Logan, a nine-year-old boy of this city, had a narrow escape from death this afternoon. In company with a little brother, he had climbed a pear tree to gather fruit, and while so engaged fell into an old well beneath the branch. The well was about twenty feet deep, and half-full of water. Frank's brother's screams attracted a street car driver, who, with the aid of a rope, succeeded in effecting a rescue just as the boy appeared to be sinking for the last time.

Balakiala Mine Sold.

REDDING, Aug. 14.—It is authoritatively reported here that the Balakiala copper mine has been purchased by Peter Kimberley and associates for $850,000. They have had the mine under bond for the past year.

Victim of His Own Shot.

SAN ANDREAS, Aug. 14.—James Bynum, colored, and a friend went out to catch fish by blasting. Giant powder sticks were thrown into the water, and in due time exploded. Immediately afterward Bynum undressed and went in to gather the floating fish killed by the explosion. When in deep water one remaining shot went off. Bynum sank, and never came up again. His terror-stricken companion ran for help, but the man had been killed by the explosion.

Morphine Tells the Story.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 14.—A man presumed to be Thomas F. Harris yesterday rented a room in a lodging-house on Sixth street. This afternoon he was found dead in bed. A bottle containing morphine was on the bureau, and some of the drug had been poured into a drinking glass. Nothing is known of the man. He was about thirty-five years of age, and supposed to have been a native of Canada.

MAHNG, the lion, his kittenhood and maturity, will be described in the Sunday Times Magazine of August 17, by Harry H. Dunn.

RAILROAD RECORD.

NEW RIVAL FOR ESPEE.

Large Suburban System for 'Frisco.

Well-known Capitalists Figure in It.

Is Intended to Tap Santa Clara, Alameda and San Joaquin Counties.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 14.—Articles of incorporation of the San Francisco Terminal Railway and Ferry Company were filed today, with a capital stock of $6,000,000. It is announced that the company proposes to connect San Francisco by rail and ferry with the San Joaquin and Santa Clara Valleys.

The incorporators, all of whom have been elected directors of the new company, are J. Dalzell Brown, vice-president of the California Safe Deposit and Trust Company; A. C. Kains, assistant manager of the Canadian bank of Commerce; F. M. West, president of the Stockton Savings and Loan Society; Tirey L. Ford, Attorney-General of California; Walter J. Bartnett of the law firm of Booth & Bartnett; John Treadwell of Oakland, and Henry F. Fortman, president of the Alaska Packers' Association.

Eastern railway men with eastern capital are said to be backing the corporation. The amount of stock subscribed is $200,000.

It is the purpose of the company to build a line of railroad from Oakland to San José, and a line through the Castro Valley, Haywards Pass and the Livermore Valley, connecting with the Alameda and San Joaquin Valley Railroad, which runs from Tesla to Stockton, a distance of about thirty-six miles.

The company will establish a new ferry system between San Francisco and Oakland, putting in service several new and speedy boats, which it is expected will materially shorten the ferry time between the two cities.

The new system will have five branches. The first will begin at San Francisco, thence going by the ferry to Oakland, from Oakland to Livermore and joining the Alameda and San Joaquin Railroad Company's road near the boundary line between Alameda and San Joaquin counties, a total of sixty miles, with fifteen branch lines. The second branch will be from Haywards to San José, thirty-five miles; the third from Alameda to San Leandro, ten miles, the fourth from Oakland to Berkeley, ten miles, and the fifth from Haywards to Dumbarton Point, on San Francisco Bay, thus securing an outlet to tidewater. The aggregate length of the road will be about 145 miles.

AMERICANS ARE SAFE ON VENEZUELAN SOIL.

ANGOSTURA IS CONTROLLED BY THE MILITARY CHIEFTAIN.

Minister Bowen at Caracas Reports That the Situation is Critical—Commander McLean Reports That Barcelona's Civil and Military Officers are Imprisoned.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—The Navy Department is in receipt of the following dispatch from Commander Rodgers of the Marietta, dated Port of Spain, August 13:

"There are three American citizens at Angostura, Venezuela. Life and property safe when ship sailed. City controlled by revolutionary military chief. Foreign subjects alarmed over situation. Three American steamers, Orinoco company, forcibly detained at San Felix for government use."

AT CARACAS AND BARCELONA.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—Under date of Wednesday, the 13th inst., Minister Bowen at Caracas, reports to the State Department that the situation there is very critical. At the time of filing his dispatch, he had heard nothing from the Cincinnati or the Marietta. He says the sacking of Barcelona continues, and that much valuable property is being destroyed.

At the Navy Department, a cablegram has been received from Commander McLean, reporting the arrival of the Cincinnati at Barcelona. The Marietta is at Port of Spain, Trinidad, and is subject to the orders of Commander McLean. Commander McLean's dispatch to the department was, in part, as follows:

"Barcelona occupied by revolutionists. They have imprisoned all civil and military officers; are in possession of entire district. Some pillaging done, but everything now quiet. Twenty-nine business houses sacked; mostly foreign; also fifteen private dwellings."

The fact that the Navy Department received the above dispatch direct from Commander McLean at Barcelona shows that Minister Bowen's dispatch of yesterday from Caracas, saying that the Barcelona cable had been cut was incorrect. The presumption at the Navy Department is that the revolutionists, who are in control at Barcelona, refused to allow messages to go through to Caracas, where Castro has his headquarters, and that this accounted for the report from the Venezuelan capital that the Barcelona cable had been severed.

The Navy Department officials cannot conceive that Commander McLean would have failed to report so important a fact, if the cables had been tampered with. They are inclined to think that the revolutionists, in sacking the town, seized what they could lay their hands on, but were very careful not to disturb the interests of Americans, or others, whose governments might make trouble for them.

Minister Bowen, in the dispatch, the contents of which the State Department made public today, says he "is advised by the United States Consul at Barcelona that the revolutionists are sacking that town, and searching private houses. They are demanding money from foreign residents, in exchange for a guarantee for safety of lives and property."

The dispatch from Commander McLean was sent since that of Minister Bowen.

BLOCKADE ABANDONED.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—Minister Powell, at Port au Prince, Hayti, cabled to the State Department today that telegraphic communication between Port au Prince and Gonaives had been cut. It is presumed that this is the work of the revolutionists, as they have been particularly active in severing lines of communication.

The Navy Department received today a cablegram from Commander McCrea of the Machias, dated St. Marc, Hayti, Wednesday, announcing that the blockade established by Admiral Kimball was admitted to be ineffectual, and had been abandoned.

LANDING NOT NECESSARY.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—Just before the department closed a dispatch was received from Commander Nickels of the Topeka at Porto Cabello, stating that the revolutionists were in control, and that there was no danger of an attempt to retake the town by the government forces. Commander Nickels acknowledged the receipt of instructions directing him to land a force in case of necessity, but stated that the necessity for such a step had not arisen.

In official circles the control of Porto Cabello by the revolutionists is considered a signal victory for that party, as it is a place of strategic importance. It has about ten thousand people, and is situated in a large, deep and safe harbor, by means of which, if necessary, troops and supplies may be landed or dispatched to other places in the country. Porto Cabello is but a short sail from La Guayra, which is not far from the Venezuelan capital. A crisis in affairs at Porto Cabello, where the insurgents have been gathering strength, has existed for some time, and today's news from Commander Nickels confirms the prediction that a battle would soon be fought there.

The Topeka is looking after the interests of the Americans in that section of the country, and Commander Nickels was given full directions to land a force if necessary, and also to prevent a bombardment without due notice. This action was authorized at the suggestion of Minister Bowen, and closely followed a notice from the Germans that they intend to take similar steps for the protection of German interests. Commander Nickels's dispatch is the first official information that has reached Washington that the revolutionists have secured control of Porto Cabello.

The place called Angostura, mentioned in Commander Rodgers's dispatch from Port of Spain as in the hands of the revolutionists, is about two hundred and fifty miles up the Orinoco River, and the more modern name for it is Ciudad Bolivar. Gen. Matos, who is practically at the head of the revolution against Castro, took this town some time ago, and left one of his lieutenants in charge. According to information now in possession of officials here, Castro is being hemmed in from three sides at Caracas. Gen. Matos advanced from Maliyar to the northwest to a place called Orituco, about sixty miles south of Caracas. Ten days ago Castro was reported as having left the capital with a force to meet the revolutionary general, but subsequently he changed his mind and returned. More recent advices indicate that a battle is imminent on the plains south of Caracas.

Early this week the revolutionists took Barcelona, to the eastward of Caracas, and, according to this last dispatch from Nickels, they have obtained control of Porto Cabello, to the westward. The fact that the government has seized three of the steamers of the Orinoco company at San Felix is not a cause of concern here, as it is understood that these ships fly the Venezuelan flag and the right to impress ships for government use is well settled.

No further steps have been taken toward sending additional ships to Venezuela, and no fresh instructions have been sent to the commanders of the American warships there, as the reports received from them are considered satisfactory.

ORINOCO FLEET.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—At the offices of the Orinoco Steamship Company in this city it was stated that no information regarding the forcible detention of any of their vessels by the Venezuelan government had been received.

The company, which is American owned, has a fleet of nine vessels, all of which, with the exception of one flying the American flag, are under the Venezuelan standard. The operations of the company are confined to Venezuelan territory, and consist of a service between Trinidad, Ciudad Bolivar and points on the Orinoco River.

Gen. Smith, Col. Cosgrove and Gen. Charles King Leading Candidates for Presidency of Society.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

COUNCIL BLUFFS (Iowa) Aug. 14.—The feature of the second day of the reunion of the Society of the Army of the Philippines was the military parade, which occurred during the forenoon. The parade was headed by Gova, Cummins and Savage, and their staffs and was participated in by regular army troops from Fort Crook, the Nebraska and Iowa National guards, High School cadets from this city and Omaha, and the veterans of the Philippine war. The marchers were reviewed by the two Governors and Gens. Hale and King.

A meeting of the general society was held during the afternoon, at which was taken up the routine business begun yesterday. Gen. Jacob H. Smith, Col. Cosgrove of South Dakota, and Gen. Charles King were mentioned as possibilities for the presidency of the society.

TRAGEDY AT TAMPA.

Charles J. Allen Comes Home Unexpectedly and is Killed by a Cuban—His Wife Fatally Injured.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

TAMPA (Fla.) Aug. 14.—At the home of Charles J. Allen, on Seventh avenue, Tampa Heights, the most fashionable residence section of this city, Allen was killed and his wife fatally shot today by Manuel Chavez, one of the wealthiest and most prominent young members of the Cuban colony here. Many conflicting accounts of the tragedy were current, but the one generally believed is that Allen returned home unexpectedly and found Chaves in his house, and that he assaulted the Cuban, striking him a terrific blow. Chavez then drew a pistol and began to fire.

One bullet struck Allen in the left side and another in the mouth and a third entered the body of Mrs. Allen, who had rushed between the men in an effort to separate them. The shooting of Mrs. Allen is believed to have been entirely unintentional.

POLISH MILLIONAIRE'S SUICIDE.

LONDON, Aug. 15.—A dispatch to the Daily Express from Vienna says the well-known Polish millionaire, Baron Severin Brunicki, has committed suicide at Lemburg, Galicia, from disappointment, because the owner of a small estate refused to sell it to him. His wife and his eldest son, says the correspondent, had previously committed suicide.

Congressman Lattimer Lands on Former Congressman Hemphill's Face at Conclusion of Warm Political Debate.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

GAFFNEY (S. C.) Aug. 14.—Congressman Asbury C. Lattimer and former Congressman John J. Hemphill came to blows here today. Both are candidates for the United States Senate, and are making an oratorical tour of the State, together with four other avowed candidates for Senator.

Congressman Lattimer, who is a farmer, made a statement that five lawyers were "jumping on one poor farmer." This was resented by Col. Hemphill, and it is said that Lattimer struck Hemphill a severe blow in the face. Friends interfered, and the men were separated without serious injury to either.

Both Hemphill and Lattimer were notified to appear before Mayor Little tomorrow.

BRYAN'S POSITION.

Wants no Democrat Nominated for President Who Has Been Disloyal Either to Ticket or Platform.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LINCOLN (Neb.) Aug. 14.—William J. Bryan has written a letter to the editor of the New Orleans Times-Democrat, in answer to the question whether he will be a candidate for the Presidency in the next campaign. Bryan said, in part:

"I shall not be a candidate for the Presidency in the next campaign, and I may add, I have no choice beyond the desire to see some one nominated who was loyal, not only to the ticket, but to the platform in 1896 and 1900, and who, if elected, could be trusted to stand by the people in the struggle against organized wealth.

"While no one can look very far ahead or foresee the contingencies that may arise, I have no plans looking to a renomination at any future time."

Answering the query of another correspondent whether he still believes in the free coinage of silver at 16 to 1, Bryan answered: "Yes, positively," and continued: "The doctrine of bimetallism is as sound today as it ever was. The reasons for it are not altered by temporary improvement in industrial conditions."

DRIVEN BACK BY BULLETS.

Strikers Riot at the Warneke Washery.

Sight of Blood Causes Them to Retreat.

Movement to Raise Funds—Typographical Union's New Regulations.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WILKESBARRE (Pa.) Aug. 14.—A riot occurred at the Warneke washery at Duryea this afternoon. Trouble had been brewing since early morning. Before 7 o'clock 500 men and boys collected about the place, and threatened to interfere with those who wanted to go to work. Shereiff Jacobs had a number of deputies on the ground, and they held the crowd back. The works were started, but remained in operation only a short time. The crowd on the outside threw stones over the stockade at the deputies who were on guard inside. Several times the deputies were tempted to fire. Rather than have any trouble work was suspended for the time being.

The deputy sheriffs returned to Wilkesbarre early this afternoon reporting all quiet at the washery when they left. They had hardly reached Wilkesbarre, however, when the deputies on guard were attacked. Several men in the mob also attempted to climb over the barricade. The deputies warned them to go back, and when they did not a volley was fired, but most of the bullets went high into the air. Harry Collins was shot through the right leg. Andrew Marlack, a Lithuanian, received a flesh wound, and another foreigner had a narrow escape, a bullet passing through his coat. A colored man employed at the washery, thinking his life was in danger, escaped from the barricade, and ran down the street. He was pursued by an angry crowd, who cried, "Hang him! Hang him!" The man was finally run down, but before any harm could befall him, a number of constables rescued him.

Deputy sheriffs from Luzerne and Lackawanna counties went to the scene of the rioting, but when they arrived, all was quiet, the mob having dispersed. An eyewitness say the attack, the shooting and the retreat did not last more than five minutes.

Warrants wer sworn out before the burgess charging the deputies with rioting and felonious wounding. The constables went to the washery and placed twenty-five men upder arrest. They were arraigned before Burgess Burlington tonight, and held in $3000 bail each. They could not furnish bail and were brought to the County Jail here.

The United Mine Workers say the shooting was uncalled for and that the deputies alone are to blame. Vice-President Rescagno of the miners' union of District No. 1, says the deputies were in an ugly mood all day. Sheriff Jacobs of Luzerne county is in Hazleton. The office here is in charge of Chief Deputy Rhodda. He denied a report which gained currency tonight that Sheriff Jacobs had applied to Gov. Stone for troops. He says all is quiet at Duryea now, and he does not expect any further trouble.

If it is decided to resume operations at the washery again, the Sheriff will have a guard strong enough to preserve order, and give protection to those who want to go to work.

Sheriff Jacobs arrived from Hazleton tonight and at once went to Duryea, where he will spend tonight. The operators of the washery say they will not start the works tomorrow as unknown persons wrecked some of the machinery during the excitement following the fight this afternoon.

President John Mitchell said today that he did not know what significance attached to the gathering of so many operators and mine superintendents at Pottsville yesterday. The impression in the coal-trade circles here is that the meeting was held to hear the views of Vice-President Loomis of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Company, who made a tour of the strike region, and, it is said, recommended to the presidents of the coal-carrying roads in New York the starting of some of the collieries in different parts of the region. The presidents of the coal companies, so it is alleged, thought it would be better to get the views of the resident superintendents of the mines before this was attempted, and for that purpose a meeting of the superintendents of the largest coal companies was called at Pottsville.

MOVEMENT TO RAISE FUNDS.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—A movement to organize a committee of 100 or more citizens to raise funds for the striking miners in the anthracite-coal regions of Pennsylvania has been started by the union carpenters of Chicago. The plan is to interest the public, and solicit funds from all who are willing to help the strikers. A mass meeting is to be called on the lake front on Labor Day, and an effort will be made to get speakers of national reputation to give addresses.

COAL SUPPLY EXHAUSTED.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—New York City dealers say the supply of anthracite coal here has been practically exhausted for weeks. The railroad companies have been able to deliver only a few thousand tons a day recently, and much of it is known as "washed coal."

TYPOGRAPHICAL UNION.

RESTRICTIONS ON EMPLOYERS.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CINCINNATI (O.) Aug. 14.—The International Typographical Union in its annual convention today took important action regarding the interchange of type, matrices and engravings between offices. Also regarding the jurisdiction of the union in connection with the American Federation of Labor and on the regulation of "regulars" and "substitutes" and other practices in composing rooms.

There was a close contest between Washington and Newark, N. J., for the next convention. The former city won because it was thought more could be done for favorable legislation by meeting at the national capital than at any other place.

Committee on Laws reported back the proposition that the practice by foremen of selecting their forces from day to day be prohibited. It was adopted, with an amendment, that the local unions shall have the minimum number of regular situations fixed in different offices.

The Committee on Laws also reported back the following, which was adopted: "The practice of interchanging and buying matter previously issued, either in type, matrices or photo-engravings between newspaper or job offices not owned by the same firm and published in the same establishment, is unlawful and shall not be allowed."

A long discussion followed the proposition of the Chicago delegates for reinstatement of the Chicago Typographical Union, No. 16, in the Chicago Federation of Labor.

It was resolved to withhold further payments of per capita tax to the American Federation of Labor until the question has been conclusively determined whether the American Federation of Labor has the authority and disposition to compel obedience to its laws and mandates on the part of its local chartered bodies.

A supplementary report of the treasurer from June 1 to date showed a balance on hand of $40,829.

ASSAULT WORKERS.

HOBOKEN UNIONISTS.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—The West Hoboken silk mill strikers are keeping up their efforts to make trouble for those who are at work. The latest move in this direction was when thirty men and twenty women marched to Jersey City. They arrived at the Poidebard mill, just as the non-union men were leaving for the day. The marchers attacked the men with sticks and stones, and kept up the assault until the police arrived, and charged the assailants. The officers used their batons unsparingly, and three of the strikers were arrested. Reserves were at the mill this morning to guard it against further attack.

SANTA FE STRIKE.

NEARING A SETTLEMENT.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CLEBURNE (Tex.) Aug. 14.—At conferences between representatives of the striking machinists and officials of the Santa Fé terms have practically been agreed upon for a settlement of the strike. Most of the men are to be taken back, but the company submitted a list of the men who would be refused employment. This list is to be passed on by the machinists' union before the official announcement is made. About seven hundred men are involved.

GAYNOR AND GREENE.

JUSTICE STILL AFTER THEM.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] In the absence of Atty-Gen. Knox, Asst. Atty.-Gen. James M. Beck is discharging the functions of chief of the Department of Justice. After he had carefully read the newspaper dispatches telling of the victory of Gaynor and Greene in the courts of Canada over the efforts of this government to bring them back to the United States for trial at Savannah, Ga., on a charge of conspiring with Oberlin M. Carter to defraud the government out of hundreds of thousands of dollars in contracts for harbor improvements, Beck said that in the absence of the full text of the decision rendered at Quebec, he was unable to discuss the case intelligently, or to tell what steps would next be taken to extradite the fugitives. He intimated strongly, however, that this government had not exhausted its resources, by any means, and that a way would yet be found to get the alleged conspirators back on American soil.

Marion Erwin, special counsel employed to prosecute Gaynor and Greene, is supposed to be at his home in Georgia, and will be summoned here immediately to confer with the Department of Justice officials as to the next move.

BRAZIL'S SUGAR PRODUCERS.

ARE STILL EXPERIMENTING.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The sugar producers of Brazil are apparently experimenting with some difficulties which seem to be common to growers in the West Indies, and are as helpless to find remedies.

Consul Furniss at Bahia reports that, pursuant to a call issued by the National Society of Agriculture at Rio, the first sugar-producers' convention of Brazil was held there, beginning June 25. Delegates were present from all sugar-producing States designated by various agricultural and commercial societies, municipalities, State governments, groups of cane raisers and sugar producers.

The national society had planned an elaborate programme, to include discussion of such subjects as the symptoms of a sugar crisis, its causes and remedy; condition and preparation of soil and qualities; the cane cultivated; methods of culture; methods of sugar making; production of the foreign trade; international trade, and means of enlarging its production; consumption of alcohol, and its industrial application for light and heat, its use as fuel for large factories, and the use of sugar cane for feeding stock.

Instead of discussing the points outlined on the programme, the convention virtually narrowed its business down to considering the various plans which were proposed to better the condition of those engaged in sugar production.

These plans included Federal loans to planters, abolition of tax for foreign export, and payment of bounty for sugars so sent, consumptive tax on all sugars, the revenue so derived to reimburse the States for export taxes removed and bounty established, storing of sugar by the government, and the sale of the same without the intervention of middlemen, etc.

After a week of discussion it became apparent that the interests of the delegates were so diverse that it would be impossible to come to any definite conclusion, and the convention adjourned July 4, to meet in February, 1904, at Pernambuco. The only thing accomplished was the adoption of a motion to the effect that inter-State duties should be abolished against the high rates of taxation in general.

PROFIT AND LOSS.

BANKS TO BE SUED.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—Commissioner Yerkes of the Internal Revenue Bureau has directed that immediate steps be taken for the collection of the taxation of profit-and-loss accounts, or undivided-profit accounts of banks, trust companies or private banks, under the War Revenue Act of June, 1898. The amount to be collected will approximate, it is expected, $300,000.

Under an opinion of the Department of Justice, the tax had only been collected on the capital and surplus of banks, but the commissioner ruled, last January, that the undivided profits or profit-and-loss accounts of banks are part of the surplus, and thereby subject to the tax. After this ruling was made, by request of the representatives of banks, the Commissioner agreed, January 27 last, to withhold collection pending a decision by the United States District Court in a suit to be brought to test the question. This suit was brought in the southern district of New York by the Leather Manufacturers' Bank of New York, and was decided, a few weeks ago, adversely to the banks, the court sustaining the position taken by the Commissioner.

James Forgan, president of the First National Bank of Chicago, was the chairman of the committee representing the banks that called upon the commissioner last January, protesting against the collection of this tax. January 27 last, the Commissioner wrote him that while he would require the banks, trust companies and others interested, to make returns at once to the department, showing their undivided profits, or profit-and-loss accounts, he would withhold collection until a decision was secured in the United States District Court, but said distinctly in this letter that, if the court held that, under the law, undivided profits are a proper subject for taxation, then payment of the tax would be enforced, notwithstanding an appeal might be taken by the banks to the Supreme Court.

This tax was repealed by the last Congress, the repeal to take effect July 1, 1902, so that at present there is no internal revenue tax on capital, surplus or undivided profits of banks. The tax to be collected will be for the year ended July 1, 1902.

MILITARY TRAINING OF YOUNG AMERICANS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] An order of importance to the educational institutions of the country was issued at the War Department today. Under its provisions, one hundred army officers are to be detailed as military instructors to the colleges and universities throughout the United States. This is in harmony with Secretary Root's comprehensive plans for providing material for the army in time of need.

Today's order contemplates coöperation between the department and civil institutions, also free distribution of arms and equipment for purposes of instruction. Field pieces, as well as small arms, are to be loaned to the schools, with ammunition.

The order prescribes a complete course of instruction, including rifle practice along the lines to be adopted by the War College Board. As no instructor will be detailed to a school having less than 100 pupils under military training, more than ten thousand young men of the United States will be under military instruction annually.

Nine officers are to be assigned to New York and New Jersey schools, three to Connecticut and Rhode Island, three to Massachusetts and proportionately to other States. One instructor will be assigned to the Hawaiian schools.

It is proposed to keep a record of all students who may be under military instruction, and those having the best records will be given preference in the matter of appointment as officers in the regular army.

HASSAYAMPA RIVER MAY BE CYANIDED.

NOVEL UNDERTAKING TALKED OF IN ARIZONA.

Mining of Southwest on Eve of Great Activity—Quiet Around Isabella—Strike in Garcia Mine—Big Surprise at First Home.

A scheme for recovering gold, that is a prize winner for its originality, may soon be given a test in Arizona, where preliminary steps have been taken for the launching of the largest cyanide enterprise ever attempted.

According to a report from the Territory, eastern capitalists are to turn their attention to recovering the gold in sands and gravel of the Hassayampa River, between the Walnut Grove dam and Box Cañon, a distance of twenty miles. It is well known that the bed of the river is very rich in gold, and for many years attempts have been made with a variety of dredges, but the unevenness of the bed rock and the small amount of water available, have prevented former efforts from being a success.

It now looks as if the Hassayampa will at last be conquered and looted of its treasurers, says the Wickenburg News-Herald. The Hassayampa is one of Arizona's famous "dry" rivers, with the exception of a very few days each year, when some water comes down from the mountains. The remainder of the year the river is apparently dry, but seeping along under and through the rich sands, is a stream of several hundred inches of water, which follows the bed rock, coming to the surface only at long intervals, such as the dam site and the Box Cañon. It is proposed to build a small dam at the dam site, where all the water will be taken out, cyanide added, and again sent on its twenty-mile trip through the sands. At the Box Cañon another dam will be built to bed rock, and the treasure-laden waters run through pipes to the level tract below the "Box," where they will be made to give up their gold by means of the ordinary zinc precipitation tanks. It will take several acres of tanks.

Between the dam site and the Box Cañon, below, lie twenty miles of river bed, ranging from 50 to 300 yards in width, and fairly teeming with gold. At Box Cañon two large mountains come nearly together, and the bedrock comes close to the surface, forming an enormous cyanide tank twenty miles long and 100 feet deep.

As it takes the water several weeks to seep twenty miles through the rich sands, any one familiar with cyaniding and the Hassayampa gravel will realize the rich harvest which will be reaped from a continuous flow or 300 to 500 inches of gold-laden water.

The idea of cyaniding the whole river is a new one, even for Arizona, but it is yet to be determined if practical or not. "It has its good points," said a local assayer, familiar with the cyanide process, yesterday, "but there are obstacles that must be overcome. It might be possible to recover some of the fine gold, but it is certain that the cyanide solution would not have time to act on the coarser gold. In that part of the country there is considerable lead and zinc, and this would, of course, destroy much of the usefulness of the cyanide. Still, the experiment, if made, will be followed with much interest."

EVE OF GREAT ACTIVITY.

Col. Thomas Ewing, president of the Southwest Miners' Association, who returned this week from Monterey, left yesterday for Arizona. Before his return he will visit all the large camps along the Colorado River, where there is now said to be more development on foot than ever before.

"It is hard to keep track of the improvements going on there," said he yesterday. "New capital is finding its way in at a surprising rate, with the result that hardly a week goes by without some important transfer being made. Eastern capital is just beginning to appreciate the value of the mineral deposits of this part of the country, and it is evident that we are just on the eve of a season of great activity."

QUIET AROUND ISABELLA.

The surrender of the Keyes mine, near Isabella, Kern county, to the original owners, and the closing down of the mine, has brought a lull to mining in that district. One of the prime factors leading to the surrender of this property was the difficulty of stocking it with fuel to do the pumping. The cost of the pump and fuel would have gone a long way in draining the mine. The crowd that have abandoned the property took out about $20,000.

GARCIA STRIKE.

A special assayer, who has been working on the ores of the Garcia mine, ten miles southwest of Wickenburg, reports that a good ore shoot has been opened up on the 300-foot level. The ore, it is said, assays from $150 to $200 to the ton. Several years ago this property was one of the heavy producers, but until recently it was closed down. It is now being worked by J. B. Young of Toronto, Can. Development is in full swing in three shafts, and it is expected that a mill will be in operation within the next thirty days.

SURPRISE IN FIRST HOME.

Something of a strike is also credited to the First Home mine, owned by the Merchants' Mining Company. This property is situated in the Big Bug district of Arizona, and is one of the most promising in that section. The latest find was made on the 240-foot level, ninety feet north of the shaft. While the ore shoot is not large, it is very rich. The discovery was quite unexpected, and it is probable the Home mine in the front rank of producers in that part of the Territory.

STRIKE OF CARPENTERS.

Thirty-five Men Obey Rabid Agitator.

Work Interrupted on Large Buildings.

Demanded That Contractor Burn Boycotted Property. Union Insolence.

Thirty-five union carpenters employed in Los Angeles by Contractor F. O. Engstrom, went on strike yesterday, because their employer refused to burn up $500 worth of his own property.

The strike is on the Conservative Life Insurance Company's new building at Third and Hill streets, and the Emergency Hospital building, in course of construction on Towne avenue, between Fourth and Fifth streets. The Conservative Life building was to have been completed by the end of this week, but the quitting of the entire force of twenty-four carpenters will delay finishing it a few days.

Contractor Engstrom says he will have an ample force of non-union carpenters to go to work Monday morning, and that the old employés will not be taken back on any conditions. He has a large number of non-union carpenters at work on the Potter Hotel, Santa Barbara, the Long Beach bath-house, and numerous other out-of-town contracts about completed, and these men will be transferred to the local jobs at once.

BOYCOTT SPASM.

The strike is one of the spasmodic revivals of the futile boycott against the Hughes Brothers' Central-avenue Planing Mill, and the union demand would be funny if it were not so serious a matter to the contractors and owners of the buildings. The instigator of the trouble is Jim Lovelace, who apparently succeeded Jim Gray as walking delegate of the building trades. The excuse for a source of trouble is the new building of the Home Telephone Company on Hill street, near Third, but in accordance with the strangeness of the whole affair, this is the only one of Engstrom's local jobs not affected by the strike.

The telephone company's building is to be a fireproof structure, composed almost entirely of steel, brick and concrete. Even the partitions are metal, the only wood being the outside window frames. The company is very desirous of getting into the building at the earliest possible moment, and work has accordingly been rushed with all speed. The contract for the window frames was given to the Los Angeles Planing Mill, a union concern, but this plant was burned down, and it was unable to fill the order within the required time. Engstrom went to each of the other mills, and the only firm able to deliver the order in the desired time was Hughes Brothers. The order was necessarily given to the mill under the union ban; the frames were delivered and put in place by the union workmen without a murmur.

RIDICULOUS DEMAND.

At this juncture Agitator Lovelace appeared upon the scene and discovered the boycotted frames. They were already set, but the emulator of Jim Gray declared it was not too late to remedy the grievous state of affairs. He waited on the contractor and demanded that the frames be removed and the union-made article put in their place. Engstrom protested that, aside from the cost of such a procedure, the union mills could not furnish the frames in anywhere near the time they would have to be had. But the Jim-gray understudy was obdurate, and quite a long discussion of the case took place. It was suggested that the frames could be removed, taken apart and rebuilt by union men, but Lovelace decided that this would not satisfy, because no union man would even touch them. The walking delegate cogitated over all methods of relief and finally decided that the frames must be destroyed entirely—purged by fire. They had been indelibly polluted—touched by unclean hands, and the only solution was to wipe them from the face of the earth forever.

Then Engstrom balked. He had offered almost every conceivable distortion reason out of his desire that work be not stopped when so near completion, but he considered this demand the limit. There was not a carpenter working on the building containing the objectionable frames, and the bricklayers already had the frames pretty well surrounded with masonry. He told the walking delegate that compliance with such a nonsensical and outrageous demand was impossible, but the union agent refused to recede. The trouble-maker threatened to call off all the men and became so insolent that finally Engstrom invited him to the door, offering him physical assistance if he did not accept quickly.

The angered walking delegate immediately went out and called off all the carpenters on the Conservative Life and Emergency Hospital buildings, none of the men ordered into idleness having ever seen or heard of the troublous frames on the telephone building. The bricklayers and concrete workers, who are not affiliated with the Jimgray Council of Labor, refused to strike, and work is proceeding without the slightest interruption on the telephone building.

ENGSTROM INDIGNANT.

Contractor Engstrom said last night: "The strike is as unjust as it is inconsistent and foolish. The demand that I remove and destroy window frames already put in on a rush order is preposterous on its face. There was no trouble until the agitator came on the scene and there is no dispute or demand as to wages or hours. I have employed union men, observed union rules and paid the union scale. Moreover, I have made many concessions to the union—increased wages from $2.75 to $3 and then to $3.50. But when the agitator demanded that I destroy $500 worth of my own property, that was too much.

"I will have plenty of non-union men to fill the places of those who went out by Monday morning. There are lots of non-union carpenters in the city and I have called in some of my men on outside jobs almost finished. The men who struck will not be taken back. Some of them had been with me for ten years and never had any complaint of their employment. At the command of the agitator these men put on their coats and walked out like millionaires, with cigars in their mouths. Several of them are old fellows, whom I have really kept as a matter of charity—men 70 years old or thereabouts. These men could not do much but carpenter work, and I kept them puttering away at interior hard-wood work. They joined the union and then had to quit their jobs forever for such a nonsensical cause.

"Such agitation as this is bound to have a bad effect on building here. One case I know of personally. A capitalist was considering putting up a block to cost $150,000, but when these small strikes began he decided to invest money in other lines, where it would be safe from the freaks of the labor market. We would probably have secured that large contract."

OBITUARY.

Albert Netter.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—The death of Albert Netter, formerly of Cincinnati, is announced in a cable to the World from London. He died of Bright's disease, aged 55 years.

Netter came prominently before the American public at the time of the greatest success of Ives, "the Napoleon of finance," in connection with the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton Railroad deal. He left America in 1891. After that he lived in Brazil and England. He was in Rio Janeiro at the time of Dom Pedro's overthrow, and had obtained a valuable railway concession from the Emperor the day before the revolution. He backed the Palace Theater Music Hall in London, and brought out several more or less successful companies. His last scheme was the projected Columbia Club.

Orange Pickers Make an Uphill Fight—The Other Games. News of the Track.

BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The announcement of the threatened race-track war was the principal topic of conversation in turf circles today, wherever horsemen congregated. All agree that such a state of affairs would be of vast benefit to horsemen, and they argue as to which association would have the better of the opposition. Many contend that the California Jockey Club would have the greater following, on account of its close proximity to San Francisco, Oakland and other large places, while others claim that these long-protracted meetings, held at San Francisco and Oakland, have materially shortened up the book rolls of the populace.

On the other hand, Los Angeles will have to be educated to a winter meeting. And enthusiasts who favor the southern city point to the fact that, in recent years, the largest crowds of the year have witnessed races between light-harness cracks there. It is a well-known fact that when Our Dick, Lou Wood, Silkwood, Plunket and other pacers started at Los Angeles the southern press approximated a number of people in attendance at 5000. This certainly is equal to, if not more than, any crowd ever seen on the San Francisco or Oakland race track, as far as memory serves.

Another thing that speaks highly in favor of Los Angeles having the better of it, should such a war exist, is the fact that, during the winter months, the southern part of the State has a great many visitors who have plenty of money, and should they patronize the races, the meeting would certainly prove a great success.

OAKLAND WAS CRIPPLED.

BUT SAN FRANCISCO WON.

BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 14.—Phyle's pitching was the feature of today's game between Oakland and San Francisco. The first time up he hit out a home run. The Oakland team was much crippled, but played good ball all that. Jimmie Sullivan was sent into service at first, and filled the bill. Williams made a good impression by his work in the outfield. Eason had his right hand badly injured while making a line drive hit by Devereaux. He will not be able to pitch for some time.

NATIONAL LEAGUE GAMES.

PHILADELPHIA-ST. LOUIS.

BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 14.—Philadelphia took the final game from St. Louis today by batting Murphy out of the box in the sixth inning. Up to this time he was very effective. Attendance 325. Score:

St. Louis, 4; hits, 7; errors, 3.
Philadelphia, 5; hits, 9; errors, 0.
Batteries—Murphy, O'Neil and Ryan; White and Doolin.
Umpire—Emslie.

CINCINATI-NEW YORK.

BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Cincinnati wound up their eastern trip here today by beating New York 6 to 3. The visitors outbatted the home nine, and practically won the game in the first innings, when they scored four runs. Attendance 2300. Score:

Cincinnati, 6; hits, 11; errors, 2.
New York, 3; hits, 10; errors, 0.
Batteries—Phillips and Bergen; Miller and Bowerman.
Umpire—O'Day.

CHICAGO-BROOKLYN.

BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

BROOKLYN, Aug. 14.—Chicago took the last game of the series from Brooklyn today. The fielding of the home team was disjointed and lacked snap. Taylor was hit harder than usual. Score:

Chicago, 6; hits, 10; errors, 3.
Brooklyn, 2; hits, 10; errors, 2.
Batteries—Taylor and Kling; Newton and Farrell.

PITTSBURGH-BOSTON.

BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

BOSTON, Aug. 14.—Pittsburgh had no trouble hitting Eason today, and Boston was beaten. Leach's batting was the feature, he making two home runs, a double and a single. Tannehill was a puzzle to Boston. Attendance 400. Score:

Boston, 1; hits, 7; errors, 4.
Pittsburgh, 6; hits, 13; errors, 2.
Batteries—Eason and Kittredge; Tannehill and Fatz.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Announcement was made tonight that Terry McGovern and Young Corbett will not meet in the ring in New London on August 29, as originally arranged. They will fight before the Southern Athletic Club of Louisville on September 15. Representatives of the two featherweights decided upon this at a meeting held at Saratoga today.

The reason for abandoning New London is that the officials of the State of Connecticut have put the ban on the fight, and even if the men were able to come together this action would likely keep the attendance down. All forfeits will stand for September 15.

Taylor Defeats Kramer.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 14.—Maj. Taylor won the grand circuit, two-mile national championship race, from Frank Kramer, the champion, at the Hartford Avenue Coliseum tonight. Floyd McFarland won the consolation, one-mile race, in two minutes. Owen S. Kimble was second.

Tennis Tourney Championship.

SOUTHAMPTON (L. I.) Aug. 14.—In the tennis tournament in the championship singles final round and championship, William A. Larned defeated Dr. Joshua Pitt, 6-2, 6-4, 6-3.

Championship doubles, final round in championship, D. H. Dougherty and H. L. Dougherty defeated Malcolm D. Whitman and William A. Larned, 6-4, 6-4, 6-3.

Hynds to Be Referee.

SALT LAKE (Utah) Aug. 14.—Harry P. Hynds of Cheyenne, Wyo., has been selected as referee of the twenty-round contest between Jack Root and George Gardner, which takes place at the Salt Palace next Monday night.

SEASON'S BEST WORK DONE AT NEW YORK.

SUSIE J. AND PRINCE ALBERT GO TO BEAT RECORDS.

Seven Thousand Spectators See a Splendid Series of Contests—Fastest Time of the Season Made Against the Watch by Dan Patch.

BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Seven thousand spectators today saw a splendid series of contests in which the best trotting and pacing records for the season in races were made. In the first race of today, the 2:10 novelty trot, Susie J. won the second heat in 2:06½, and in the special race between Prince Alert and Anaconda, the former paced in 2:03¼. The best previous records of the season in races were The Monk, trotting, 2:07, and Dan Patch, pacing, 2:03¾. The fastest time of the season made against the watch, by Dan Patch, 2:00¾, was duplicated.

For the special it was announced that Dan Patch would go against his own record of 2:00¾, and Star Pointer's record of 1:59¼. He was accompanied by a runner. He went to the quarter in 30¾ and to the half in 1:00¼. The three-quarters was passed in 1:31, and he came home without pressure in 2:00¾, equaling his record. Summary:

2:20-class trotting, novelty race, purse $1500, horse winning fastest heat wins first money: Susie J. won the second heat in 2:06½. Louise Mac won the first heat in 2:10¼. York Boy won the third heat in 2:11¼. Ferono, Col. Cochran, Waubum, Allright, Aggie Medium, Lady Geraldine and Gene D. also started.

The 2:10-class pacing, the Brighton purse $5000. Twinkle won the second, third and fourth heats in 2:05½, 2:07, 2:09. Don Derby won the first heat in 2:06. Terrace Queen, You Bet, Joe Pointer, Terrill S., Nathan Strauss, Casonada, Roamer, Sophia, Dandy Chimes, Lou Vaughn, Oneto, Star Pugh, Laconda and Daphne Dallas also started.

Grand special, to beat 1:59¼, special purse: Dan Patch, b.h., by Joe Patchen-Zeilca, by Wilkesberry (McHenry.) time for quarters, 30¼, 1:00¼, 1:31, 2:00¾.

Special match, pacing, purse $3000; Prince Alert beat Anaconda in two straight heats; time, first heat, 30¼, 1:01¼, 1:32½, 2:03¼. Second heat, 29, 1:00, 1:31¾, 2:04¼.

2:14-class pacing, novelty, purse $1500: Free Advice won the second heat in 2:10¼; Albert won the first heat in, 2:11½; Orin E. won the third heat in 2:18¾. Dick Wilson, Sultana, Charley Hoffer and Ethel Mack also started.

SHIP TRUST'S MORTGAGE.

ELIZABETH (N. J.) Aug. 14.—A mortgage of $16,000,000 was placed on record here today in the Union County Clerk's office. It is given by the United States Shipbuilding Company, recently formed by Lewis Nixon, to the Mercantile Trust Company of New York. The mortgage covers all the plants acquired by the United States Shipbuilding Company, whose capital is placed at $45,000,000, and it will be recorded in the various States and counties where branches of the company are located. The mortgage is to run for thirty years.

CRISIS IN POTASH INDUSTRY.

BERLIN, Aug. 14.—The potash industry is undergoing a crisis due to overproduction. The Prussian treasury mines have discharged hundreds of workmen, and have reduced the wages of others from 10 to 20 per cent. All private mines and factories took similar steps.

POOR MRS. SMITHERS AND THE THURSTONS.

BY I. E. CHITTENDEN.

[Published under special arrangement with S. S. McClure Co., New York.]

THE Thurstons were out in the hayloft rehearsing a scene from "Bluebeard." Suddenly Molly exclaimed, "Here comes father!"

And quite as if that was his cue to appear, the Rev. Frank Thurston's head appeared in the doorway.

"Children," he said, "I wish you would go and see how poor Mrs. Smithers is today. I have to go in the other direction. There is a poor woman who came to town last night very ill, with a young child. She died before morning, and left word for the English priest to find a good home for her child. She went to the Davis family, who had known her in the old country, but they are too poor and have too many of their own to keep the child. So I must attend to the matter at once."

"Oh, couldn't we take the child, daddy?" said Polly.

"I'm afraid not," said the Rev. Thurston, "for the same reason that the Davises can't. But don't forget to see how poor Mrs. Smithers is."

"We won't. We'll go," said Molly. So the busy parson went his way, and his six olive branches soon started up the road toward Mrs. Smithers's.

"I suppose the reason daddy wants to know how poor Mrs. Smithers is, is because he wants to know if she can afford to take the poor little child," said Dummy Dee, after a season of thought.

"Why, of course," said Polly, stopping to kiss him. "You dear child, to think about that! I've been worrying about it myself, but that's the very place, that great, big, clean, shiny house, and just Mrs. Smithers in it, of course."

"Hush!" said Molly. "Here we are. Won't that dear little orphan have beautiful times playing in the yard?" she continued, gazing around the immaculate lawn, that looked as though it had been washed and ironed, it was so smooth.

Then they trooped up the steps and rang the bell.

A very cross and somewhat elderly-looking woman opened the door a little, and gazed grimly at the six red-cheeked Thurstons, who, with quaking hearts, smiled affably at her.

"Is Mrs. Smithers in?" asked Polly politely.

"She's in fast enough," returned the woman; "in bed with rheumatism and nooralgy from cleanin' house before it was warm enough weather."

"We'd just as lief go up and see her," suggested Molly, with a desire to be agreeable.

The woman sniffed. "It's not company she's wantin'," she began, when a deep voice from the upper regions was heard:

"How do you know what I want, Jane Thornton? Who is it?"

"They can come and tell you," replied Jane, in a caustic tone, and, standing aside, she opened the door wider. Six pairs of feet rubbed themselves on the mat and tiptoed through the oil-cloth covered hall, and up the stairs. Following the direction of the voice, they presently stood a fascinated, speechless row at the side of her bed.

Mrs. Smithers ordinarily was an uncommon personality, and now, with her face swathed in bandages, she looked out at the astonished Thurstons with a twinkle of amusement in her sharp, deep-set eyes.

Dummy Dee was the first to recover his tongue.

"I'm sorry you're sick, Mrs. Smithers," he said. "Daddy told us to come and see how poor you are. "I think," he went on, 'it's because he wants you to take a baby to raise."

"Whose mother has died, and she wanted father to find a place for it," said Molly.

"We'd love to take it," said Dummy, seizing his turn, "but we are poor ourselves, and such a lot of us and a little house."

"I suppose that's what made him think of you; there's so few of you and so much house, you know," said Tom.

Mrs. Smithers proceeded to untie bandages and to lie back on the pillows and laugh.

"Do you think I could stand a youngster cluttering up this house and bothering the life out of me?" she asked when she could speak.

Then Polly, who had been looking around the great, square, cheerless-looking room, came nearer. "Mother says children are a comfort anyway," she said. "Even if they do cost a lot and make a lot of noise, they fill up all the empty places."

Mrs. Smithers's lone, childless heart bounded, and her face softened, as she looked at the six sturdy faces so earnestly regarding her.

She had been called, and rightly, perhaps, a hard business woman, made so from many bitter experiences. This new feeling now tugging through the crust of her nature was not at all unpleasant.

Mrs. Smithers pulled the bell near the bed, and presently Jane appeared.

"Take these children downstairs, Jane," said Mrs. Smithers, and there was in her voice something that made Jane stare open-mouthed at her, "and fill them up on your famous seed cakes," she went on. "I'm going to get up and dress. They have cured my neuralgia. You have the surrey brought around in half an hour. I'm going to see about adopting a child."

Jane, stricken dumb with astonishment, and perfectly sure that her mistress had suddenly gone crazy, managed, however, to carry out her orders. The people in the village were presently entertained by the spectacle of a surrey packed full of chattering, laughing Thurstons, with Mrs. Smithers towering up in their midst, and driving with reckless abandon.

At a small house, in the far end of the town, the Rev. Mr. Thurston was busy making arrangements for the burial of the child's mother, when Mrs. Smithers and the children camein.

The child was asleep in Mrs. Davis's arms. Mrs. Smithers stooped and took it up gently. It sighed, a little sobbing sigh, half opened its eyes, and with a gurgle of content, nestled down again against her shoulder.

At that moment Mrs. Smithers was so happy that she would not have exchanged places with any living being. She put her purse in her astonished rector's hands.

"I will pay all the expenses of the burial," she said, "and I will take the baby."

"She was'nt at all too poor, daddy, you see," said Dummy Dee.

WILL TRY FOR SOUTH POLE.

CHRISTIANA, Aug. 14.—The Antarctic explorer, Borchgrevinck, who is here, will return to America in a fortnight. He is arranging for the sailing of two ships in 1903, on an expedition to the South Pole for the National Geographical Society at Washington. This expedition will utilize reindeer. It is said, for the first time in Antarctic exploration.

HOW THE TIMES TREATS LABOR.

THE LOS ANGELES TIMES regularly pays to its skilled, reliable and acceptable workmen wages that average from $3.75 to $4.50 per day for time work, and from $4 to $5.50 per day for piece work. These rates are higher than are paid by any competing newspaper; and another advance has recently been agreed upon. The Times pays larger sums weekly, monthly and yearly for labor than any journal in all the Southwest. Its cash disbursements on this account between August, 1890, and the end of September, 1901, aggregated $1,007,020.81, and its annual expenditures for labor of all classes, both skilled and unskilled, now average more than $175,000 per year. There never has been any attempt, in any quarter, to deny these specific and telling facts, and the proprietors challenge such denial if made. Not for years has The Times had any trouble with its workmen, who are independent of unions, loyal to their employers and to themselves, well satisfied and prosperous. The Times controls its own business in its own way, subject only to the laws of the land; and no interference with that control can be lawfully or justly made. The result of its fixed policy has proven highly beneficial to all concerned, and the justness and correctness of its course have for years past received public approval in most marked and conspicious ways, the circulation and advertising patronage of the paper steadily and largely outstripping that of all local rivals. THE TIMES-MIRROR COMPANY.

H. G. OTIS, President and General Manager.

Since no attempt whatever has ever been made in any quarter to refute, or even dispute, the accuracy of the foregoing authoritative statements, our defeated maligners are estopped; and the public is amply warranted in giving no credence to contemporary hostile assaults upon The Times management in the matter of its relations to its workmen, or vice versa. Falsehood must yield to truth.

BUSINESS.

The exchanges of the Los Angeles clearinghouse yesterday were $894,669.14, as against $561,802.74 for the corresponding day of last year. Yesterday's figures are above the average for the season and indicate excellent business activity.

Heavy selling movement in wheat at Chicago was followed by a good rally. Corn breaks early with wheat. Dealings in stocks were larger than they were Wednesday, but the market remained uneven.

AS THE CASE STANDS.

Yesterday the five Assembly districts in Los Angeles county, outside of this city, held conventions and nominated delegates to the Republican State Convention. Of the thirty-four delegates thus named, Senator Flint secured twenty-three and Gage eleven. It may be possible, however, that these figures will yet stand twenty-six to eight. Yesterday's action in the outside Assembly districts completes the Los Angeles county delegation to the State convention, which, on the face of the returns, will stand as follows:

Assembly districts.	Gage.	Anti-Gage.
67	..	11
68	..	11
69	8	3
70	6	5
71	9	..
72	..	8
73	10	..
74	7	5
75	13	..
Total	53	43

Early in the campaign it was confidently claimed by the Gage "push" that the Governor would go into the State convention with "a solid delegation from his home county." Later this extravagant claim was slightly modified, and the Gageites declared that they would have not less than from 80 to 85 per cent. of the Los Angeles county delegation. The drop from these fanciful figures to fifty-three delegates, or barely 55 per cent. of the total delegation, is in the nature of a thud more or less sickening—from the Gage point of view. The actual result shows that the exaggerated claims of Gage and his lieutenants were mere bluff and bluster. Mr. Gage has been practically repudiated by his own county. His failure to secure a pronounced majority of the delegates amounts to that, however hard his partisans may seek to make it appear otherwise.

It is an open secret, moreover, that Democratic votes in considerable number were cast for Gage delegates at the primaries in Los Angeles, the purpose being, of course, to induce the Republicans to nominate their weakest candidate, in order that the chances of electing a Democratic candidate for Governor might thus be increased. It is a safe assertion that, had it not been for the Democratic votes cast for Gage at the primaries, Senator Flint would have carried nearly every precinct in Los Angeles—both in city and county. These Democratic votes which were given for Gage and his gang at the primaries would go solidly against him at the polls in November, should he be nominated.

A careful review of the situation, based upon actual results and conservative estimates, makes it apparent that Gage cannot secure a renomination. The number of votes necessary to nominate will be 415. He will not go into the convention with more than 350 votes, and it is doubtful if he has more than 325 on the first ballot. The anti-Gage strength in the convention will aggregate in the neighborhood of 500. In the event of a failure to nominate on the first ballot, Gage will gain little from the opposition on succeeding ballots. It will then be practically the field against Gage, and it will not be long before the opposition will unite upon some good man and give him the nomination. It may be safely predicted that there will be no deadlock in the Republican State Convention.

The Gage shouters and their ill-informed, reckless and unreliable organs, morning and evening, are still attacking the conservative estimates of The Times, or claiming that there has been "a regular landslide" for Gage, that he "will be renominated on the first ballot," etc., etc. The absurdity of these claims is apparent even from their own figures—which are made to lie in a most outrageous and ridiculous manner. The verdict of the State convention will demonstrate the superlative folly and silliness of these badly-beaten bluffers. What sane and sagacious politician, not blinded by prejudice or self-interest, believes that Gage can be renominated?

THE POLICEMAN'S LOT.

In considering the question of police salaries, it is absurd and unreasonable to argue the question upon the basis of wages paid to ordinary, unskilled labor. A policeman certainly ought to receive a somewhat higher rate of pay than the hod carrier, who now gets $3.50 a day in Los Angeles. It should not be forgotten that the ideal policeman should be of a more than average grade of intelligence, for he is frequently called upon to decide, at a moment's notice, knotty points in regard to arrests and so forth. Then, again, he is at any moment, when on duty, liable to be wounded or killed in the performance of his regularly allotted task, a danger that does not menace workingmen in other callings. Los Angeles should be ashamed to go on record as seeking, for this wealthy, prosperous and rapidly-growing city, cheap labor in hiring its police force. What we should have, in this city, is a graduated scale of wages for the policeman, beginning a little below the present scale, and rising somewhat above it, after a few years' service, so as to hold out inducements for diligence, energy and faithfulness. Then, on the other hand, we should be justified in demanding a more strict examination of candidates for admission to the force, something after the style of the mental, moral and physical examination to which candidates for the army are submitted, although not quite so rigorous.

We believe, if the intelligent citizens of Los Angeles will study this question, a great majority of them cannot fail to see it in the same light. A scale giving, say, $75 per month, or $900 for the first year, $1000 for the second year, $1100 for the third year, and $1200 for the fourth year, would be moderate, fair, reasonable and just. This scale would give a patrolman $4200 for four years' service, instead of $4000, as now paid. This increase, amounting to $200 in four years, would average but 5 per cent. advance on the present yearly salary of $1000 for patrolmen. A proportionate advance in officers' salaries would, of course, follow.

The death-dealing automobile has once more performed its perfect work in the destruction of the Californian, Charles Fair, and his wife in France, but this time it was not pedestrians who fell victims to the modern Moloch of Gasoline. If the horror of yesterday shall serve to put a stop to the reckless speeding of those dreadful machines, the death of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Fair will not have been in vain.

THE EVIL EYE.

One constantly reads in the newspapers of strange actions of men and women, which cannot be explained by any of the ordinary rules by which we are accustomed to judge the actions of mankind. We had here a local case, a few years ago, wherein the claim was set up by the alleged possessor of a "malign optic" that he had made it "work" with effect in some forty-six distinct and separate instances.

It is quite possible that in some of the cases on record hypnotism may be at the bottom of the erratic behavior of these people. Hypnotism is no new and mysterious thing, or a fad, but a scientific fact, which is recognized among experts throughout the world and has been utilized to some extent in the hospitals of France and other countries. It is claimed, by the leading experts on this subject, that a person cannot be hypnotized against his will. However, we know so little on the subject that it would not be safe to take this for granted, and then, again, there are many people who have scarcely any will of their own, and are easily brought under the hypnotic influence.

Quite recently a case was reported in the papers where a scheming individual, who had married the daughter of a wealthy Western man, after a courtship of a few hours, and had brought her to Southern California, is said to have accomplished his object by the use of hypnotism. Again, there is the remarkable case of a board of directors of a German bank, who would be about the last people in the world one would suspect of submitting to hypnotic influence. Yet it is seriously declared that the ruin of the Leipziger bank, which failed about a year ago for the immense sum of nearly 200,000,000 marks, was brought about by the fascinating personality of a man named Adolph Schmidt, who is said to have obtained from time to time from the bank loans to the amount of many millions of dollars, without giving any adequate security. The directors have all admitted that their actions were inexcusable on the basis of sound business principles, but they say that this man Schmidt, by some means or other, succeeded in making them believe in his extraordinary propositions. The significance of this affair is increased by the fact that none of the directors profited personally by the loans which they made.

It looks as if we should have, in future, to take into consideration this little-understood science, or system, or whatever it may be called, in figuring upon the actions of men, and it may be that before long there will be a general demand for the adoption of laws regulating the practice of hypnotism, as is already the case in some countries. However, it will be a difficult thing to frame any law that would prevent one person from secretly influencing another by this means, if he has the power to do so. Meantime, weak-minded people—and even those who think they are strong minded—would do well to be on the lookout for designing Svengalis.

POSSIBLE REACTION.

Many conservative persons have "viewed with alarm," for some months past, the expansion of industries and the progressive advance in prices. Predictions have been quite freely made that a reaction will come in the near future, which will bring with it falling prices, decreased industrial activity and curtailed employment of labor, with the probability of lower wages. Some pessimistic prophets have even gone so far as to predict a reaction so violent as to bring panic, industrial stagnation, and general hardship, such as prevailed during a good part of President Cleveland's second administration.

While there is apparently nothing in the commercial and industrial situation, at present, to warrant these gloomy forebodings, it must be evident to every careful observer that an end must soon come to the upward tendency of prices, if a healthful balance is to be maintained between the forces of supply and demand. Advancing prices, up to a certain limit, indicate an increasing demand. Carried beyond a judicious limit, advanced prices lead inevitably to a decreased demand, which must eventually result in forcing down prices. Extremes in any direction will tend to bring about a reaction.

Discussing this question, in his financial review for August 9, Henry Clews says:

"While the crop and business situation is satisfactory, the industrial outlook is hardly as promising as at this time in 1901. The unsettled condition of labor exerts a deterrent effect upon new enterprises, and the increased costs of production which the demands of labor are imposing are creating a situation that causes more or less anxiety concerning the future. Profits are already declining, and the present high level of prices makes it impossible for manufacturers to compensate themselves by further advances that would simply curtail production and leave the producer in no better situation. It seems quite probable that the ability of manufacturers to advance wages has about reached its limit, for the reason that advances in wages now mean still higher prices for products, which cannot be obtained under present conditions. Meanwhile manufacturers are confronted with another problem—that of new competition—which, combined with new methods and small capitalization, is making active headway against the older heavily capitalized concerns. Altogether, therefore, the industrial situation will bear some careful watching, the indications being that we are nearer a reaction in this part of our economic machinery than is generally supposed, if it has not been already entered. For this reason the strike fever cannot be regarded with the equanimity that would be possible if prosperity promised unknown continuance. With the plain intimations that we are near a downward turn in prices and profits, much of the strike agitation will prove ill-timed and injurious."

The unexampled industrial prosperity which has for some time past prevailed throughout this country seems to have brought about, in some measure, the "unsettled condition of labor" to which Mr. Clews refers. Labor agitators have seized upon the opportunity presented by improved industrial conditions to incite strikes, knowing that the chances of success are greater in prosperous times than in seasons of depression. Increases of wages have been granted voluntarily by employers in many cases. The increased cost of manufacture, due to higher wages and higher prices for materials, has served as an excuse and justification for raising the prices of products to the consumer; thus far, without reaction. But the process cannot go on indefinitely. To kill the goose that lays the golden egg is a decidedly unwise proceeding, as everybody knows.

The fact that the people of the United States have been industrially prosperous, notwithstanding the numberless and prolonged strikes of the past two years, serves to indicate the great vitality and extent of our industries. The many strikes—most of which were without justification in reason or expediency—have greatly retarded and injured our industries, yet the latter have grown marvelously in spite of this retarding influence. If there had been no strikes, the progress of industrial development would have been much greater, employers of labor would have been more prosperous (and therefore better able to increase wages,) the great mass of wage-earners, as well as the small minority who have engaged in strikes, would have been better off than they are today, and there would be no occasion to fear a serious reaction such as would bring general distress. The money gained in strikes is seldom or never equal to the loss which the strikes bring upon the wage-earners themselves.

One must have a vivid imagination to conceive the thought of a man like William McKinley, once Governor of Ohio, or Odell, Governor of New York, or Pattison, once Governor of Pennsylvania, or Thurman, once Governor of Ohio, or Roosevelt, once Governor of New York, or any of the other great characters who have served terms as Governors of States in the American Union, prancing up and down in the chambers of a judge of the Superior Court, exclaiming: "That man Campbell is the biggest liar in the State, drunk or sober." It has been left to California to produce a Governor who could forget the dignity of his position in the State to thus assail a member of his own profession, in the manner of a brawler in the streets. California is to select a Governor for another four years at the fall election. A convention of Republicans to put forward a candidate for that office of distinction will be held at the capital on August 25. The citizens of the commonwealth, without regard to party, will expect them to name a candidate who has at least some slight regard for the amenities of life—some consideration of the exalted dignity of the position of Governor. The language of the racing park and the purlieus should have no place in the mouth of a man who represents the people of a sovereign State in the American Union in its highest office.

It is said that imitation is the sincerest flattery. Judging on this basis, The Times should certainly feel more or less flattered, for many of its leading features have been extensively copied by esteemed contemporaries in various parts of the country (including home territory,) such, for instance, as the real-estate page, the hygienic department, and the system of careful classification and indexing of news and advertising. We shall endeavor to continue to furnish our respected admirers with object lessons in the art of making a modern, up-to-date American newspaper.

Gage gang tactics: Claim everything; throw mud at and lie about everybody in the opposition; abuse every man who assumes the right to think for himself; bulldoze the man who dares criticise "our candidate," if you can; ride rough shod over everybody and everything that doesn't stand in with the gang and that is not in line with gang methods. And the result of these tactics will be that the American spirit will rise to the occasion and the gang will be cast into outer darkness, where there is weeping and wailing and chewing of the rag!

A dispatch from New York announces the incorporation of another big trust, the International Harvester Company, with a capitalization of $120,000,000. The incorporators aver that the chief object of the organization is to keep the prices of agricultural machinery down, so that the farmers may not suffer, at which statement even the densest kind of a "hayseed" will be likely to indulge in a quiet smile.

The tax-dodging banks and trust companies of San Francisco have been called to time by Judge Morrow of the United States Circuit Court. STORY BEHIND SALE OF TIMBER LAND.

EASTERN PARTIES GET PART OF HAYWARD TRACT.

Business Stagnation and "Boom" Times Forced Bank That Loaned Money on Valuable Plumas County Land to Wall—Spiritualism's Part.

The telegraph has announced the sale to eastern parties of a large body of timber land in Plumas county belonging to the Sierra Lumber Company, a big San Francisco corporation. Back of this transaction there is a story interwoven with the history of the depression that antedated the "boom" times of Southern California.

Many years ago Alvinza Hayward, prominent in the financial world of this State, became imbued with the idea that the forests of Michigan, Minnesota and other eastern timber-producing regions, were about to become exhausted by reason of extensive lumbering operations, and acting under the spur of commercial sagacity, proceeded to acquire title in various ways to fully 100,000 acres of the best sugar-pine timber lands in the Big Meadows district of Plumas county. It was an independent proposition, as he already owned extensive mills and factories at Red Bluff, Chico and other points, besides large tracts of land in the Sierra Nevadas east of those places.

He had planned to construct a railroad through the mountains, using the Deer Creek Pass as a route, for the purpose of tapping the immense forests of the Big Meadows.

In those days Hayward and the late ex-Gov. Downey were closely allied in a business way, being especially jointly interested in considerable property throughout Southern California. Among their possessions the 44,000-acre Warner Ranch, in San Diego county, since famous for the eviction of the Mission Indians, figured as a chief asset.

It developed that Hayward was about a quarter of a century ahead of the times in his calculations, and to carry on his gigantic lumbering schemes involved such an outlay that he was obliged to borrow large sums from the Merchants' Exchange Bank of San Francisco, with the result that upon the advent of the period of depression immediately preceding the historic "boom" of 1885-8, he owed the bank about $2,500,000, and owing to shrinkage in values of the property pledged as security for these loans, the financial institution was driven to the wall. Everything belonging to Hayward was swallowed in the vortex, and the bank only saved its own good name by virtue of some of its wealthy stockholders coming to the rescue. It has been in liquidation ever since, gradually converting the former Hayward holdings into cash and from the fund thus created paying dividends to the shareholders as fast as they accumulated.

The property of the Sierra Lumber Company was the principal collateral taken by the bank as security for the money advanced Hayward, and while it consisted of at least 150,000 acres of valuable timber lands, interspersed with great lumbering plants, flumes and factories, so dense was the general stagnation in business affairs of those days that the property was for years regarded as a sort of an "old man of the sea" by the moneyed concern. It seldom paid any direct dividends, and was frequently the subject of attack by the government for trespass, having been sued in 1888 for damages to the extent of nearly $3,000,000 for alleged depredations upon the public domain.

Meantime the southern portion of the State became engulfed—with its famous land "boom," values approaching unheard-of figures for the period. The bank sold out its holdings here at a loss even over the original investment, in some cases, upon the very first wave of prosperity, and has since been compelled to endure the bitter irony of fate by witnessing an increase of 1000 per cent. in many instances, or sufficient to have placed it safely upon its feet years ago.

The 65,000-acre tract mentioned in the dispatches as having been disposed of to eastern parties embodies only a small portion, comparatively, of the whole, and it is doubtful if anywhere else on earth such an immene body of sugar-pine timber land exists in a contiguous form.

Alvinza Hayward was a strong believer in spiritualism at the time his lumbering operations commenced to assume shape, and was then worth $6,000,000. Under the direction of spiritualistic "influence" he divided his fortune with his wife, and they were legally separated, the capitalist having been advised that an "affinity" awaited him, and he proceeded to be governed accordingly.

After his money was all gone, as is usually the case, his "affinity" deserted him for pastures new, and he went to his first love. His ex-wife forgave him and they were remarried. During the period of their separation her share of the fortune had steadily increased in value, so that when they again came together, it was worth nearly as much as the total when it was divided. Upon this foundation has since been built the riches that have made Mr. Hayward famous as a great financier

WEAPONS OF THE CHINESE.

How Their Arms Were Evolved—They are Industrial Implements Modified—Method of Designating Rank.

[New York Post:] The prominent part played by China in the world's affairs during the past seven years has aroused the interest of collectors who have brought to this country many specimens of wares and goods peculiar to that part of the Far East. None among these are of greater historical value than the weapons which are in use in all provinces of the empire, even in the districts where the imperial armies are equipped with European firearms. One of the best collections was shown in this city not long ago, and is now in the possession of the commercial museum at Philadelphia. Single specimens of value are to be found in the Chinese clubrooms in Chinatown, and in many of the bric-a-brac stores scattered throughout the city.

A careful study of the weapon shows that most of them are naught but industrial appiainces suddenly employed for purposes of offense. One spear is a pitchfork and another trident similar to the eel spear employed by our own fishermen. Another ghastly weapon when examined carefully proves to be a scythe blade fastened to the end of a strong pole. The halberds, or hatchets, ax heads, adzes and cleavers wired or tied with thongs to stout staves. Even the spears and lances show an agricultural or domestic rather than a military origin.

These weapons may be viewed as historical souvenirs which are preserved as testimonials of the bravery of the Manchu conquerors. The Tartars take great pride in their conquest of the middle kingdom. Before they came from the north they were savages in comparison with the civilized Chinese. They preserve this fact in their laws and customs. The cuff of every official's coat is made in the form of a horse's hoof to indicate that the Manchurian armies were cavalry, not infantry. The official footwear is a cavalry boot, which, though made of satin with kid-covered soles, is in cut and general appearance the same as the heavy leather article worn by their ancestral troopers 300 years ago. When they conquered China they experienced the strongest resistance from the farmers and fishermen, who armed themselves with whatever came to hand, and attacked the invaders with fierce intrepidity.

In honor of these victories they retained the primitive weapons of their captives and used them as trophies of their battles. Each Manchu officer employed a lot of Chinese captives, and armed them with their own spears, tridents and axes as the case might be. The practice has been kept up ever since. When a mandarin goes calling he has one or more guards in his retinue who are armed with these simple contrivances. So far has the idea been pursued that in nearly all the temples there are weapons which belong to the god of the temple, and these are usually of the same agricultural character as those employed by the guards of civil and military officials.

AFRICAN MONTE CARLO.

Americans Make Piles of Dollars in Big Plays at Cape Town Gaming Tables.

[Honolulu Commercial Advertiser.] Things were dull on the water front and the American who had recently arrived from South Africa was spinning a yarn about the "new Monte Carlo."

The New Monte Carlo is hundreds of miles from Monaco. Its supporters are not tourists or fellows who have syndicate schemes with which they hope to break the bank. They are soldiers from every portion of the globe who are fighting or have been fighting for Great Britain. The scene is laid in Cape Town. A large building is used by "Jake" Hilderbrand, an ex-Denver man, as a casino, and as there is no law in Cape Colony against gambling in the way it is conducted there the place is run wide open. Hildebrand has a number of rooms in which are faro, roulette and poker tables, and from 4 o'clock in the afternoon until about 4 the following morning the place is crowded with soldiers who are shoveling English sovereigns by the sackful to the American gamblers.

"I paid a visit to the rooms one night," said the water front man, "and got onto the inside workings of the game.

"As I entered I noticed a crowd about five deep around a roulette wheel. 'The little O in the pea green wins, gentlemen; it's all mine this time.' A moment later and he was shouting: 'Number thirty-five, gentlemen. Thirty-five for one on the number. Even money on the red and odd, two for one on the third dozen and the second column, all paid?' Then he went on. Lots of chips went onto No. 35 again in the hope that it might be a repeater, but it proved not, as the croupier shouted, 'Again my merry troopers, the little O in the pea gren wins—Little Bobs enters Pretoria.'

"In another room a knot of men were seated around a table. Thesy were all silent men. Not a whisper was heard. A dealer was turning the cards and a clerk beside him was either taking in the winnings or paying out the losses at faro. Sometimes one would see as much as 20 sovoreigns ($150) on a card. In addition to the soldiers there were many others there—representatives of nearly every nationality, black, white or yellow, on the face of the earth. A sportily dressed European sat in a complacent manner beside a Malay. Had the same man met the Malay in the street he would have probably kicked him if he had approached within a yard of him.

"In the poker rooms it was the same. Around a poker table one might see a Peruvian Jew, a Dutchman, a Russian and an Englishman absorbed in a game for big stakes, yet on the street on the following day they would not recognize each other.

"Occasionally a man would get up from a table and approach the big man seated in back of the roll-top desk. The big man wore a fancy vest and a bright red face and a bright smile. On the vest was a remarkable display of diamonds. In his hip pockets he had as good a set of six-shooters as money could buy. As a man leaving a table would approach him, he would put on a sickly smile and ask: 'Well, old boy, what luck tonight?' The man addressed might perhaps curse and say something about being obliged to enlist again the following day, as he had lost his all. And then he would say: 'Lend me a quid ($5,) Jake. I've been cleaned out tonight.' 'Jake' would lend the sovereign eagerly, as he well knew that he was only giving back a very small portion of the amount he had won. The man would be asked to have a drink, a cigar, and as many cigars and drinks as he liked, for the bar in this place was a free one, and liquor and cigars were served gut to all comers without question and without stint.

"After many such men as these had departed the proprietor would take a look around. If there were but few playing he would take his big hat and walk to all the tables. His clerks would throw the winnings into this, and he would announce: 'Well, gentlemen, the bank is closed for tonight.' That would settle the matter, and after each had borrowed a little they would depart.

"I was a stranger, so Jake asked me to step into a parlor in front and have a little lunch. Over the viands he told me that there were about eighty such houses as his running in Cape Town, and that they were all making big money. He was making something like £15,000 a year ($75,000,) but did not expect the good thing to keep up after the war. For that [illegible] nings had been about [illegible]

THE KIKUYU COUNTRY.

It is a Fine Region in [illegible] on the Equator, but its [illegible] are Treacherous.

[New York Sun:] The country in East Africa is [illegible] having within its borders one [illegible] greatest snow mountains [illegible] Kenia, whose summit is [illegible] with snow, though it lies [illegible] der the equator. All travelers [illegible] been enthusiastic over the [illegible] fertility of this region of [illegible] plain that rises from a height of [illegible] 4000 feet to the summit of [illegible] than 18,000 feet above the [illegible] land, exceedingly rich in [illegible] possibilities, it is said that [illegible] can live and work as in [illegible] rope and very likely [illegible] It is practically the only [illegible] studied in tropical Africa [illegible] it may be truthfully asserted.

Travelers, however, have [illegible] inhabitants of these [illegible] reputation. In other words [illegible] kuyu are said to be suspicious, [illegible] erous and hostile to all strangers. [illegible] the latest testimony, coming from [illegible] Richard Crawshay of the British [illegible] who has lived among these people [illegible] years, is to the effect that [illegible] the finest African people in existence [illegible] and he has had long experience with [illegible] many tribes in British East Africa. [illegible] It will be interesting to note [illegible] things that Maj. Crawshay observed [illegible] the country in which white men can [illegible] live in good health and about the [illegible] markable natives who inhabit it.

The first traveler to describe the [illegible] gion was the late explorer, Joseph [illegible] Thomson, who wrote as follows: [illegible] large area of Kikuyu lying between [illegible] 6000 and 8000 feet above the sea [illegible] it is one white men may live and [illegible] work:

"Drought is unknown, and [illegible] ing fertility is everywhere [illegible] Streams abound in great [illegible] Enormous quantities of sweet potatoes, [illegible] yams, cassava, sugar cane, [illegible] are raised and the supply [illegible] quite inexhaustible. On the [illegible] journey I found a caravan of [illegible] men who remained a month [illegible] ried away little short of three [illegible] provisions, yet it did not seem [illegible] tibly to affect the supply or [illegible] the ridiculously low prices. [illegible] fat sheep and goats abound and [illegible] are cattle in considerable [illegible]

Englishwoman's Smile.

Critics allege that the [illegible] lish woman's smile is fast losing [illegible] meaningless thing, from a [illegible] inate use. There is some [illegible] statement, for, when we [illegible] think of it, almost any [illegible] makes to the merest [illegible] even on a first introduction, [illegible] a smile. There is no mirth [illegible] only a muscular movement, [illegible] seemingly, to show polite [illegible] reminds one of the Japanese [illegible] who must always smile, even [illegible] sorrow, or distress of mind [illegible] must never on any occasion [illegible] depressed contenance in public [illegible] in the family circle, should [illegible] dressed by a relative to [illegible] owes respect.

The effort to imitate the [illegible] our American sisters is [illegible] be at the root of the [illegible] to be seen on the [illegible] modern women, but a smile [illegible] never make a countenance [illegible] unless it expresses some [illegible] or feeling. Too many [illegible] appetite, and smiles always [illegible] become valueless and [illegible] pose is needed nowadays [illegible] every direction, and nowhere [illegible] on the faces of women.—Graphic.

RAILROAD RECORD.

RAILROAD SURMISE ABOUT BURLINGTON.

NEW COOS-BAY LINE TO SALT LAKE MAY FALL TO IT.

Surveys Already Made from Guernsey, Wyo., to the Mormon City—Steamship Company Agent Dies. Senator Clark Gone.

Burlington route through to the Pacific Coast—such was the talk in railroad circles yesterday, upon reading press dispatches from the North of a new $15,000,000 railroad from Salt Lake City to Coos Bay.

While the situation exists at present, Burlington can get no further west than Billings, Mont., Cheyenne and Guernsey, Wyo., and Denver, Colo. To get to California, of course, has been a Burlington ambition for a long time.

It is suggested that with a new line from Salt Lake to the ocean, it would be easy for the Burlington to reach from Guernsey or other of its western termini, into Salt Lake, and thereby make connecton with its long-cherished ambition. Coos Bay is in the county of Eureka, Cal., (over 300 miles north of San Francisco,) and it is understood that the new Coos Bay to Salt Lake line will be built to connect San Francisco and Portland along the coast.

As to the Burlington's surmised part in the new scheme, it may be stated that official surveys are now on file in the Land Office for a Burlington road from Guernsey to Salt Lake.

BELT-LINE" TRACK-LAID.

Yesterday afternoon tracklaying for the new "belt line" electric road over the hills of Angeleño Heights was commenced, or at least as much of the road as is planned to construct at present. All that now remains to complete the track from First and Broadway to the end of Kersington road is the placing of the crossing over the old cable line at Temple and Broadway. The overhead wire will be strung at once, and it is reported that cars will be running within a week. There is a double track on Edgeware road, and from that point a single track to the terminus.

MARIPOSA'S VOYAGE WITH CRUDE-OIL FUEL.

RETURN FROM TAHITI MADE UNDER SCHEDULE TIME.

Representative of Navy Department Pleased With Steamer's Showing—Want Midland Road to Kern River—Find in Boulder Field.

The Oceanic Steamship Company's freight liner Mariposa, which arrived in San Francisco this week from Sydney a day ahead of schedule, ended her first voyage since becoming an oil burner, under conditions most satisfactory. The record of the voyage is a tribute to the wisdom of the step taken by the directors of the King coal and substituting liquid fuel as a food for her furnaces.

The Mariposa arrived in port with her machinery in perfect working order, fresh and bright and as clean as any yacht. Lieut. Commander Wenchell, U.S.N., who is chief engineer of the cruiser Boston, and was detailed by the Navy Department to observe the Mariposa on her first voyage as an oil burner, in an interview with the San Francisco Call, expressed himself as delighted with the behavior of the vessel.

"I will make my report to the Navy Department, and, of course, cannot go into details in regard to this matter for publication," he said. "I can say this much, however, and I speak from knowledge gained through careful observation throughout the voyage. Fuel oil as far as the Mariposa is concerned is a complete success and the results obtained on this voyage will be further improved upon as the engineer department becomes better accustomed to the new conditions."

The Mariposa used only two boilers during the voyage and there was no hitch from start to finish. No repairs was made to crowd the machinery at all, but she made the home run in ten days, twenty-one hours and a few minutes. She brought more than a score of passengers and 1500 tons of freight.

The first voyage of the Mariposa is watched with interest by the entire shipping world." says the Call, "as the success which marked it will mean the conversion to oil burners of a large number of vessels and the ultimate abandonment of coal as fuel in the entire mercantile marine. It is not unlikely, too, that Uncle Sam will before long adopt the new fuel for his fleet, at least, of his great White [illegible]

The Mariposa demonstrated that it is possible to carry in a comparatively small space sufficient oil to complete a round trip journey of 12,000 miles. The day's run made by the Mariposa under favorable conditions of weather, was 363 miles.

ASTIGMATISM

This California sun affects the eyes and aggravates eye troubles in a more degree than any other place on the globe. Your nervousness and tired eyes are a sure sign of Old Sol's work. Sun glasses will relieve you, but only temporarily. 'Twill cost you nothing to see if anything is the matter with your eyes.

J. P. Delany, THE OPTICIAN. 200 South Spring St.
First Quality Crystal Lenses, $1 Pair

Railway Company, to extend its road as far as the Kern River field, if the proper inducements in the way of guaranteed business, right of way and station sites are made, is being pretty generally discussed by producers in that field. There is every likelihood that Sunset and Midway producers will be given transportation to San Francisco at 22 cents and to an ocean harbor at 15 cents a barrel. If the intentions terminate successfully, the favored fields on the west side will have an advantage over the great Kern River field that is not to be lightly considered. To have the Sunset and Midway wells connected by such a cheap route to market would be the death of the Kern River territory, and this much is appreciated by them. With such a prospect in view, it is quite probable that the line will be extended.

FIND IN BOULDER.

It is reported that the first well of the Eagle Oil Company in the Boulder field of Colorado has been brought in and that at a depth of 2440 feet an excellent flow of oil was encountered. As yet the full extent of the find is not known.

Choice of Dress Goods Remnants.

Here's the greatest dress goods offering this store ever made: 200 to 250 remnants of wool dress goods at $1.95 each. Why, many of them at their regular yardage prices would be $6.00 to $8.00! And the average—but if we stated THAT you might discredit us, so we simply say that values range from $1.00 to $3.00 a yard, and lengths one to six yards. Practically every popular fabric of the season is included—black goods as well as colored.

It's to clean-up all short lengths of Spring and Summer dress stuffs, and we care little about the loss so long as it clears the way for incoming fall stocks. If you EVER had occasion to come early in the morning, it's now.

Women's $3.50 to $4 Nightgowns.

Fine nainsooks, cambrics and long cloth, in a dozen or more handsome new styles; nearly all run with fine silk ribbons; some trimmed with exquisite Point de Paris laces, some with fine Val. laces and other with dainty French embroidery. Some in V-neck style with square fronts and fine hemstitched lawn ruffles; some with low round necks, circular yokes and short sleeves; others with high necks and circular yokes of French embroidery.

Garments of this character are seldom offered under price. When they are they're gone in a jiffy. Be spry.

NOTES AFIELD.

Want no White Butter.

AFTER years of agitation an oleomargarine law has been passed and the trade has had over a month of its execution. Among its provisions is the requirement that all bogus butter must be white. This has already had a bad effect upon the price of and demand for uncolored genuine butter. The National Dairy Union has sent out notices advising butter makers that they must color their butter, otherwise the trade will believe it to be oleomargarine and refuse to buy it. It is strange that the new law has endangered genuine butter—the very article it was designed to protect.

Early, or Late?

Oh, what is so rare as a frostless June? While on a visit to Colorado about the first of July the reports came to "Cripple" that one of the largest valleys had suffered a heavy frost, killing vegetables, tender flowering plants and injuring field crops of potatoes. Whether it was an early or a late frost the oldest inhabitant would not tell. Now here in California we do not expect the thermometer to crawl down to the freezing point till December—and then only to give zest to turkey and cranberry sauce.

What a Woman Did.

I have just received a letter from a woman living in the northern part of the county, which contains a statement worth recording. Last season she handled the honey from a large apiary, sold it to a city firm and collected the money. The apiary produced 16,000 sections of fine honey, every one of which was handled by my correspondent six times. She writes that the bee business is very uncertain, only one profitable crop having been produced in three years. This worker among the bees must have been as busy as her little friends, the honey makers, and deserves to succeed in any enterprise she may undertake.

Plant Trees.

If Southern California is to continue to be the refuge of those who have tired of too much climate in the East—and why should it not?—the owner of every mansion or cottage should take advantage of his opportunities of increasing the value of his home. It is said a tourist recently visited Whittier and was shown a number of cottages for sale, and all costing about the same. Only one of these had well-improved grounds. Fifty per cent. was the estimated addition to the value of the premises by reason of the yard improvements. Whether we accept this estimate or not, it shows that buyers are willing to pay heavily for a place growing fine trees and plants, rather than wait for the improvement under their own care.

Exaggerated Claims.

The newspapers of the North are claiming the total extermination of the peach worm, through a new spraying compound, introduced by a Berkeley man. It is too much to say that Prof. Woodworth, who has been assisting with the experiments with the new spray, sanctions such a roseate view of the case. It is too good to be true, this prediction that one of the worst of insect pests can be exterminated so easily, and may be likened to the promise made by a portion of our local press that the black scale may be entirely destroyed by the Rhizobius. In Southern California the peach worm has about disappeared from natural causes, and possibly similar causes have led to the reduction of the insect in the North.

Beautiful Trees.

What is more stately, shady and beautiful than an avenue of blue gums? On the south line of the Bean ranch, at Alhambra, stands a line of these great trees, 15 years old, which have attained to the dignity of forest trees in size and appearance. Mr. Bean has trimmed the rough bark all away from them far up into the smaller branches, and their stately boles make a firm addition to the landscape thereabouts. Blue gums are nice trees to have—on the other fellow's land. In this case they have ruined two rows of orange trees beyond redemption, but the sacrifice is for the beauty and comfort of the community. And the trees are not the breeding ground for all kinds of scale.

Ostriches on the Half-shell.

Our friend, Edward Cawston of South Pasadena, is either a great "jollier," or we are to have fame thrust upon us in a new line. Mr. Cawston has just written a New York poultry firm as follows: "I would like to quote you prices on ostrich eggs, and also learn what you would pay for a carload of dry-picked ostriches. These birds are spring ostriches, and weigh 100 pounds apiece." If these young ostriches are like the ordinary spring chicks of a Spring-street restaurant, the New York poultry trade should send their orders promptly, if the birds are to be on in time for the Christmas dinner. A dozen eggs from Mr. Cawston's hennery would make enough eggnog to inebriate all the sports from Harlem to the Battery.

At Last, the Farmers.

A combination has just been formed through which nearly all the farm machinery of this country will be manufactured. The contracting parties are the McCormick Harvesting Machine Company, Deering Harvesting Company, Piano Manufacturing Company and the Milwaukee Harvesting Company. The dispatches do not indicate whether the Stockton harvesting manufacturers will be affected by the formation of this great trust with its $120,000,000 worth of capitalization. Five big concerns have refused to join the combine, but they may be forced to join later.

The grain farmers are doing little to offset these mammoth combinations, and it bids fair for another era of cinching all along the line before the producers organize to protect themselves. On this Coast a much-heralded organization was in the field six months ago from which the grain growers of the State expected much. Inquiry reveals the fact that the movement has already suffered a relapse. In Kansas more progress has been made, principally in the line of farmers' ownership of grain elevators and concerted action toward bettering the markets for their grain. Iowa is leading in a new line. Wealthy farmers are investing in elevators individually and are preparing to store their own grain and that of their neighbors. Without combining as the Kansas growers have done the Iowa leaders have succeeded in spreading general alarm among the local buyers and elevator men. So far as a general movement for protection against great aggregations of capital is concerned, the masses of grain producers seem to be in the same state of lassitude that has prevailed in this country since farm products were first raised in excess of the producers' necessities.

An Interesting Article.

The Times has procured from the pen of A. Campbell-Johnston an article upon the adornment of school grounds preliminary to the agitation of this important topic generally throughout the county. The writer has been engaged in the preparation of a bulletin to be issued from the County Superintendent of Schools' office early this fall, and he is prepared to give the subject of school ground improvement a thorough sifting. I hope the new propaganda may take hold of the minds of the school directors and trustees in time for these officers to improve the school yards and plant them before the late rains are done. At least four school districts have enlisted in the new enterprise and many others will join in later.

Sub-irrigation and Forestry.

An acquaintance has tried sub-irrigation in a rather novel and unsuccessful way, and he gives his experience as a reminder that the roots of trees will penetrate underground pipes wherever an opening is possible. He laid 5000 feet of tubing pressed together, but not riveted, rightly surmising that the seams in the piping would allow the percolation of sufficient water to keep the trees continually growing. For the first season the system worked to perfection, but the rootlets soon filled the pipes to such an extent that he had to abandon the scheme entirely. Where a small quantity of water only is available there is a temptation to adopt some such means as this, but it usually ends in failure.

Rhizobius not Effective.

Two or three weeks ago a prominent writer upon forestry and shade printed a long article in his paper criticising the Horticultural Commissioners for discouraging the dreamers of scale conquests by the Rhizobius. From the article it would appear that beneficial parasites were overrunning the country, and that the scale-beaded pepper would soon be freed from the ravages of the black scale. Within the last few days I have demonstrated by visiting orchards and shade trees known to be heavily infested with black scale that the parasite, Rhizobius, is distributed all over the foothill region. These ladybirds do not seem to be making much headway in their career of destruction, the black scale thriving thick and fast wherever soil and opportunities occur.

On this point Alexander Craw has reported that he found Rhizobius most plentifully scattered through the district, especially about Pasadena. Scarcely a tree was found upon which the Rhizobius was not plentiful. Mr. Craw says yith all these parasites the scale is not visibly decreased. He advises a continuation of spraying and fumigating as the only known means of reducing the infection. The commissioners have been advised by the writer of the article referred to above, to devote their time to the distribution of predatory insects, instead of laboring to decrease the number of pepper trees in the county. Inasmuch as the Rhizobius is found everywhere, and the State Entomologist declares the bug is not doing the work, the criticism offered lacks support and is as ill-advised as most of the advice regarding the efficacy of parasites upon certain kinds of scale.

Agricultural Students.

The statement is made in the farm columns of a country paper that only thirty-six students will be admitted this year to the agricultural course at Berkeley. I hope the bright boys of the high schools and other educational institutions of Southern California who wish to take this course have kept posted upon the opportunities to enter for the ensuing year. For some reason, or through neglect, the administration at Berkeley has not given out the information necessary to a determination on this point. The agricultural college at the State University is turning out a number of young men admirably equipped for usefulness in farm economics. One of them, a resident of this county, has been given a responsible position by the Horticultural Commission, which he is filling with great credit to the office. With such opportunities available as those offered for agricultural education as those at Berkeley the public should be given the particulars of the operations of the school through the public press, so the young students of the South could be well represented in the college should they so desire. The faculty of this institution is equal to that of any other school in the West, and its advantages should be better advertised and understood by the people. I hope it is not too late to arouse an interest locally in the class that will study agricultural science this year at Berkeley.

Demand for Figs.

A gentleman who wishes to establish a plant for crytallising figs has been canvassing the county for several days, trying to discover whether the supply of good fruit will justify the enterprise. In the first place, he found great difficulty in getting a clear understanding of the question from the growers' point of view. As is the case with most of the horticultural products of Southern California, there is a sad dearth of reliable statistics upon the fig supply, and I fear the gentleman went home with a sharp conception of this deficiency. He did not expect to find any of the fertilized Smyrna variety upon the list of supplies, but as he claims a superior process in preparing other varieties, and a fine price assured for all the figs he can prepare, it resolves itself into a question of quantities. If any one can give us reliable figures upon the supply at hand they shall be turned over to this inquirer for the good of the fruit industry.

The demand for the Calimyrna fig, which is the fertilized Smyrna, is already great. Los Angeles takes the largest quantities from the Fresno orchards, for figs are one kind of fruit the tourists know, and will have at any price. Last year over 500 cases were sold in this market from the Fancher Creek orchards, all of the dried fruit. Over 400 cases were sold in New York and 300 in Chicago last season. Should the new process of perfecting the development of the Smyrna fig continue successful, which it must as long as the blastophagus is preserved, imported figs will have had their day in the United States. In two more weeks we are promised the new crop of Calimyrnas, and the markets will be well supplied throughout the winter. This unrivaled California product bids fair to increase the fame of our products in a greater measure than have our grapes or Bartlett pears.

Squirrels Abundant.

An unusual number of complaints are heard concerning the ravages of squirrels and gophers. Two years ago the continued dry weather had reduced the forage, disease had impregnated the runways of the squirrels and lack of water depleted the villages to such an extent that no inconvenience was experienced from these usually troublesome rodents. The two seasons just past have produced an abundant crop of grains and succulents, bringing back these foragers in thousands, and hence the general inquiry for relief. Orchardists are wrapping the trunks of their smaller citrus trees, various poisons and trapping devices employed and noxious gasses pumped into the burrows of the squirrels, with but indifferent success. The authorities of Santa Barbara, San Diego and other counties have from time to time made regulations looking to the extermination of squirrels and gophers, yet with all these, farmers generally say the pests were never so destructive as they are this season. It has been demonstrated to the satisfaction of observant farmers that poisoning, if thoroughly applied, will rid a neighborhood of the pesky rodents.

The fault of compulsory poisoning is its lack of thoroughness. In every locality lies a great deal of waste or uncultivated land. To this the squirrels resort for permanent homes, especially where it lies adjacent to irrigated feeding grounds, to which the pests may go when the natural forage disappears. Authorities have decreed that each farmer exterminate the squirrels on his own lands; provision made by which his neighbors may do the work for him, if he neglects it, and make him pay for the service; fines employed to enforce these regulations. The plan does not seem successful, because of the breeding grounds, located on lands over which no individual exercises control. If the pests do not soon disappear from natural causes, neighborhoods near the grain lands will have to organize, procure the passage of more stringent regulations, and provide for covering the waste lands the same as those under supervision. Commissioner Austin of San Diego county, who has had very wide experience with the squirrel pest, gives us the following recipe for preparing a poison at once palatable and fatal. Do not wait for a general attempt to lessen this scourge, but try this method of poisoning:

Put 100 pounds of wheat in a vessel that you can stir it well in. Break six eggs in a bucket and heat them to a froth, add three pounds of honey and stir well, add two ounces of pulverised strychnine, and it is better to add to this four ounces of cyanide of potassium, well pulverised. Mix well together, distribute the mixture evenly through the wheat, which will take about two hours' steady work, the wheat will then have a gummy appearance; add flour and stir again until it is evenly coated over the wheat. A clear warm day is best for the work.

Frostless Lands.

George P. Hall gives the readers of the San Diego Tribune the following "diagnosis" of what constitutes a frostless belt:

"By 'frostless' is here understood locations where all vegetables such as you raise in Iowa in the spring months can be grown here in the winter months, such as peas, turnips, radishes and all cool-weather vegetables. We occasionally get one or two degrees of frost, but where I live on the mesa, adjoining the city of San Diego, I have had in our garden since planting, two years ago in October, no week in which we could not gather some fruit or vegetables; the fruit has principally been strawberries, and no week when we could not dig potatoes. The sweet potatoes were cut off once, but sprang right up again, and flowers were always in bloom. What we mean by frostless is that it does not freeze the ground or injure only sun-bath plants."

Improvement of School Grounds.

Owing to the good work of village and district improvement associations, and the reviving interest in the true principles of landscape gardening, brought about by art out-of-doors and park improvement societies, much has already been accomplished in eastern cities to improve the appearance of school grounds and waste places; chiefly by the selection of proper trees and groups of shrubbery artistically arranged, which have been planted and cared for, thus hiding unsightly surroundings and adding to the landscape beauty of the scenery. Here also in Southern California much interest is already aroused in these matters.

There is no valid reason why the grounds surrounding our school buildings should not compare favorably with our parks and gardens; and failure to carry out this much needed reform reflects on the culture and refinement of the community.

Children are particularly susceptible to impressions, and the ragged, uncared for school ground inculcates indifference to refinement, and a desire to spend as little time as possible near these unattractive surroundings.

The first difficulty confronting attempts at improvement of school grounds is often the indifference of parents; but more often it is the opposition of the principals, teachers and janitors, aroused from the fear of increased work and responsibility.

Mrs. Herman Hall, when here, pathetically described the efforts of the ladies in Chicago to induce the janitors to water or care for the plants when set out. Especially is this difficult during the vacation months; and plants are much like children in this respect, unless cared for and tended when young, they never make beautiful or robust specimens when grown up.

Still another difficulty confronting such attempts is the often mistaken zeal of those in charge; induced by restless activity, and not knowing exactly what to do, they start to clean up, trim and destroy the plants by cutting off their lower limbs, thus destroying the work already accomplished.

Nurserymen, also are often responsible for failure by injudicious advice as to what will succeed best, often recommending what they happen to be overstocked with, overgrown, unsuitable stuff, which, however well cared for, will never produce satisfactory results.

Principals and others wishing to discourage planting in school grounds, use the same parrot arguments, such as "planting curtails the children's playground," and that "it is no good planting anything, the children will destroy it."

A little investigation will at once prove the falsity of these arguments. Nearly all school grounds are rectangular or square, and this gives at least four unused corners. There are generally unsightly sheds or fences in the rear, which give angles and waste spaces. There are four boundaries. All these spots can be planted without curtailing perceptibly the playground. Indeed, it is a golden rule that nearly all planting should be confined to the boundaries of the lot, or the angles of buildings, or other unused corners.

The second argument, that the children will destroy the shrubbery, I know from practical experience in our own Annandale school, near Garvanza, to be untrue. About eighteen months ago we planted rose bushes on both sides of the walk leading to the schoolhouse, and also set out choice shrubs and trees in the unused part of the ground. Not a shrub or tree has been destroyed by the children, and not even a rose is picked without the teacher's permission. Unfortunately, however, the janitor, with mistaken zeal, pruned up some of the shade trees, somewhat marring their beauty. Except for these little incidents, owing to the careful selection of plants requiring little care or irrigation, the experiment has been a complete success.

There are many school grounds scattered through the county that have attractive grounds, and many improvements are contemplated for the coming winter; and arrangements have been made by the County Superintendent to send a circular, about November, calling the attention of School Trustees to this matter.

A rather depressing instance exists in Los Angeles as a warning; a school ground where nearly $600 was spent on beautifying the surroundings, has returned to its primitive, uncared-for state, owing to a nurseryman unloading unsuitable stock which failed to succeed, and the ignorance of those in charge.

Perhaps the first and most important consideration is the selection of trees. These should rarely exceed two feet in height. Such trees in two years will outstrip the six-foot attenuated canned abominations offered in too many of our nurseries. Except in exceptional instances, a tree that requires staking is unsuitable for planting in Southern California. The conditions differ here from Eastern States, or even the northern portion of our own State.

Small trees, with vigorous uncontracted working roots, if planted in the late fall, have time to become well established before the long dry summer sets in. They also have a root system in proportion to their growth, which a canned tree, subjected to daily sprinkling to keep it alive, never has. Its roots are confined in a tight mat, and if it grows at all it requires careful nursing. The same rule in a somewhat less degree applies to ornamental shrubs.

Having decided to improve our school grounds, intending planters should study the points of the compass; on the north and west boundaries of the lot evergreen trees may be planted, but on the south and west, I wish, for school grounds especially, to suggest deciduous trees, because in winter the welcome rays of the sun can shine on the building and playground, keeping them warm and dry; and because no beauty can compare with the fall tints of such trees, or the bright green foliage in early spring, lending a variety to the somber-hued foliage of evergreens.

It has become the fashion in Southern California to banish from our gardens and ornamental grounds those trees Nature has designed and fitted for this purpose. I mean our native trees.

Our magnificent conifers, the discovery of which was a revelation to the world, grow mostly in our mountains; and from their somewhat formal funerial aspect are unsuited for school grounds. But though somewhat overshadowed by these forest monarchs, we have growing in our foothills and valleys native oaks, of which the great natural beauty and rugged constitution should recommend their use above all other trees. The objection to their use has been their supposed slow growth. This may be true when exposed to natural conditions without care or cultivation; but when planted and cared for, their growth compares well with many trees.

The pin oak has become, in the East, a favorite tree for avenue purposes; so also our live oak, one of the most beautiful of this genus, will some day assume its rightful position. I quote the opinion of Thomas Meehan, one of the largest eastern nurserymen: "A notion prevails that oaks are slow growing, but this idea only holds good to recently-transplanted trees. They must have a year to recover themselves; if the soil is good they will compare with almost any shade tree in rapidity of growth."

A practical test of eastern deciduous trees made in Elysian Park demonstrates that oaks make fully double as fast a growth here as in the East. In Pasadena are many instances. C. A. Day, our horticultural inspector, can tell you his experience. Many other trees growing here support the statement that, excepting eucalyptus and possibly some acacias, the oak compares in growth very favorably with other trees.

I would wish also to call your attention to a cork oak standing in the grounds on the southeast corner of Marengo avenue and California street. It is now nearly twenty feet high, and, being a native of Algeria, will, I am sure, succeed exceptionally well here.

If, however, doubts on this subject still exist, plant oaks between your other shade trees, then in eight or ten years you will have specimens of the most beautiful tree existing.

There are many Arizona live oaks that would succeed here. Of introduced oaks I especially recommend Q. (suber) the cork oak which has been so especially successful in Algeria and other arid regions. Of deciduous trees, the Australian and Arizona ash has been very successful, and more especially the oriental plane so highly recommended by the park superintendent of Los Angeles. The black acacia, with care and proper soil, makes a good tree; so also does the camphor.

Of eucalypts, few only are suitable. E. Polyanthema, E. Sideroxylon, with pink flowers and weeping foliage are good representatives of the family. Avoid common kinds, such as E. Robusta, the blue gum, or sugar gum; they have their place, but school grounds are not one of them, and cheapness is often a very unsatisfactory recommendation if you wish a really satisfactory tree.

Personally, in spite of the many aspersions cast on our pepper trees, especially inland, where scale does not affect them, I still consider them as one of our best trees.

With regard to shrubs, again I wish to put in a plea for our native plants. Our wild holly (heteromites,) of which the red berries are so welcome at Christmas time, if planted in the most neglected corner and labeled "do not water," will in a year begin to give us flowers in summer, followed by its berries in winter. It grows well under pepper trees.

Several of our wild lilacs (ceonothus) succeed well under cultivation, and are very beautiful. The Rhus ovata is also very satisfactory. Of introduced plants the blue plumbago, when once established, stands neglect and needs little irrigation.

There are several kinds of so-called bottle brushes, mostly native of the drier portions of Australia, which have brilliant flowers, and also succeed when planted near eucalypts. Some acacias may be used; select those only from the arid regions, not such as our common A. Floribunda, growing along river banks. We can make no mistake by planting A. Cultriformus and its allies. This list might be largely increased did space permit. We may sum up the four following recommendations:

Interest school teachers and janitors in the work.

Plant trees and shrubs on the boundaries of the lot or in the angles of buildings.

Cover up and plant out unsightly sheds, whitewashed fences and other undesirable features.

Set out healthy young trees and shrubs, selecting those that require least irrigation and will stand neglect, especially native plants.

Much more might be said on this subject. As the children get interested, little rose beds, edgings of geraniums, or any other beautiful details may be added, though this belongs more directly to the great subject of school gardens now attracting much attention.

In a few years, by right methods and proper appreciation of the true principles of landscape gardening, founded on what we see in nature in our arroyos and foothills, our school grounds will be the pride of the city instead of a standing reproach to the refinement and culture of the community.

A. CAMPBELL-JOHNSTON.

FRUIT INTERESTS.

Government Sales of Lemons.

That part of the New York fruit trade which makes a specialty of jobbing out Sicily lemons is naturally and justly incensed over the recent government sales of fruit rejected by the importers. The selling of boxes on which some 80 cents duty is due to peddlers for 16 and 17 cents a box does not put much money into Uncle Sam's pocket, but it does demoralize and discourage legitimate trade. It is to be presumed that fruit which is not worth, according to the importers' cold-blooded and systematic figuring, 80 cents a box, is, to say the least of it, susceptible of suspicion as being fruit entirely unfit for human consumption. It would certainly be to the benefit of the public health as well as to the legitimate trade, which deserves and should receive due protection, if the health board could be induced to step in and supplement abandonment with condemnation. For every sound lemon the peddler picks out from the abandoned boxes he buys at "bargain-counter" prices for sale to barrooms and the poorer kinds of households, there are ten to fifteen he exposes for sale on his barrow which are a menace to health and an offense to the eye.—[Fruitman's Guide.

THE SUGAR BEET.

Sugar Trust Flirting.

Some local interest is awakened in the revival of the rumor that the American Sugar Refining Company is flirting with the stockholders of one or more beet-sugar companies in Michigan, with the view of securing stock. Some months ago the company named came into Michigan and secured stock in four large plants. It was understood at the outset that every plant in the State would be taken in, and overtures were made to some of the companies, but it soon became known that the real effort of the Havemeyer interest was to get into relations with the Michigan Beet Sugar Manufacturers' Association for the effect it would have upon legislation, and it partially succeeded, as events at the time demonstrated.

There is a lurking suspicion that the trust is at its old tricks and is trying to take on the Michigan plans in order to still further cripple the force of the attempt to be made to prevent the passage of the Cuban tariff. If this is the case Michigan beet-sugar manufacturers and the advocates of fostering protection to home industry will do wisely to line up for the fray. With all the boasting of the trust organs of the certainty of the passage of the reciprocity measure at the next session, it is not by any means a foregone conclusion that such will result unless the people the most interested fall to step to the front. The advocates of protecting the sugar interest want to know if the manufacturers of beet sugar are going to stand by them instead of selling out to the trust. If the American sugar producers are willing to abandon, the matter of opposing legislation calculated to cripple the industry the outsiders may as well do likewise. Some information is wanted on the subject as to the real intentions of the trust and the manufacturers of sugar in Michigan. The subject will bear close scrutiny.—Saginaw (Mich.) Courier-Herald.

THE RANGE.

Wild Oats and Alfilerilla.

If the destruction of the most palatable forage plants by selection is constantly going on, how could such palatable species as wild oats and alfilerilla ever have become so abundantly naturalized as to be the prevailing plants on the ranges in the relatively short time since the Spanish occupation of California? And, if they had at one time been able to establish themselves as aliens, would not the same factor which enabled them to establish themselves, prevent their being killed out by pasturing at a later date? Is it not more probable that they are indigenous species, which have suffered numerical diminution in the same way as have the wild clovers? Such are the questions asked in this connection. We are not at present prepared to answer them decisively, but to any one who has watched the spread of introduced weeds in California, especially those from the Mediterranean region, the exotic origin and rapid increase of wild oats and alfilerilla will not appear improbable, even in the face of general range deterioration. Usually European weeds find themselves quite at home on the soil of this State, new to them, and comparatively unimpoverished. Annual species, especially, spread with great rapidity. If the wild oats and alfilerilla were introduced at the time of the Spanish occupation, when cattle were comparatively few in the land, they would have abundant opportunity to "take" the country, in spite of being relished by stock. Later, however, as cattle multiplied, and sheep were introduced, forage became relatively less abaundant, and at the same time weedy species, such as small foxtail and squirreltail, less liked by cattle, came in, gradually monopolizing the ground left vacant by the destruction of the wild oats and alfilerilla.

Exactly the same process of introduction and eradication is taking place at the present time under our own eyes. Soft chess has, within recent years, taken possession of the hills in some parts of the State, much to the disrust of stockmen. Sooner or later the cattle have taken most of the new forage, either from choice, that is, in part, almost eaten out, enough to show that it was one of other species not yet but are taking its place.

So this process of elimination by natural selection, goes on. Species are liked by stock, but are not able to retain their hold when grazed or trampled or become scarce, and others come in and take their place, in turn, must pass away, unable to maintain the struggle. Only the fittest survive—from the standpoint of the plant, the fit (the weedy, useless one) from the standpoint of the rancher.—Pacific Rural Press.

A HOUSE PLAN TO COUNTERACT GROWING TENDENCY OF FACTORY WORK—STARTED A LABOR MUSEUM—WHERE SKILL AND INVENTIVENESS—WORKERS TAUGHT TO UNDERSTAND MACHINES.

BY JANE ADDAMS.
(Founder of Hull House, Chicago.)

[illegible] at once pathetic and serious to the dwellers in a settlement in a great industrial city like Chicago to see how much art has been separated from craft. In the mind of the child the art instinct still exists, but its development or even the use of [illegible] has been developed is forever irretrievably. Many modern workmen are confined to the mechanical [illegible] of a machine that turns out with mathematical regularity one part of the manufacture. Their native instinct has no means of expression [illegible] attempt to find an outlet is one of the most pitiful phases of a workman's life.

WHY THE KILL INVENTIONS.

For some reason or other the men in [illegible] have ceased as a class to [illegible] All sorts of prizes and inducements are offered for improvements [illegible] tions, but still inventions do not come from the factory workers. [illegible] the man who works in the factory who has to slow his speed to [illegible] believe to be that of the average man has a hard time of it; and [illegible] who works in a factory and [illegible] increase his speed beyond what [illegible] final rate has a hard time of it.

[illegible] I met some girls coming out [illegible] factory, one of them walking by [illegible] looking very sullen. I asked [illegible] girls why she was alone, and [illegible] that she was a "racer"—[illegible] more work than the rest.

JANE ADDAMS.

[illegible] could turn out, and they would [illegible] nothing to do with her in consequence. [illegible] a piece of work has passed [illegible] twenty or thirty different [illegible] each of which manufactured [illegible] of its component parts, the [illegible] workmen have lost all interest [illegible] tasks. They have no chance [illegible] the completed process, nor [illegible] they are by their one mechanical [illegible] manufacture of a shirt, for [illegible] it passes through twenty [illegible] hands, and yet perhaps not [illegible] individual workers would be able to make a whole shirt. Each does [illegible] he or she can do most quickly, [illegible] have such workers in the [illegible] their hands?

HULL HOUSE TAKES A HAND.

[illegible] with this knowledge Hull [illegible] saw its opportunity. The settlement [illegible] determined to experiment in different [illegible] ways to awaken into life an interest [illegible] the completed product and a [illegible] of the consecutive processes [illegible] manufacturing. It has succeeded in [illegible] cases. In its attempt to resurrect [illegible] the art idea in workers wearied [illegible] and with the mechanical [illegible] of their employment, Hull House [illegible] the outcome of this attempt, [illegible] and is doing something to [illegible] individuality in those brought [illegible] with its influence, and, [illegible] the result up to the present [illegible] somewhat difficult to determine [illegible] leavening principle is at work.

[illegible] MORE THAN LECTURES NEEDED.

[illegible] settlement, situated in an [illegible] neighborhood, where the people [illegible] their living by the work of [illegible] realised that something [illegible] be done to change these conditions, [illegible] came to the conclusion that [illegible] giving lectures and conducting [illegible] the evening as a frill at the [illegible] a hard day's labor was totally [illegible] to that end. A man who [illegible] for ten hours in a factory [illegible] go to sleep at a lecture, and he [illegible] has a right to sleep. A girl [illegible] been tending the same sort of [illegible] work all day comes to a [illegible] for instruction. She wants [illegible]—something that will lift her [illegible] hard task. Her tissues are [illegible] out and the mind too sodden [illegible] study.

The old-fashioned way out of this difficulty was to attempt to get everybody out of the factories into some sort of [illegible] work, making professional [illegible] men of them and getting [illegible] every where they would perhaps [illegible] that there were factories, [illegible] them away from manual labor. [illegible] that is begging the question. [illegible] settlement is quite willing to [illegible] the exceptional boy or girl, [illegible] with everyone would be to [illegible] the settlement could not cope [illegible] situation and that it has nothing [illegible] the man in the factory to [illegible] pleasure and uplift to his [illegible].

JOHN RUSKIN'S DICTUM.

[illegible] has said that labor without [illegible]. The man who labors [illegible] knowing why he does it, without [illegible] refreshment or solace from his [illegible] grows more or less dehumanized. [illegible] a very large statement, but any [illegible] as he go past a building in [illegible] of erection, will feel clearly [illegible] the man who do the least interesting [illegible] work, the men who carry the [illegible] hod, look the least intelligent. The [illegible] have a bit of skill in their [illegible] masons, look more intelligent, [illegible] the man who supervises all, [illegible] seems to be having the [illegible] fun of it out of it. [illegible] it is which that man who carries [illegible] lacks? He has a right to feel [illegible] in the building, for he is [illegible] something very important and [illegible] necessary to the completion of the task. [illegible] work is accomplished the [illegible] is dedicated and many fine [illegible] are said about it, although little [illegible] ought is given to the unskilled [illegible] embodied in it.

RUSKIN'S GUILDS OF LABOR.

[illegible] and Ruskin tried to get round [illegible] saying that there should be a [illegible] of men, each of whom should [illegible] all about the building, as did the [illegible] of the mediæval builders. Although [illegible] there were several [illegible] in a building, and each of the [illegible] thought it [illegible] a small part in the [illegible] work, each one knew what was coming out, each expressed the art motive, and some of the most beautiful things in the cathedrals have been made by men whose names are unknown, but who were simply members of the guild.

Morris, in his factory, tried to do this. He hoped not that every man might make his own design, but that later he might realize that design in the work. He seemed to think this only possible as hand labor, but it may be questioned whether the use of muscle instead of a machine on any particular piece of work will bring out any more clearly in the mind of the worker the idea of the beautiful.

FOREIGNERS' LOST ARTS.

In any neighborhood where many Italians, Russians and Bohemians live we come across people who can do very beautiful work, but who have lost the notion of doing it, unless they have got into some of the exceptional shops where that work is called for. I knew of a case of a Bohemian who was given to drinking and abusing his family. He finally committed suicide when in a fit of delirium tremens. His little girl afterward showed a ring she wore. Her father had made it for her mother—two hearts intertwined with a little sentimental verse. His wife said that whenever she had money enough to buy him a little metal he was all right, but he worked in a factory all day shoveling coal, which was distasteful to him. If in the midst of his monotony and disagreeable labor he might have had this solace of congenial work, what a difference it would have made to him.

PRACTICAL USE OF LABOR MUSEUM.

The labor museum at Hull House grew out of the conditions of the neighborhood in which live men and women who feel that in the old country they used to possess skill which is now slipping away and which it would be a pleasure to them to use. Women come in great numbers. A number of Russian women were sewing in a room not far from Hull House. One of them heard that there was a party at the house, and she volunteered to bring the other twenty-six. They came at a time there was no party, and were very much disappointed. The people in the house did everything they could to entertain them with music and pictures, but the women were evidently disappointed. Finally they were taken into the labor museum. They saw the spinning wheels and looms. All at once they began to tell of the different devices and methods used in various parts of their own country.

Their relations were now changed. They were entertaining us and telling us something which we did not know about.

LEARNING FROM THE WORKERS.

The same thing is true of an Italian woman who brought her daughter to the cooking class. She looked into the museum and saw the looms there and immediately rushed out and came back with a dozen other Italian women in a great state of excitement. The life of an Italian woman in a crowded tenement is monotonous and uninspiring. We live in a time when there is a demand for very little constructive work done by the hands. There is scrubbing and cleaning, but there is nothing very constructive about that. The children would prefer ready-made clothes to those she makes. She has very little of that solace which comes from making things for other people who are loved and who depend upon one, and yet that would seem to be the prerogative of the mother of a home.

METHODS OF SPINNING.

Every Saturday evening people, like this Italian woman, from the neighborhood, who had been expert spinners or weavers in their own country, come to demonstrate the different processes to visitors, who arrive in large numbers. Italians, Greeks, Russians and Syrians illustrate the methods of spinning.

The museum is now able to show four variations of the earliest method of spinning. In one case an Italian woman from the interior of Southern Italy uses a stick weighted by two disks to twirl the fibers together, while a Neapolitan from the coast uses a stick weighted by a ring of metal, which increases the momentum, producing a higher rate of speed. A third variation is used by a Syrian woman, and consists of a small wooden disk at the top of the stick, with which she is able to produce a thread so fine that it would have been broken by a heavier spindle. Two Italian women, a Russian and an Irish woman, who use the comparatively recent spinning wheel, not only do the work well, but very much enjoy the demonstration and explanation, in which they join.

OTHER MEANS OF TEACHING.

In connection with the spinning, demonstrations are held on the first crude processes of scouring, dyeing and carding. Wool, cotton, flax and silk are put through the various processes of preparation and spun into thread by skilled spinners almost every Saturday evening.

Little collections of flax and cotton, as well as of wool and silk, are exhibited in the various stages from the raw material to the factory product, and are supplemented by some really beautiful photographs, the latter showing the early Egyptian spinning of flax with the distaff, and the cultivation of flax along the Nile. Many of the Italian women who come to the museum have never seen spinning wheels, and look upon them as a new and wonderful invention.

PEOPLE WHO ARE EAGER TO WORK.

There is another class of people who have been cut off from working with their hands and are eager to get back to such work. At the meeting of the Federation of Women's Clubs at Los Angeles I happened to visit a woman in her room one morning, and found her making her bed. Another woman exclaimed, "Why do you do that? You know the maid will make it when she comes in." "I can't help it," she said; "I have been reading Tolstoi, and I have got to do something every day with my hands." She was a clubwoman of ability, one who could use her mind, I have had more faith in her ever since.

MAKING A MAN OF A PRIG.

We have shops in which metal work is going on. One young man about twenty was preparing himself for a profession. He used to hang around the shops, but never offered to do anything. One evening he seemed to take a sudden resolve. He took off his coat and sat down at one of the benches and began to work. He was a very clever coppersmith, but had concealed the fact lest it should hurt him in his contemplated profession.

The very clever things which he made were very much praised by the people who came to see the shop. His entire attitude seemed to change. He became very much more talkative, more interesting, and instead of priggishly trying to do the things he did not know very well how to do he became what he ought to be—a man on his own feet.

SAVING FROM IDLENESS.

One sees in society this chasm between the people who think and the people who do, and there is the same duality in every individual. It is certain that some sort of effort must be made, not only to save the people in the factories, but also from the monotony of toil, the people who are suffering from idleness. They need, as does the worker himself, a consciousness of belonging to the world of society, although they have reached their dearth of interest by an entirely different method.

FACTORY HAS PLACE IN SOCIETY.

As the labor museum grows it will show the development of machines until each man comes to have an intelligent understanding of the mechanism he constantly uses. The machine will be used as a servant, not as a master. A wider education will enable people in the factories to come to the realization of the place of the factory in society. To despise the man in the factory and say that to be a pettifogging lawyer is better than to be a straightforward foreman in a shop is to bring in social standards left over from an ideal we shall have to give up if we are to face conditions as they actually exist.

EVENTS IN SOCIETY.

An interesting wedding was solemnized at the Broadway Church of Christ Tuesday evening, the contracting parties being Miss Ida Mae Jones, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Jones of Glendale, and Clifford O. Mason of Monmouth, Ill. The ceremony was performed by Rev. F. A. Field, assisted by Rev. B. F. Coulter. The wedding train approached the altar to the strains of the "Bridal Chorus" from "Lohengrin," rendered by Mrs. Eugene Torrey at the organ and Clarence Peck with the violin. The bride and her suite entered from the left, and were met by the groom and his best man, Elden Patterson.

The bride, who is tall and a typical blonde, was gowned in white organdy, trimmed with blond lace and white satin ribbon, and carried a shower bouquet of white sweet peas and maidenhair ferns. She was accompanied by Mrs. Elden Patterson, dressed in white and carrying a bouquet of pink carnations and ferns, and Miss Jennie Yager and Miss Mae Williams as bridesmaids, also in white, and carrying bouquets of jasmine and ferns. The ushers with the bridal train were Arthur Brown and Guy Rice, other ushers being Charles Brown and Harry Dutton. Una Inman and little Marjorie Inman accompanied the bride as flower girl and ring bearer. After the ceremony the party left the altar to the strains of Mendelssohn's "Wedding March," the little flower girl scattering rose petals in the path of the newly-wedded pair. An informal reception followed in the church parlors, when about two hundred and fifty friends congratulated and extended best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Mason. The church was prettily decorated by Mrs. S. D. Wallace and Arthur Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. Mason will make their home in Santa Barbara.

To Live in Los Angeles.

The Robinson-Stevenson wedding, which was solemnized July 30 in Bloomington, Ill., is of local interest, as the young people are coming to Los Angeles to reside. Concerning the event the Bloomington Bulletin has the following:

"Bertram H. Robinson and Miss Bessie Bedelle Stevenson were united in marriage Wednesday at the family residence, No. 607 East Front street, in the presence of eighty guests, confined largely to the relatives and a few close friends. The ceremony was extremely pretty and simple, the Rev. Loran D. Osborn of the First Baptist Church officiating. The house was a bower of summer blossoms and roses. In the front parlor where the ceremony was performed, the mantel was banked with vines and delicate traillngs of flowers woven in a most charming fashion. The reception-room on the east side of the house was fragrant with its masses of yellow flowers. Nasturtiums of the general hue were banked across the top of the mantel, while its base was clustered about with ferns. Delicate long-stemmed vases carried more flowers, all in yellow. The dining-room where breakfast was served to the bridal party by Mrs. Kates was done in delicate pink roses. The bride's table was beautifully decorated with roses and rich pieces of heavy silver, with candelabra with pink shades illuminating and softening the whole scheme.

"At 10:30 o'clock, the hour set, Miss Irene Seibel struck the first chords of 'Lohengrin' wedding march. The bride and groom descended the stairway, and entered the parlor unattended, and were made one with the ring service by Rev. Mr. Osborn. The most cordial congratulations and the breakfast followed.

"Mr. and Mrs. Robinson started on their western trip this afternoon. They will stop for a time in Chicago, and in several places en route west. Quite a stay will be made in San Francisco, where Mr. Robinson resided the past year, and from there they will go to Los Angeles, where they will be at home after September 1.

"Bride and groom are well known in Bloomington, as both have spent most of their lives here. Mrs. Robinson is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Stevenson, and was born and reared here. She showed an aptitude for school work, and after completing the Bloomington city schools attended and finished the Normal University. For several years she has been a teacher in the city schools, and a clever instructor. She is a niece of former Vice-President Stevenson, and a sensible young woman, of well-rounded character.

"The groom is a son of James E. Robinson of North Main street, a wealthy land owner. He entered and graduated from both the literary and law departments of the Wesleyan University, and for a year has practiced law in San Francisco. He is one of those young men who have made for themselves and this quality gives promise of success in the future. He is especially capable in literary lines, and a young man of clean character.

Pleasant Affair.

A very enjoyable party was given Wednesday evening at the Garcia residence, No. 1115 South Olive street, in honor of the eighteenth birthday of Miss Margaret Warner. The entertainment consisted of instrumental music by Misses Lucy Dirksmeir and Margarite Talamantes, a vocal solo by Miss May Belle Warner, recitations by Misses Alice J. Stevens and Manuela C. Garcia and impersonations by Jack R. Kline. Dancing concluded the festivities. The following were present: Mmes. R. Pico, W. I. Vick, R. Burns; Misses Margaret and May Belle Warner, Alice J. Stevens, Lucy Dirksmeir, Margarite Talamantes, Marie and Nellie Stanard, Victoria and Manuela C. Garcia; Messrs. W. R. Fales, J. R. Kline, H. Stevens, Bennie Stanard, A. C. Tolles, Frank M. Larralde, Charles Mathews, Y. A. Garcia, Fred Dirksmeir, M. McRae and John A. Morton.

Notes and Personals.

The regular meeting of the Philolethia Club was held at Koster's Monday evening. Harry Baxter, who is going to Europe for a two years' course in music, presented his resignation, which was accepted. After the adjournment of the business meeting cards and light refreshments were enjoyed. The next meeting will be at the home of Cecil Frankle.

J. D. Blicknell has gone to Avalon for a few days.

The Lady Maccabees of Banner Tent, No. 3, are making a special feature of their social day, and lately have added to their other diversions a ping-pong table, and a game of tenpins. Mrs. J. A. Stromnger, their Lady Commander, left Wednesday for a two months' visit to friends and relatives in the East.

Mrs. R. W. Dromgold and little son are spending the summer at Hermosa Beach with Mrs. Dromgold's father, Mr. Squire.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brininstool spent the week at Manhattan Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Shettler left last night for a six weeks' trip in the East. Upon their return they will occupy their home at No. 1235 Ingraham street.

17 Years a Specialist
9 Years in Los Angeles

I HAVE A SET PRICE FOR CURING DISEASES.

I state this fact to enlighten a legion of men who have fallen into the hands of unscrupulous doctors. These legion of men have been paying, are paying, and will be paying for a long time to come, from $1.00 to $2.00 for each call they make on these doctors, who find it to their financial advantage to keep their patients in such a miserable condition, that they, the patients, find it necessary to keep on running to these doctors—of course at so much per call.

When a man comes to me to be cured, he knows exactly how much money it will take for my services and medicines; and another leading feature is: A patient does not have to make a payment until he is absolutely cured.

My high professional standing as THE REPRESENTATIVE WESTERN SPECIALIST IN MEN'S DISEASES, precludes any possibility of trickery. I say exactly what I mean and mean exactly what I say, in reference to a SET PRICE and NO MONEY BRING REQUIRED UNTIL A CURE IS EFFECTED.

WEAKNESS—Causes many men to think that life is not worth living. If you feel that you are gradually growing weaker day by day, you owe it to yourself to consult me. My pleasant method of treatment renews strength and creates a desire for longevity. Weakness is caused usually by overwork, varicocele, enlarged, inflamed prostate; results of abuses and excesses, and often from badly treated disorders. When I restore a patient to his full manly vigor the restoration is permanent.

VARICOCELE.—Medical statistics show that four out of every ten men have varicocele. This vitality sapping derangement produces a bunch of large knotted and twisted veins on the left side and causes a constant weariness and a painful dragging down feeling. The unaffected side will gradually show more and more sympathy, until at last, virility becomes completely lost. I have indisputable proof of hundreds of successful operations that I have performed right here in Los Angeles. I guarantee a perfect cure in 5 to 7 days. My treatment for varicocele is original and scientific. I use no knife, ligature, caustic or electricity.

STRICTURE.—I cure stricture without dilating or using a knife. My treatment dissolves the stricture and completely cleanses the urinary passage, leaving the bladder and kidneys free from irritation or congestion.

CONTAGIOUS BLOOD DISEASES—whether hereditary or contracted, absolutely cured in a very short time without the use of poisonous mineral drugs.

CONTRACTED DISORDERS—respond immediately to my never-failing curative methods. KIDNEY and BLADDER troubles scientifically treated and cured. PILES and FISTULA cured without detention from business.

I CURE RUPTURE.

THE CITY IN BRIEF.

NEWS AND BUSINESS.

Camera Club Fete.

The Camera Club has completed all arrangements for the entertainment of its members and their friends, at the moonlight fete, to be given at Westlake Park tonight. Indications are that all available boats will be filled, and a delightful time is anticipated.

Damage from Bonfire.

The house of E. W. Alexander, No. 2119 Estrella avenue, caught fire yesterday evening from a pile of brush burning in the adjoining lot. Sparks ignited a window awning, and the side of the house was soon in flames. An engine company extinguished the blaze, with $40 loss.

Angeleno Heights Deal.

Negotiations for the purchase of the entire interest of Col. A. S. Kimball in the Angeleño Heights tract, by local investors, are progressing favorably but the deal is not closed. The present holdings of Col. Kimball in the property consist of about 250 lots, and the consideration named is about $50,000.

Caught by Car Fender.

Mrs. Emma A. Pingree, a middle-aged woman, living at No. 546 West Thirty-eighth street, fell in front of a Main-street car yesterday morning and narrowly escaped being run over. Fortunately the fender caught her and threw her from the track. As the car approached, she was crossing the street, and, becoming dizzy, she put her hands to her head, and fell forward. The car was then but a few yards away, and the motorman was unable to stop in time. Her injuries are not considered serious.

Director of Morgan Combination.

E. M. Fowler, for the last year and a half a resident of Pasadena, and formerly of Detroit, Mich., and one of the rich men of the United States, was, according to yesterday's dispatches, elected a director of the International Harvester Company, which is the latest Morgan combination—taking in all the principal manufacturers of harvesting machinery in the United States. Mr. Fowler has large investments in Southern California, and he is one of the stockholders of the Beach Land Company of Los Angeles.

Woman Killed by Whisky.

A woman, about 55 years of age, who gave the name of Mrs. Andrews, fell in convulsions yesterday afternoon on East Fifth street, and was taken to the Receiving Hospital. She was found by the examining physician to be suffering from acute alcoholism. As evidence of her besetting habit, a bottle of whisky was taken from one of her stockings. After several hours of suffering, in which she screamed and fought the attendants, the woman died. The body was removed to the undertaking rooms of Booth & Boylson, where an inquest will be held today. Nothing could be learned of the woman. She said that she had been here only a short time, and was looking for work.

PERSONAL.

Dr. W. B. Rosecrans of Brooklyn, N. Y., is in the city visiting W. H. Clarke.

F. Hartmann, the pioneer brewer of Ventura, is registered at the Hollenbeck.

M. J. Fontana of the Fontana Warehouse Company, San Francisco, is at the Van Nuys.

E. A. Lee, an insurance man of St. Louis, was among yesterday's arrivals at the Angelus.

William Browne, Jr., of Omaha, connected with the Union Pacific Railroad, is at the Van Nuys.

Walter Tipps, a hardware importer of Austin, Tex., is at the Van Nuys with his wife and daughter.

Joseph Borchert of La Crosse, Wis., connected with a large beer syndicate, is registered at the Hollenbeck.

Maj. W. H. Bonsall returned yesterday from a twelve days' absence in the northern part of the State.

John K. Bulger of San Francisco, United States Inspector of Hulls and Boilers, is a guest at the Van Nuys.

Dr. H. G. Bayless returned Tuesday from a months' vacation spent in Northern California and at Catalina.

Chaplain D. W. Parsons of the Michigan Soldiers' Home, Grand Rapids, is visiting friends at No. 5518 Pasadena avenue.

Horace W. Ball of San Francisco, new superintendent of motive power of the Southern Pacific, is staying at the Van Nuys.

W. S. Iliff, a capitalist of Denver and owner of extensive mining and cattle interests, registered at the Angelus yesterday.

Rev. W. F. Rice and wife, recently returned from Buenos Ayres, Argentina, are with Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Rice of Highland Park.

Maj. Frank H. Hardie, U.S.A., son of Gen. Hardie, author of "Hardie's Military Tactics," is in the city, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Norton. Maj. Hardie was born at Benicia Barracks, in this State, when his father was in command there. During the early days and the Indian troubles in Arizona, Maj. Hardie was in command of a company of Apache scouts, and this familiarized him with the Indians and their traits, and with that entire country. He has been stationed at the different military posts of the Territory, and has seen much hard service. When the Spanish-American War broke out Maj. Hardie went to Santiago de Cuba with his regiment. He is now commanding officer at Fort Wingate, N. M., and will return to his post in a few days.

GATES AND STOCK BOOK.

Magnate Wants the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company's Books Kept in Denver. Hearing of Testimony.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

DENVER (Colo.) Aug. 14.—A telegram was received today at the office of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company in this city from John W. Gates, asking that a meeting of the board of directors be held for the purpose of passing a resolution requiring the stock book to be kept in Denver. The matter was thoroughly discussed by the directors who are in the city, but no formal action was taken.

The hearing of testimony on the application of William N. Valle for an alternative writ of mandamus requiring D. C. Beaman, secretary of the company, to permit the plaintiff to inspect the company's stock book was concluded before Judge Johnson in the District Court today, and arguments will be heard tomorrow.

About $5000 Worth of Summer Men's Furnishings at Half Price.

We have simply set aside all summer furnishing goods for an immediate clean up. Goods that are throughout the year are marked at our regular low prices. However, much of the goods to be sold are what many men wear winter and summer, such as hosiery, shirts, neckwear, etc. The reductions are the greatest in our history, and every wife and mother will be equally interested in the big sale.

Men's 15c Collars.
In order to keep our enormous stock of collars in sound condition it is necessary certain seasons to close out all the broken lines and odd sizes. There are 350 dozen in the lot, they consist of the best four-ply linen collars, all styles are among them. The first comers will of course have the best chance. While they last, 4c.

50c Foulard Neckwear.
We have arranged a big lot of broken lines in foulard silk neckwear for men. They have been selling regularly up to 50c each. Among them are shield bows, four-in-hands, bat wings, club ties, etc. The entire lot placed on sale this morning and marked, while it lasts, at 4c for your pick.

Entire Stock Boys' Wearables, 50c on the Dollar and Less.
We never made any sale that created such enthusiasm as this deliberate sacrifice of boys' wearables at 50c on the dollar. There isn't a mother in Los Angeles who doesn't intend to take advantage of this. The very things the boys must be provided with at the opening of school, ones we have reduced. The little fellows can have a full new outfit for the price you pay for a single ordinary suit. Remember free bank accounts for the boys.

GOVERNOR TURNED DOWN YESTERDAY.

Failed to Capture Even His Own Assembly District—Flint Forces Got Twenty-three Delegates.

GOV. GAGE and his "push" will go to the State convention with but little more than half of the delegates from the claimant's home county.

The last screw was put in the Governor's political coffin lid yesterday at the conventions which were held in the Assembly districts lying wholly or partly outside the cities of Los Angeles and Pasadena.

It was a great Flint showing.

The outlying districts will send twenty-three delegates to the State convention opposed to the renomination of Gage, and eleven who are expected to support him.

Returns from the entire county being complete on the election of State delegates, the result now stands: Anti-Gage, 43; Gage, 53.

Of the State delegates who are counted on to wear the machine collar in the convention, forty-two were elected from the city of Los Angeles, and eleven from the country districts.

Thirteen anti-Gage delegates were elected from the city of Los Angeles, seven from Pasadena, and twenty-three from the country districts.

VOTE BY DISTRICTS.

The vote by Assembly districts in Los Angeles county now stands as follows:

Sixty-seventh—Anti-Gage, 11.
Sixty-eighth—Anti-Gage, 11.
Sixty-ninth—Anti-Gage, 3; Gage, 8.
Seventieth—Anti-Gage, 5; Gage, 6.
Seventy-first—Gage, 9.
Seventy-second—Anti-Gage, 8.
Seventy-third—Gage, 10.
Seventy-fourth—Anti-Gage, 5; Gage, 7.
Seventy-fifth—Gage, 15.
Total—Anti-Gage, 43; Gage, 53.

In the face of this strong opposition in his home county, where it is well known that he gained the majority vote only through the aid of hordes of unscrupulous Democrats, it is not thought that Gage will have the exquisite nerve necessary to "demand" the support of the Republican party in convention assembled. It is pointed out further by his opponents that his "expectation" of renomination has no foundation, for the reason that he will not be able to muster the necessary 415 votes necessary to a choice by the convention, the most extravagant claims of the "push" leaders placing his strength far below this number.

WARM FIGHTS.

The gang fought to the last ditch in the Assembly district conventions yesterday, and by clever maneuvering "gag" rule and political jugglery and log-rolling succeeded in securing but eleven of the thirty-four delegates from the country districts.

The "push" was unable even to control the Governor's own district, the Sixty-ninth, and would have lost the entire eight delegates from the country had it not been for a brisk trade that was carried on among the county-convention delegates in favor of candidates for county offices.

As it was, Gage and the gang lost three of the eight delegates, a most humiliating "indorsement" of the Governor by his neighbors.

The loss of these three delegates was a crushing blow to the "push," and the news, carried throughout the State, will be accepted by voters everywhere as a repudiation of the Governor's boasted "strength" in his home district and county.

The machine had no opposition in the Los Angeles city precincts of the Sixty-ninth District, electing the three State delegates apportioned to those precincts. In the country precincts, however, the opposition put up a hard fight and would have swept the entire field had not the county-convention candidates been engaged in a series of trades for county officers.

In the Seventieth District, the votes of Democrats in Santa Monica, San Pedro, Wilmington and other seaport towns turned the tables on the opponents of the Governor, even as they had been turned in the city of Los Angeles. Democratic votes only saved the "push" from overwhelming defeat in the Seventieth district.

Even with the aid of the Democrats in electing delegates to the county and district conventions, the machine won only after a hard fight, in which it shut out the votes of two anti-Gage delegates and swung other delegates into line through the use of the black art, on which the gang leaders depend in emergencies of the kind that confronted them yesterday.

The gang was whipped unmercifully in the Sixty-eighth District, where every trick was employed by its leaders to thwart the will of the people, and it failed to land a delegate to the State convention, the anti-Gage forces electing a solid delegation of eleven.

The same was true of the Sixty-seventh District, the Pasadena portion of which already had repudiated the "push" by electing seven anti-Gage men to the State convention. The four additional delegates from this district were elected by the opponents of the "push" after a fight which was over almost as soon as it began.

Falling right into line with the Sixty-eighth and Sixty-seventh, the Seventy-fourth District (country portion) elected five anti-Gage delegates as partial retribution for the action of the city portion of the same district in electing seven Gage delegates.

SIXTY-SEVENTH.

PLEDGED FOR FLINT.

In the convention held at San Fernando yesterday the Sixty-seventh Assembly District named as its quota to the State convention a solid delegation of four Flint men: J. P. Vawter, Glendale; George C. Melrose, Burbank; George Hasson, Fernando and M. G. Weddington, Lankershim. This ticket carried by a vote of 17 to 12.

The officers of the convention were J. C. Sherer of Glendale, chairman, and E. A. Fisher of Burbank, secretary.

The Gageites were not in it for a moment, and popular sentiment all through that part of the country seems everywhere against the renomination of the incumbent of the gubernatorial chair. Said a resident of Fernando: "If you expect to do any business around these parts you can't talk Gage; the people won't stand for it."

The Gage ticket put up by the minority was G. F. Lynch, George K. Porter, Bradford Wheeler and George C. Melrose.

The men elected yesterday form a very strong representation for the people of this district, as all have been prominent in the anti-Gage campaign. They are pledged by the convention for the support of Thomas Flint on the first ballot, and after that for Flint or any other man who seems able to beat the machinations of the "gang." They are also instructed to work for the renomination of Congressman McLachlan.

MACHINE "BUSTED."

SIXTY-EIGHTH SOLID FLINT.

After a fierce contest, during which the machine left no wire unpulled, the Sixty-eighth Assembly District, in convention at Covina yesterday, sent a solid delegation of eleven for Thomas Flint, Jr.

The situation was complicated in the Sixty-eighth.

Pomona had there a delegation of twenty-nine of the eighty-eight delegates in convention, and of these, twenty-five were "solid for Gage." Under the leadership of J. T. Brady, president of the National Bank of Pomona, the twenty-five put up a fight worthy of a better cause, and were twice within a narrow margin of dividing the convention.

Nearly all of the delegates arrived in Covina by 9 o'clock, and there were few proxies. At once both factions went into caucus. The Flint managers finished their conference in a few minutes, deciding unanimously upon John E. Daley of Glendora for chairman.

The Gage adherents took longer time and did not appear at Coolman Hall until the stroke of 11.

The convention was called to order by Central Committeeman C. F. Parker, and the real contest for chairman was on. For the Pomona Gageites, Col. Knulle exerted every effort to put in J. T. Brady, and there was much wrangling as to the vote before the Flint men got a chance to place their nominee before the body. This was done by Gen. S. P. Jennison, who placed in nomination "The Man from the Country," John E. Daley of Glendora. This nomination received much applause, but the vote made the Flint men shiver, for Daley was made presiding officer by the narrow margin of three and one-half votes, the Whittier delegation of eight being allowed seven-eighths of a vote for each man.

SPARRED FOR WIND.

Daley was much surprised at the showing of strength on the part of the Gage faction, and, after appointing committees, adjourned the convention until 1:30 o'clock. During this recess politics of the warmest fairly smoked. The Pomona twenty-five made a concerted attack upon the four members of their delegation who refused to stand in. These are Ira A. Lee, Lon Fleming, Floyd Day and R. A. Pollock. It was known that Los Nietos, half of Whittier and three of the Covina delegation would stand with Pomona, and the sturdy four would mean victory could they only get them, but the four held out. Then an attack was made upon Whittier. Whittier had three votes and a half—enough to turn the tide for Gage—but when the convention reassembled no one knew just what had been done.

"PUSH" LOSES.

The Flint men were nervous, and a little preliminary caucus almost decided to concede Pomona a vote or two in order to get a majority, and it was right here that the Pomona Gageites—ostensibly Pardee men—gave themselves away. While a motion was before the convention, J. T. Brady stepped to the fore and claimed recognition. Mr. Brady is an old man, and courtesy was extended him. He made a speech of five minutes' duration, in which he complained of the fact that Pomona had been denied a third delegate to the State convention, and asked "in the interest of harmony" that Spadra be deprived of its delegate and Pomona be given a third representative. A third representative meant a Gage delegate, and the Flint men knew it.

Col. Knulle followed Mr. Brady, basing his address on what he called "Pomona's rights." Mr. Knulle made an impression. He threatened retaliation in future should "the leader of the opposition" insist on depriving Pomona of its quota. Col. Knulle advocated the election of Mr. Bennett of Pomona.

JEFFREY TAKES A HAND.

At this juncture E. R. Jeffrey of Azusa took a hand. Mr. Jeffrey was known to have a cinch on election as one delegate, and he cruelly "passed it up" to the Pomona delegation by offering to withdraw and allow a Pomona delegate to take his place and give Pomona all the representation it wanted, provided he was allowed to name the Pomona man. This, however, was not what Pomona wanted, and at the request of P. F. Cogswell five minutes was allowed the convention "to get together in the interest of harmony," but by this time Mr. Jeffrey and A. T. Currier of Spadra were losing their tempers. They conferred with Gen. Jennison, four times assistant to Minnesota Governors, and when the convention was again called to order, Gen. Jennison, the one pledged member, addressed the Pomona Gageites thus:

JENNISON ON POKER.

"Gentlemen, a proposition to divide the pot should be made before the show-down.

"You are in the minority, and you ask us to give you a delegate in the interest of 'harmony.'

"We know well why you want a delegate, and it is not necessary for me to say it. But, gentlemen, if we should give you one you would be the first to laugh at us for our magnanimity.

"You know as well as I that we have the upper hand in this now, and we are the majority. We are going to elect the delegates we want for the State convention if we can," and Gen. Jennison sat down amid applause.

BRADY'S BREAK.

Mr. Brady then attempted to stem the tide by one last appeal. He offered another Pomona man, and Mr. Jeffrey again offered to withdraw, this time in favor of Pollock of Pomona. The offer was received with cheers, but Brady made another trial, saying: "Mr. Pollock's neighbor suicided yesterday, and Mr. Pollock is a very sick man. He would not be able to go to the convention if elected. You take advantage of us in trying to get a sick man who connot represent——" but here Ira Lee of Pomona, one of the sturdy four, arose and said, "Mr. Pollock is not here because he is attending a friend's funeral. He is perfectly well, and I hold his proxy for the reason given, and no other."

There was a silence.

People looked at Mr. Brady.

Even Whittier couldn't stand by him after that, and the Gage cause again went to pieces. A concession of one man by the Flint party would have been a gift that would have been instantly followed by several others. Mr. Brady knew this, and went at his work adroitly. He might have succeeded but for his falsehood.

Young Mr. Bennett of Pomona then made a bid for the place in a fiery oration, full of sparks, the starry flag, the eagle bird and grammatical breaks, but the convention would have none of him. The Pomona crowd was a discredited commodity.

VOTE IS TAKEN.

After much wrangling a vote was finally demandesd at 3 o'clock.

Pomona made its fight on Bennett, scratching C. C. Johnson, but Johnson was elected by a vote of 32 to 48½. Los Nietos and half of Whittier not voting. One of Rivera's voters sulked also, and one voted for J. Rowland.

The delegates elected are S. P. Jennison, Covina; B. B. Brown, Lordsburg; John E. Daley, Glendora; C. C. Johnson, Claremont; Ira A. Lee, Pomona; A. S. Avery, Pomona; A. T. Currier, Spadra; S. P. Cogswell, El Monte; E. R. Jeffrey, Azusa; J. P. Armstrong, Whittier; W. A. Walker, Monrovia.

WILLING TO DELIVER.

J. T. Brady was seen after the convention adjourned, and said: "Well, we are a little sore, of course, but we did all we could. We were beaten by our own candidates. We didn't look after the Fourth Ward the way we should have done.

"You see there are twenty-five of us we can deliver to anybody on anything, but we can't do anything with damn fools, and those other four are damn fools."

NO WORD OF PARDEE.

The Pomona delegation was supposed to be for Pardee, but if it is, the fact is carefully concealed. At no time yesterday was Dr. Pardee mentioned in the convention or out of it, and the four delegates who refused to vote with Pomona for the machine and thereby defeated it for the State convention, say as one man that the others are Gage men, and Pomona has been buncoed.

Plenty of Gage men were on hand "log rolling" for the machine, and were considerably disgusted with the result of their operations. Chief among "the push" coteries was Superintendent Sherman Smith of the Whittier State School, and with F. M. Chapman, candidate for County Assessor, he took command of the Gage forces and assisted in steering them gracefully down the toboggan to defeat.

SIXTY-NINTH.

GOVERNOR'S OWN BROKEN.

Gov. Gage captured only five out of eight of the delegates in his own Assembly District, the Sixty-ninth. The convention was held yesterday at South Pasadena and was one of the hottest fights of the kind that has been seen in a long time. The machine was in fine running order, and several of the Governor's most-trusted mechanics were there to oil it when it got squeaky, including ex-Judge McKinley, J. W. Wood, H. W. Magee, "Jack" Vaughan and Dr. Q. J. Rowley. The anti-Gage faction was represented by Dr. Ward B. Rowland, Dr. Ralph Skillen, Elmer I. Moody, W. S. Melick and others. Other prominent political workers noticed in the grand stand and bleachers were John O. Lowe, J. A. Goodrich, Byron L. Oliver, J. D. Fredericks, E. W. Camp, C. C. Brown, Robert Hirsching, B. W. Hahn and Gen. Johnstone Jones.

The delegates chosen are: Russell Kincaid of Cerritos, J. O. Vosburg of Lamanda Park, Dr. Henry Sherry of South Pasadena, George C. Flint of Long Beach, Leo Longley of South Pasadena, J. P. Nelson of North Pasadena, Thomas Stovell of Long Beach and W. S. Melick of North Pasadena.

It was like a football game, with former Judge McKinley on the side lines, coaching the Gage team. But in a real football game if the rules had been enforced the Governor's man Friday would have been declared off side. He would also have been caught in a few of the scrimmages. His Panama hat would have looked like old clothes.

Before the game, McKinley got his helpers together for a little secret practice in the upper story of the Magonagie Block, where the game was played. Signals were gone over, and clever trick plays were rehearsed for the last time. They won part of the game. The convention was called to order by Leo Longley. Then, in a jiffy, H. D. McDonald of San Gabriel placed in nomination for chairman, N. M. Northrup of San Gabriel. This was the anti-Gage kick-off. Dr. Q. J. Rowley of Downey was named by W. P. L. Stafford of Long Beach. The sixty-six delegates present cast thirty-six votes for Rowley, and thirty for Northrup. George C. Flint of Long Beach was chosen secretary, other nominees retiring.

It was soon after the chairman had taken his seat that McKinley's side-line coaching began. There was a scrap over a proxy, which W. S. Melick claimed on verbal permission. A Gage man was about to take a hand in the scrap and the Governor's leading man stepped into the fray and gave him a tap on the shoulder, that put him to sleep. But Melick was allowed, by vote of the convention, to play the proxy.

During a recess of fifteen minutes, the chair appointed the following committees:

On Credentials, J. O. Vosburg, chairman; D. O. R. Dewitt, Thomas Stovell, E. G. Gillespie, George Barnes; on Order of Business, S. T. Davvison, chairman; W. S. Melick, N. H. Hosmer, L. R. Paxton, J. J. Moore; Resolutions, W. P. L. Stafford, chairman; E. L. Cook, George Hirsch, J. P. Nelson, Walker Jones.

This brought the game down to the second half, and an intermission was taken for lunch, which was served in a downstairs room by the women of the South Pasadena Improvement Association, at 25 cents a head.

After lunch the Committee on Credentials reported that everybody was all right, except that the delegation from Clearwater was not quite clear. They had forgotten their papers. They were allowed to vote. There was another little scrimmage about proxies, which was settled finally. The Committee on Order of Business recommended that an assessment of 25 cents a delegate be made to defray expenses, the residue to go to the women of the improvement association. As the dinner which they had served was resting pleasantly on the stomachs of the delegates, this proposition sailed through with flying colors. The Committee on Resolutions recommended that resolutions be left to the future conventions, but this was voted down.

W. S. Melick introduced the following, which was adopted:

"Whereas, citrus fruit, and especially lemons, imported to this country have in large quantities been sold for non-payment of duty, thus injuring our industry,

"Resolved, that this practice ought to be discontinued, and no fruit be allowed to land till this duty has been paid, or bond given for its payment. Be it

"Resolved, further, that this resolution be presented also for acoption by the county and State convention, and at the Congressional convention, to be held in Pasadena."

Another resolution adopted, supported the renomination of James McLachlan.

Then the signal for a grand buck down the center was given, when the chair announced that nominations of delegates for the State convention were in order. Like a jack-in-the-box, up jumped L. L. Cohn of Downey, flourishing the slate of the Governor: J. P. Nelson, J. O. Vosburg, Leo Longley, W. P. L. Stafford, "Jack" Vaughan, Russell Kincaid, Q. J. Rowley and Thomas Stovell.

Kincaid of Cerritos and Vaughan were objected to by the other side, and the play was opposed by Northrup, with a motion that only members of the delegation be chosen for State delegates. This caused a lot of discussion. It kept Coach McKinley hustling along the side lines. Finally the matter was put to vote, and the Gage "push" won by one vote, 34 to 33. Outsiders were admitted.

This meant that Vaughan and Kincaid might have a chance to go to the State convention.

The anti-Gage people put up a straight delegation ticket: W. S. Melick, W. H. Wright, N. W. Thompson, Guy C. Gamble, C. T. Thornburg, G. C. Flint, Dr. Henry Sherry and B. D. McDonald, nominated by N. G. Felker of Alhambra. On the first ballot, Kincaid received 37 votes, Vosburg 37, Sherry 36, Flint 35, Longley 35, Nelson 34, Melick, Wright, Rowley and Thomas Stovell, a dark horse, each received 33 votes. So the first six were declared elected.

And here another scrimmage. It was proposed to send the four to the men to the convention, giving each a half vote. But the tie was voted off, Stovell receiving 34 votes, Melick 32, Wright 29 and Rowley 27.

Cohn of Downey declared that Melick could not be elected, because he had received only 32 votes, not a majority, since there had been 66 votes cast.

This resulted in tongue-lashings, and finally L. Wrisley arose, and as much as told the Governor's henchman, Cohn, to go back and sit down. "I am a Gage man," he said, "but let us have clean politics, boys. The two high men are elected."

Applause greeted this remark, and Stovell and Melick were declared chosen.

Kincaid, Vosburg, Longley, Nelson and Stovell are for Gage; Sherry, Flint and Melick against.

SEVENTIETH.

"PUSH" RAN THE WORKS.

Six Gage delegates to the State convention were elected from the Seventieth Assembly District (country portion) at the Assembly district convention, which was held yesterday at Santa Monica. The district now stands five anti-Gage from the city portion and six Gage from the country.

The battle was hot from the start, but the "push" forces outgeneraled and outvoted their opponents on every point and eventually carried off the victory.

That the "push" expected a hard fight was indicated by the fact that Gage's principal lieutenant, Walter Parker, personally took charge of the convention, and, with the aid of R. R. Tanner and W. S. Vawter of Santa Monica and J. A. Logan, Southern Pacific yardmaster at San Pedro, swept everything before him.

The gang had the advantage before the convention opened, although the anti-Gage forces thought they saw a fighting chance and stayed in until the end, when the following supporters of Gage were elected to the State convention: H. C. Downing, San Pedro; W. S. Vawter, Santa Monica; A. M. Jamieson, Santa Monica; J. A. Logan, San Pedro, M. V. Fisher, Redondo; J. N. Jordan, Wilmington.

JUSTICE DOWNING, CHAIRMAN.

The convention was called to order at 11:15 o'clock a.m. by W. H. Chambers, Republican County Central Committeeman of Santa Monica precinct No. 2, in which is located the Town Hall, where the convention was held.

As soon as the convention call had been read by Mr. Chambers, R. R. Tanner of Santa Monica placed Justice H. C. Downing in nomination for chairman. He was seated by a majority vote, and the nomination of a secretary was called for. This position had not been programmed by either side, and after some discussion, J. C. Hollingsway, City Clerk of Santa Monica, and a non-member of the convention, was seated.

On motions of W. S. Vawter and R. R. Tanner the following committees were appointed by the chair: Credentials, W. S. Vawter, Santa Monica; D. C. Crum, Compton; John S. Thomas, San Pedro; Resolutions, R. R. Tanner, Santa Monica; John N. Jordan, Wilmington; M. V. Fisher, Redondo; John Gries, Compton.

After a brief recess, the Committee on Credentials presented its report, which showed that of the forty-nine delegates to the convention, forty-seven were represented either in person or by proxy. Two anti-Gage delegates from Florence, O. A. Nelson and J. H. Sherer, were absent and had failed to provide for proxies.

GANG BARS OPPONENTS.

Crum recommended that J. Conrad, the only delegate present from Florence, be permitted to represent the absent delegates, but this was opposed strenuously by Vawter, who declared that the majority of the convention should cast these ballots through the secretary. This proposition met with strong opposition from the anti-Gage forces, who claimed Florence should be given full voice through its one representative, and a motion was made that Conrad be permitted to vote the proxies of the absentees. Vawter then moved to amend by instructing the convention to cast the ballot. The amendment was defeated by a viva voce vote of 19 to 17.

Here the "push" found itself in a hole, and in danger from two additional anti-Gage votes, and the leaders hurriedly consulted and insisted on a roll call. Chairman Downing thereupon instructed that the secretary call the roll, the result being 26 to 21 against the admission of the two Florence proxies. This gave the machine a comfortable majority, and from that time forward it had its own way.

The anti-Gage forces had counted on three delegates from Catalina against Gage, which, with the three from Florence, would have given them a majority of the convention.

George P. Adams, J. W. Kemp and other anti-Gage leaders waited impatiently for the island delegates to put in an appearance, and then learned to their chagrin that these men had sent their proxies to J. N. Jordan of Wilmington, a pronounced Gage man.

With the loss of these five delegates, the jig was up for the anti-Gageites, and they lay back on their oars.

At 12:30 o'clock, with everything going for Gage, the convention adjourned for dinner, which was furnished to delegates at the Pacific Restaurant, through the courtesy of the people of Santa Monica.

PROGRAMME GOES THROUGH.

At 2:15 o'clock the convention reassembled and Tanner presented the report of the Resolutions Committee, pledging State delegates to the support of Congressman McLachlan; indorsing the administration of Gage, and instructing the delegation to vote for his renomination.

C. F. Bayha of Moneta opposed the adoption of the resolutions favorable to Gage, and moved as an amendment that the delegates to the State convention go uninstructed.

Tanner made an impassioned address, shouting lustily for Gage, and on roll call, the resolutions were adopted as recommended by the committee.

Bayha would not be silenced, however, and declared that this action of the convention would drive a major portion of the Republicans of the district into the Democratic camp on the State fight.

A motion then was made for the appointment of a committee on apportionment, the chair naming Charles A. Stilson, Santa Monica; H. R. Gage, Ocean Park; John A. Logan, San Pedro; J. T. Jonghin, Hyde Park; A. W. McPherson, Santa Monica. They recommended the election of six delegates to the State convention, who were elected by a vote of 28 to 19.

"SANTA MONICA DID IT."

Leaders of the anti-Gage forces say that Santa Monica is responsible for the election of the Gage delegates, and to H. W. Keller, State Fish and Game Commissioner, a former Democrat appointed to office by Gage, is charged the swinging of the city into line for the "push."

In support of their contention, the anti-Gageites say that Keller ran the primaries, especially in his precinct, the third, and that he voted many Democrats. To him, it is said, was delegated the task of delivering Santa Monica to the machine. Tab was kept on every voter through the use of brown pasters for Gage delegates, and when the votes were counted in the third precinct, seventy were for Gage and sixty against him. As this precinct cast but 106 votes at the last Presidential election, and has not gained in population to any considerable extent since that time, it is asserted that the remainder of the votes must have come from Democrats, and that the election by no means was a correct reflection of the sentiments of the Republicans of the precinct. The same conditions prevailed in other precincts.

SEVENTY-FOURTH.

SOLID FLINT DELEGATION.

The county delegates from the Soldiers' Home, from the foothill country about Hollywood and those from Sherman met at the Soldiers' Home yesterday as representatives of the country precincts of the Seventy-fourth Assembly District and elected a solid Flint delegation to the State convention. Those precincts send five State delegates.

The meeting place was within the patriotic environs of Ward Memorial Hall. Gage workers had claimed one or two of the five State delegates, but a show of hands demonstrated that the Home veterans are practically solid against the Governor of the State. His failure to take heroic measures when lawlessness ran rampant in San Francisco last year is a thing unforgotten and unforgiven in the heart of many an erstwhile warrior, and there are many other counts on which the veterans pronounce him an unfit man for continuance in the high office.

There were a very few of the county delegates from the Home who were understood to be Gage men, but they found themselves such a small minority that they gave up the idea of getting a Gage man on the State delegation. The two delegates from Sherman (Monte Vista precinct) and the five delegates from Cahuenga precinct were solid for Flint.

Harrison Trego, committeeman for the First precinct of the Home, called the convention to order. Andrew Earle was chosen for chairman. Capt. E. B. Bailey was nominated for that position, but he withdrew. J. T. Durfee was chosen for secretary. Mr. Durfee was one of the Cahuenga delegates.

Eight names were proposed for State delegates. One of them was that of Lewis LaGrange, a brother of Gen. LaGrange, Governor of the Home. He made a speech in which he withdrew, expressing deference for the sentiment that civilian employés of the Home should not be chosen to represent the Home at political conventions.

On motion of J. Howard Young, the remaining seven nominees were each requested to signify their intention of actually going to the State convention if elected, and each did so. P. S. Rishel and S. A. Foster acted as tellers.

The five State delegates chosen by the convention are Harrison Trego, J. B. Smith, E. O. Kincaid, Dr. A. C. Keating and R. B. Lyon. The selection of Mr. Lyon, who is a Hollywood man, was a recognition of the Monte Vista and Cahuenga delegations. The other four State delegates are Soldiers' Home men.

FLINT MEN HAPPY.

TIDINGS OF GREAT JOY.

Jollification was uncurbed at Flint headquarters in the Nadeau last night over the successful outcome of the fight against Gage and the "push" in the Governor's home county.

Relaxation from strenuous labor was followed by felicitations for work well done, and praise for the men who are so vigorously waging the battle against the unscrupulous gang.

With little less than an equal division of the delegation from Los Angeles county, the Flint leaders felt that they had reason for jubilation, and their joy was unrestrained.

During the evening they gathered in the rooms of the campaign committee and received returns from the various Assembly district conventions of the day, and congratulations were extended to the country supporters of the anti-Gage movement who by their votes had placed the stigma of rebuke and repudation on the "push."

They had won a glorious victory for good government, fought against great odds with clean hands, and they found pleasure in discussing the events of the last few days.

DIFFERENT THERE!

One block down the street, at the "new State Capitol" in the Hollenbeck, there was no such joyful scene. There were just three men in the Governor's rooms and they were engaged in silent meditation, while the "Johnnies" of the gang were lined up on the sidewalk adjacent to the bar, listening for a voice that was still in a political grave.

The Gage leaders conceded everything that the Flint supporters claimed, and one of the "push" managers was heard to say he was not certain that Gage was assured of the solid support of the fifty-three delegates who ostensibly are pledged for him. This leader said there were at least two votes of which he had some doubts.

"Of 173 delegates from south of the Tehachepi," said a Flint leader last night, "we have 116, more than two to one against Gage, and with our strong support in the northern and central counties of the State, we shall have a majority in the convention that will make it impossible for Gage to figure as a winner on the first, or any other ballot.

"When that Republican body assembles, with the plain understanding that Gage has recruited delegates only through the connivance of Democrats and other non-Republicans, it does not seem possible that it will consider him for an instant as the standard-bearer of the party for another term. Such an idea is repugnant to all good Republicans, and the shout of party 'harmony' comes with ill-grace from a gang that has stooped to every disreputable trick for the purpose of continuing the disreputable 'push' in power."

How They Stand.

The anti-Gage forces' figures on the State convention now stand 507 to 322, showing that the Governor is far short of the necessary number of votes to renominate him.

Solid Anti-Gage Delegation.

The Santa Barbara county delegation to the Republican State Convention will be solid anti-Gage, instead of nine to one that way, W. M. Easton of Siskiyou, a delegate, has denied that he is a Gage man, as reported. He says he will abide by the wishes of the majority of the people of the Santa Maria Valley, and will cast his vote against Gage.

Political Briefs.

Fred H. Thompson, a well-known Democratic attorney, will be a candidate for City Justice before the Democratic county convention.

Former State Senator R. F. Del Valle probably will be seected as delegate-at-large from Los Angeles county to the Democratic State convention.

Among those who are mentioned as probable successors of Dan Neuhart as chairman of the Democratic County Central Committee are John T. Gaffey, William Mead, Martin C. Marsh and John Heaney.

LOCAL SPORTING RECORD.

LOCAL MAN WINNER OF BOWLING MATCH.

ED CLARK BEATS GRAFF WITHOUT TROUBLE.

Former Astonishes His Friends by Good Work—Graff Had Great Number of Splits—Billiard Tourney at Berry's—Rifle Practice.

Graff the Indianapolis bowler, was the drawing card last night for another good bowling match. It was played at the Hill-street alleys, between Graff and Ed Clark, a well-known local bowler, and was won easily by Clark, the score being 1931 to 1704 for ten games. A big crowd watched the sport.

Clark surprised his friends by his good showing, for he probably bowled better last night than ever before, and what was more to the point, his work was consistent. His lowest game was better than Graff's grand average, and he went over 200 three times, making 226, 220 and 213. He started out in the lead with the first game, and was never headed, winning by 227 pins.

Graff had hard luck in every game with the exception of two. Splits were numerous with him, five coming in the second game, when he made but 127. He did some brilliant work at times, however, and in one of the games, made the 3-6-7-8-10 split spare, which is a very difficult one. He was in good condition physically, but could not win against hard luck.

As an illustration of it, he had twenty-two straight frames, without a strike.

The scores were as follows:

	Clark.	To-tal.	Av.	Graff.	To-tal.	Av.
1	193	193	193	176	176	176
2	182	375	185 5-10	127	303	150 2-3
3	172	544	181 1-3	171	477	159
4	213	757	189¼	177	654	163½

BILLIARDS.

BALK-LINE TOURNEY.

Henry Berry of the Hoffman billiard room will give a balk-line tournament for local players during the last week in September. There are a lot of good ones in this city, and some of these are getting so they can play a crack game. It is Berry's idea to have a tourney for local men and have the winner of it play J. J. Roggen, the class B champion of San Francisco.

Roggen won the championship last Monday night by beating Pechart 150 to 106. Roggan made a high run of 12 and Pechart 14. The averages of both men were very low Roggen's being just a shade under 3½, while Pechart's was 2 9-22. There are a number of local men who can beat these averages.

Aside from the chances of Roggen playing any local champion other than Kennison, there is an amateur here who will play Roggen a match game during Berry's tournament for $100 a side. As both parties are willing, the match will probably be arranged this month, as soon as the "unknown" returns here from the country.

THE PUBLIC SERVICE—OFFICIAL DOINGS.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

Watchman J. H. Parvin of Westlake Park was before the Park Commission yesterday charged with not paying his bills. He was discharged, but succeeded in convincing the board that there are two sides to the story, and was reinstated.

The Park Commission adopted resolutions condemning the action of Col. G. J. Griffith in accusing the board of mismanagement in Griffith Park.

Gov. Gage, charged with criminal libel, was before Judge Shaw yesterday on habeas corpus proceedings, anxious for delay. The case was continued to the 29th inst. The Governor was in a rage, and called Attorney Campbell, of San Francisco a "liar."

The District Attorney has rendered an opinion to the effect that divorcees must wait a year before marrying again in the State.

D. Valenzuela was fined $10 in the Police Court yesterday for maintaining a nuisance in the form of a house-ful of dogs.

Two small boys, Harrold Alexander, and Cornelius Haley, were held for trial on a charge of burglary.

AT THE CITY HALL.

PARVIN DISCHARGED AND THEN REINSTATED.

PARK WATCHMAN OWES BILLS FOR RENT AND CIGARS.

Commissioners Disclaim Any Intention of Making Collection Agency of Park Board, but Maintain That Parvin Has Offended Before.

Debts contracted by J. H. Parvin, night watchman at Westlake Park, were the cause of considerable discussion at the session of the Park Commission yesterday morning. At the outset Parvin was unceremoniously discharged from the department, but later the commissioners reconsidered the motion, and gave the watchman thirty days' grace.

Parvin had trouble with his landlady over the amount due for rent. He tendered her one sum, and she demanded another. Failing to collect the larger amount from Parvin, she went to the members of the Park Commission with a complaint against the man. It was also found that Parvin owed the Ideal Loan Company $18 on a cigar bill.

Other boards of control have steadily refused to be made collection agencies, except in very aggravated cases, but the Park Commission broke away from the precedent yesterday. After Parvin had been summarily discharged, against the protest of Acting Mayor Powers, he was allowed to explain why the bills were not paid. It was soon discovered that there were two sides to the story, and the motion to discharge was reconsidered.

After the session it was stated that more grievous offenses than the refusal to promptly pay a bill influenced the action of the commission, but that the evidence is not at hand to prove the charges that have been made. The commissioners expressed the opinion that the board should not take official cognizance of failure to pay bills, or other private matters relating to the employés in the park department as a rule. One member declared that it was a mistake to bring Parvin on the carpet on such grounds, and that in future creditors will have no standing before the board, unless it can be shown that the park employé has been dishonest or belligerent and abusive.

Parvin will continue to watch Westlake Park during the time of probation, and for the present he holds the record for sudden discharge and reinstatement.

GRIFFITH PARK DIFFICULTY.

Much caustic comment was lavished on Col. Griffith J. Griffith when it was found that neither he nor his attorney was on hand to offer evidence in support of the published charges that trees were cut from the park and the wood sold at less than market price, and that no attempt has been made to improve the park in accordance with the terms of the deed of gift. At the last session a postponement of the hearing was granted on request of Attorney H. A. Pierce, who represented Col. Griffith, and the board was in an expectant frame of mind yesterday.

Dr. C. B. Dickson suggested that disposition be made of the charges preferred by Col. Griffith, inasmuch as no one had appeared to offer evidence in their support. Cribb thought that an unwarranted attack had been made on the members of the commission. McGarry believed that a reply should be made that would clear the commission of the imputation that a "rake-off" had been made from the sale of wood. Finally, after further discussion, a resolution was outlined by Commissioner Dickson, and later put into substantially the following form by Secretary Hopkins:

"Whereas, the hearing of charges preferred by Col. G. J. Griffith, relative to the management of Griffith Park by this commission, has been postponed from time to time at his request, and no evidence has been forthcoming to show that wood was sold for less than the market price, or that any one got a 'rake-off,' much less that the members of the commission were concerned therein, and as Col. Griffith has not appeared to substantiate his statements about the care of the park and the failure of this commission to do all in its power to improve it, now be it

"Resolved, that we exceedingly regret that Col. Griffith should make such a blunder as to intimate that this commission was concerned in or cognizant of any 'rake-off' from the sale of the few loads of brushwood that have been removed from the park, without having any proof or evidence to show that any one got a 'rake-off,' and we deplore the unjust strictures that have been placed on this commission, because of the slow progress made in the improvement of the park."

The board is preparing plans for a roadway through Griffith Park, and the City Council has been asked to set aside a sufficient sum for its construction.

GLEANINGS FROM PARKS.

Commissioner Cribb and Superintendent Mendenhall were appointed a committee to ascertain why none of the swings recently purchased are in working order. The swings fail to operate, and the board will make an investigation.

Edward Rabe, the Chutes animal trainer, sent a communication to the board, in which he urges the establishment of a large zoo in the city similar to the one in Golden Gate Park in San Francisco. He believes that the newspapers will agitate the matter and facilitate the collection of a fine collection of wild animals. Commissioners McGarry and Dickson were appointed a committee to confer with Rabe regarding his plan.

Hereafter fishing in Westlake Park will be allowed only on Saturdays.

The request of the Water Commission for the indorsement of a plan to construct a reservoir in Elysian Park was granted. It is thought the reservoir will be an attraction.

It was decided to allow the lessee of the boating privilege at Echo Park to retain it, although the lease has expired. Recently there has been no water in the lake, and the lease has been worthless to the owner of the boats.

Want Wires Underground.

A petition signed by twenty-seven property owners on East Seventh street was filed with the City Clerk yesterday, asking that steps be taken to place the wires underground before the street is paved, from Main to San Pedro streets, as contemplated.

AT THE COURTHOUSE.

GOVERNOR CALLS LAWYER A "LIAR."

POSTPONEMENT OF GAGE HABEAS CORPUS PROCEEDINGS.

Chief Executive of State, Charged With Criminal Libel, Seeks Delay and Case Goes Over Two Weeks—Divorce Law Upheld.

The Governor said Spreckels's lawyer is a "liar," and that is all that happened.

The habeas corpus proceedings for the release of Gov. Gage from arrest came up before Judge Shaw in the Superior Court yesterday. They suggested the case of the King of France and 20,000 men who drew their swords and put them up again.

In the feverish screed filed Wednesday asking the court to turn him loose and not let the policemen have him, the Governor appeared to have a pessimistic yearning to shake off the criminal-libel charges. When the habeas corpus petition came up before Judge Shaw yesterday he was just as fierce for delay in shaking them off.

The Governor pranced up and down Judge Shaw's private chambers after the manner of a caged hyena when things were not going his way.

The Governor claimed that he had made a truce with Attorney J. C. Campbell, counsel for Spreckels and Leake, to the effect that the whole matter should go over for two weeks.

When Deputy District Attorney Willis produced a telegram from Campbell stating his intention of arriving in Los Angeles today (Friday) to try the case, the Governor flew into a passion.

"Campbell is the biggest liar in the State, drunk or sober," he said furiously.

Later in the day, W. R. Bacon, Esq., a local legal representative of Spreckels, telephoned to Mr. Campbell in San Francisco to learn if such a truce had been entered into. Mr. Campbell was not in his office, but one of the men in the office replied to Bacon that no such agreement had been made.

Finally, they got the thing shoved along until 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

In the meanwhile the Capitol of the State was moved from the Hollenbeck Hotel to the judge's chambers.

When 2 o'clock came, the courtroom was filled with curious lawyers and idle spectators, the former gathered in knots inside the rail listening to profound political dissertations from "wise guys," who had been defeated as delegates to the county convention and know all about everything.

Behold the Governor steamed into view!

At the corner of the corridor he was held up by an old man with faded blue overalls and a rosy nose.

The Governor turned on a beaming smile and wrung his hand affectionately. As he broke away, the Governor placed a coin in the fellow's palm, mumbling something about "cigars," and went into the courtroom. The heeler grinned with satisfaction.

The executive session immediately convened in the "Capitol."

Judge Shaw was locked out.

An inquisitive spectator who thought the celebration must be going on in the little room off the corner, "butted in." When he got two steps into the room the Governor roared, "Shut the door," and the inquisitive individual backed timidly out again.

Attorney Appel, the Governor's lawyer, stalked solemnly through the courtroom. He wasn't "on" yet. Then somebody gave him the "high sign," and a door in the corner opened and swallowed him.

One by one the little room in the corner opened and sucked them in.

Finally the door of the "Capitol" opened benevolently and let the judge into his chambers for a minute.

An awed hush fell over the crowded courtroom, with its empty bench, until the door of the "Capitol" opened and a stately procession stalked majestically forth. The Governor marched at its head; his secretary, Mr. Foley, brought up the rear. In betwixt and between came lawyers and other accessories.

After all this brilliancy had passed and gone, it was announced that the habeas corpus proceedings were continued until August 29.

The hearing of the criminal charges against Gov. Gage is set for September 2. The Governor will be on his own recognizance meanwhile.

REHITCHING HITCH.

DIVORCEES MUST WAIT.

Divorced people in this State must meditate a year before they get married again. The District Attorney so ruled yesterday in so far as the law affects this county.

By virtue of an opinion written by Deputy District Attorney Wilbur, the County Clerk has forbidden the issuance of marriage licenses to persons who have been divorced within a year.

The gist of Mr. Wilbur's opinion on the recent Supreme Court decision is as follows:

"While this decision holds that persons divorced in this State and married within a year in another State is valid (under the circumstances detailed in the opinion) it is emphatically stated by the court that if the marriage had been contracted within the State of California it would have been void. The court says that the marriage 'if solemnized within this State would unquestionably have been void. It is true that a marriage which was solemnized in Nevada is a legal marriage in California, but it is none the less a marriage in direct violation of our laws and is valid only because our laws have no such extra territorial forces as would enable them to operate to avoid a marriage entered into in Nevada and void so far as the laws of that State were concerned.'"

A number of anxious divorcees who want to be married again have been simply haunting the license bureau since the Wood decision in the Supreme Court, begging for licenses. Some of them have gone many times for the coveted documents.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

MRS. BIXLER SANE. Addie L. Bixler, the woman found wandering around the oil fields in the middle of the night, leading her little children, almost naked, has been declared by Judge Conrey to be in her right mind. Since the sensational episode, she has been at a private hospital and has recovered her mental balance.

GASOLINE FOR LAMPS. Frank Martin, who fills coal oil lamps with gasoline and does other eccentric things, was committed to the insane asylum yesterday.

QUEER BED. Juan Galaviz, who had an unfortunate yearning to sleep under the counter of the Wells, Fargo express office at Fernando and didn't care if he had to break in to do it, got ninety days in jail yesterday in Judge Smith's court. He was charged with burglary in the second degree and pleaded guilty, although it was not shown that he tried to steal anything. It was just a drunken man's fancy.

TRUTHFUL INFORMATION. The Ingersoll Century Publishing Company has incorporated to "disseminate all kinds of truthful information in reference to California," with capital stock of $25,000, of which $500 has been subscribed. Directors: William H. Workman, W. J. Hunsaker, Benjamin S. Eaton, William J. Variel and Luther A. Ingersoll.

INVESTMENT COMPANY. The Pasadena Investment Company has incorporated with a capital stock of $100,000, of which $700 has bee nsubscribed. Directors, Heman Dyer, A. K. Nash, W. B. Clapp, C. H. Parsons, R. H. Pinney, E. A. Walker and A. L. Hamilton.

PASADENA BONDS. On a favorable legal opinion from Deputy District Attorney Wilbur in regard to the validity of the $100,000 school bonds of Pasadena, the Board of Supervisors has ordered the bonds advertised for sale. Mr. Wilbur has also presented a favorable report in regard to the special tax levied in the Vineland school district.

NEW HOSPITAL. The Dr. Wilfred G. Fralick Hospital has incorporated with a capital stock of $50,000, of which $600 has been subscribed. Directors, Justus Goebel, H. C. Ackerly, Lucius F. Doolittle, H. W. Brundige and Dr. Wilfred G. Fralick.

MRS. M'CONNELL DEAD.

Widow of Former Attorney-General of California Passes Away at Her Home in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Sallie R. McConnell, widow of the late John R. McConnell, died at her home on West Twenty-eighth street, Wednesday night.

Mrs. McConnell was a woman of very quiet tastes, but she was well known and highly esteemed. She was a native of Kentucky, and was the third wife of John R. McConnell.

Mr. McConnell was a lawyer who came to California in 1849, from Kentucky, and at once made a specialty of mining litigation. In 1853 he was chosen Attorney-General of the State, serving until 1857, and from that time became known as "Gen." McConnell. In 1861 he ran for Governor, on the Democratic ticket, and was defeated by Stanford. He died in 1879.

Mrs. McConnell was born in Lexington, Ky., in 1841, and has lived in Los Angeles for thirty years. She died after an illness of ten weeks, leaving two daughters, in this city—Mrs. J. R. Scott and Miss Camilla McConnell.

The funeral services will be held this afternoon at 2:30 at St. John's Episcopal Church, Adams and Figueroa streets. Interment will be at Evergreen Cemetery.

THE INFERIOR COURTS.

HOUSEFUL OF DOGS DECLARED A NUISANCE.

VALENZUELA IS CONVICTED AND PAYS HIS FINE.

Howe-Curry Battery Case Causes Show of Indignation by Attorney Rossiter—Small Boys Held for Trial in Superior Court.

The bedogged neighbors kicked.

D. Valenzuela maintained a doggery that became a nuisance by day and a horror by night.

He kept a countless number of dogs—perhaps twenty or more, but a dog or two will make no difference.

At night he penned them up in a building of prescribed limits, and the result was fatal to the sleep of the just—or anybody else.

He was charged with a misdemeanor, and yesterday Justice Austin sentenced him to pay a fine of $10, which he "dug up" later in the day, and went home to his dogs.

Something must be done with the dogs.

He might invent a gag—that one about bologna sausage is too stale.

A pool with the pound master might be a good suggestion.

Rossiter Indignant.

R. B. Wilson, James Wilson and their attorney, J. G. Rossiter, were arraigned on a battery charge, and John Curry and D. C. Donaldson for disturbing the peace, in Justice Austin's court yesterday. In the battery case, the hearing was fixed for Saturday at 9:30 a.m., and in the other case for August 27, at 10 a.m.

These are the cases arising out of the Howe-Curry Company troubles, which have already been aired in several courts, and to which reference was made in yesterday's issue of The Times.

Judge Rossiter, who is attorney as well as defendant, was very indignant at the manner of his arrest, and expressed himself in strong language to Justice Austin.

He had burning words for the policeman who made the arrest, and promised something warmer when the time for the hearing arrives.

John Curry, who was choked by Donaldson, was unable to appear, Attorney Rossiter presenting a physician's certificate to that effect. He will be arraigned Saturday.

Stole Gun and Cigars.

The two little boys, Harrold Alexander and Cornelius Haley, were given a hearing before Justice Austin yesterday, on a charge of burglary. The evidence showed that the boys had entered the residence of D. J. Alberti, on West Twenty-fifth street, and stolen a revolver and two boxes of cigars. They were held for appearance in the Superior Court, bail being fixed at $300 each.

"Do you want to say anything in behalf of this boy?" Justice Austin asked of little "Corney" Haley's father, who sat silently by.

"No, I don't know nothing about it," was the chilling reply.

It is but sixty days since the two boys were arrested for stealing a bicycle, but escaped by reason of their tender years.

Policelets.

K. O. Kuda, a very small, but fighting-drunk Jap, was hauled in by the police net, on Alameda street, Wednesday night. The merciful judge let him off with a $3 fine.

Charles Viotto, who keeps a saloon near the Arcade depot, is charged with having violated the election law by keeping his saloon open on primary-election day. It will be claimed, in behalf of Viotto, that the law does not explicitly name "primary" elections, and an effort will be made to clear his skirts that way.

DUTY ON "HOLY WATER."

Man Who Imported it Knows Better Now and Hereafter He Will not Pay Any Tax.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—The Board of Classification of the United States General Appraisers has announced a decision as to what is officially described as so-called holy water, taken from the spring or well at Lourdes, France, which is collected in bottles holding more than one quart. The water was imported last October, and it was reported by the appraiser at this port to be natural mineral water, and duty was assessed at the rate of 24 cents per gallon, with 1 cent per pound upon bottles.

The importer, William Treves, declared that the duty should be assessed at the rate of 10 per cent. ad valorem, under the tariff provision for raw or unmanufactured articles not enumerated or provided for.

The board finds that the water is not mineral water, but it also holds that the claim made by the importer is not sound. Instead, it finds that the water is enumerated in the free list in part 31, which covers minerals, crude or not advanced in value or condition by refining or grinding or by other process of manufacture not specially provided for in this act. The board holds that natural water is a crude material. The protestant having failed to make this claim, however, the protest is overruled, and the duty will have to be paid in this instance, and in the case of future shipments of the holy water it will come in force.

It is announced that Señor Juan Cuestas, the Uruguayan Minister to Washington, will be transferred to Rome and be succeeded by Señor Roosen.

Best Liniment on Earth.

Henry D. Baldwin, Superintendent City Water Works, Shullsburg, Wis., writes: "I have tried many kinds of liniment, but have never received much benefit until I used Ballard's Snow Liniment for rheumatism and pains. I think it the best liniment on earth." 50c and $1.00 bottle at Dean's Drug Store.

Spring Ailments.

There is an aching and tired feeling; the liver, bowels and kidneys become sluggish and inactive, the digestion impaired, with little or no appetite, no ambition for anything, and a feeling that the whole body and mind needs toning up. The trouble is, that during winter, there has been an accumulation of waste matter in the system. Herbine will remove it, secure to the secretions a right exit, and by its tonic effect, fully restore the wasted tissues and give strength in place of weakness. 50c at Dean's Drug Store.

JOYOUS PROSPERITY. Says the New York Commercial, discussing the theme of contentment under high wages: "It is probably pretty close to the truth that farmers as a class in the United States are the mightiest kickers, the most doleful and persistent complainers, of all the whole lot ever becomes an unfortunate end; and, by the same token, when fortune smiles on them they best know how to preserve a discreet silence about it. We need only to point to the people of Nebraska and Kansas for illustrations of the fact. They seemed to be the head-center, front and rear of the seat of Hard Times during the middle period of the last decade, and all the world knew it. Today, as prosperous, comparatively, as any. But none of them somehow seem to be trouble to shout it from the housetops. The real explanation of the seeming lack of contentment and prosperity with high prices, which, according to the old logic, should be extremely popular with the toiling millions, is that this period of very general employment, in which work overtime is much more common than ever before, and where there is opportunity for steady employment there can be found no discontent—among the farmers or the wage-earning class. As the Washington Post says: "These are times for the producers of more than 90 per cent. of the increase in the cost of subsistence goes to the farmers and truck gardeners. Did anybody ever hear much complaint of hard times when the farmers were prosperous?"

WESTERN CROPS. The United States are now in the midst of the greatest harvest ever known. The Dakotas, North Dakota and South Dakota, have produced more wheat, barley and flax than crop reports credited to this territory. The conservative estimate of the yield of the three States does not include the aggregate much above the crop of a year ago. The estimate of the crop is as follows: Minnesota, 85,000,000; North Dakota, 55,000,000; South Dakota, 35,000,000. Oats in the three States, the estimated yield being: Minnesota, 90,000,000 bushels; North Dakota, 30,000,000 bushels; South Dakota, 20,000,000 bushels; a total 20,000,000 greater than in 1898, the banner year. Flax will make up for the shortage of wheat, the estimate being: Minnesota, 10,000,000 bushels; North Dakota, 25,000,000; South Dakota, 10,000,000 bushels. Of the four States mentioned, the Dakotas, 60 per cent. greater than Minnesota, 25,000,000, which is full of promise, the Dakotas being: South Dakota, 60,000,000; North Dakota, 55,000,000; Minnesota, 25,000,000. Of the four States mentioned, the people of Nebraska and Kansas, the latter two being fair illustrations of the fact. They seemed to be the head-center, front and rear of the seat of Hard Times during the middle period of the last decade, and all the world knew it. Today, as prosperous, comparatively, as any. But none of them somehow seem to be trouble to shout it from the housetops. The real explanation of the seeming lack of contentment and prosperity with high prices, which, according to the old logic, should be extremely popular with the toiling millions, is that this period of very general employment, in which work overtime is much more common than ever before, and where there is opportunity for steady employment there can be found no discontent—among the farmers or the wage-earning class. RIVERSIDE COURTHOUSE PLANS NOT SELECTED.

LOS ANGELES ARCHITECTS PRESENT THEIR SPECIFICATIONS.

Choice Seems Between Two Styles of Building—San Jacinto Man on Trial Charged With Shooting at Neighbor—Peculiar Insurance Case.

RIVERSIDE, Aug. 14.—As yet the Supervisors have not decided upon any of the plans for a new courthouse. Six sets of plans were submitted yesterday to the board by that number of architects, all of Los Angeles. After looking over the plans it was evident that a choice was narrowed down to a selection betwen the plans offered by Hudson & Munsell and Burnham & Bleisner. The former's plans show a two-story structure and the latter a one-story. The board favors the one-story idea, and this style will probably be chosen. The plans of each of the firms call for a building to cost $115,000, which will leave the board $35,000 with which to furnish the building. The board will meet August 20 for the purpose of making a final decision in the matter.

The Supervisors have let the contract for the construction of a bridge over the Temecula River near the town of that name. The bridge is sometimes sadly needed when the heavy rains of the vicinity make it dangerous to ford the swollen stream.

NEIGHBOR SHOT AT.

Dist.-Atty. Evans and William Collier and H. R. Carnahan, counsel for the defendant, went to San Jacinto this morning to participate in the preliminary examination of Col. J. T. Ritchey, who is charged with shooting at J. W. Sallee, a neighbor. The men quarreled over a line fence, and the shooting was the result. Both are well-known residents of that section of the county.

PECULIAR INSURANCE CASE.

The Superior Court was engaged today in the trial of an interesting case. Some time ago a man named Seward died, who held a policy in the Maccabee order for $2000. A short time before his death he was divorced from his wife, and after the divorce he willed the $2000 to a Miss Webster. The latter now wants the money, and the ex-wife also wants it. The latter claims it on the ground that the policy was originally made out to her. A number of attorneys are interested in the case, and its outcome is being watched with interest by the officials of local insurance orders.

RIVERSIDE BREVITIES.

The Prohibitionists of this county will meet in convention tomorrow for the purpose of electing delegates to the State convention. So far as known the party will not name a county ticket.

The Democrats will hold primaries in the county today. It is the intention of the party to place in the field a full ticket for county officers. The convention will be held August 26.

Contractor James McNair, who is interested in street improvement work here, spent today in the city.

Maj. J. W. P. Diss, right-of-way agent for the Salt Lake road, spent today in the city.

P. T. Evans, a Riverside capitalist, left for the East yesterday to be absent some months.

M. G. Baird and wife of Portland, Ind., are the guests of Mrs. Moon.

Miss Williard arrived home today from an extended trip to Europe.

KNIGHTS GO NORTH TO TAKE PYTHIAN PRIZE.

SAN BERNARDINO DRILL CORPS IS CONFIDENT OF WINNING.

Nine Members Desert Business to Fill the Company's Quota—Driver Thrown With Four-ton Load and Only a Little Bruised.

SAN BERNARDINO, Aug. 14.—San Bernardino Co., Uniform Rank, of the Knights of Pythias, proposes to capture a prize at the grand convention of the order now in session at San Francisco, no matter at what cost. The company is the baby company of the Third Regiment, but it has already attained such proficiency in drill that it attracted special comment in Los Angeles. Unfortunately it went to San Francisco short in complement. Yesterday afternoon, a telegram was received from Capt. H. M. Willis to the effect that if nine more Uniformed Knights hied themselves to San Francisco, he can capture a $500 cash prize. W. D. Wagner got into action and by midnight had rounded up the necessary quota of nine Knights, who at considerable personal sacrifice left this afternoon for San Francisco to assist the company in winning the coveted prize. Those in the party were: W. D. Wagner, J. W. Shumate, L. M. Sprecher, B. F. Bledsoe, Joseph Winkler, J. W. Brown, R. B. Parazetta, W. A. Wilson, O. Whitlock and W. J. Hanford.

NARROWLY ESCAPED DEATH.

Joseph Watson, teamster of East Highland, had a narrow escape from death yesterday. While driving a heavy load of hay to this city with a six-mule team, the leaders shied at a passing team while crossing the wash near Base Line. The wagon with over four tons of hay was pitched over the bank, and Watson hurled from the top of the load out among the rocks that cover the wash. Fortunately he landed in the sand, between two big bowlders, and escaped with no more serious injuries than a few bruises. The six mules ran away, the wagon tongue breaking, letting them go free.

SAN BERNARDINO BREVITIES.

Winona Kelley, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Kelley, died yesterday at the family residence on Third street, aged thirteen months.

Dr. Wesley Thompson, Coroner of the county, has announced himself as an independent candidate for reëlection to that office.

Miss Mae Harrington entertained a company of friends at cards last evening at her home on Fifth street.

Willard G. Hale of this city and Miss Elsie Baughn of Colton were married yesterday in Los Angeles.

Miss Birdie Wray left today for San Francisco, where she will visit relatives for several weeks.

Mrs. William Hixon of Los Angeles, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Thayer.

Mrs. J. A. Cole and Miss Carrie Waters are visiting friends in Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Collier have gone to Riverside to reside.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Barton left today for Tent City.

Mrs. A. C. Cole of Pasadena is visiting friends here.

Miss Lillie Kramer is visiting friends in Los Angeles.

R. E. Bledsoe, Esq., is at San Diego for a short stay.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Vance are at Tent City.

RIALTO.

BIG PUMPING ENGINE.

RIALTO, Aug. 14.—The engine procured from the Baker Iron Works at Los Angeles by the Lytle Creek Water and Improvement Company for the Rialto tract has shown itself equal to the task of bringing to the surface 150 inches of water for as many hours as is necessary to meet any deficiency from the creek during the summer months. There has been, however, some delay on account, probably, of the newness of the machinery. Yesterday Mr. Mulholland came up from Los Angeles to adjust the big machine.

RIALTO BREVITIES.

The fruit packing companies are putting their houses and affairs in order to meet the requirements of the growers for the coming season. Representatives of the Earl Fruit Company will be here tomorrow night to confer with directors of the Citrus Fruit Union on a plan of action as to sales and shipments. The Rialto fruit association will have a meeting Saturday night to arrange for the business of the season.

Many orange orchards are making a better showing than it was expected they would six weeks ago, but the majority of them will not exceed a half crop.

SAN DIEGO.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 14.—The most interesting announcement in county politics today is that W. A. Sloane will compete for Superior Judge on the Republican ticket. The other candidates are Judge Torrance, incumbent, Victor E. Shaw, Eugene Daney, and ex-Judge George Puller. Indications are that the saloon question will be an important factor in the county campaign. The anti-saloon league has been working for months, and claims to have an organization of forces which will be able to upset some of the nicely-laid plans of the politicians.

State Senator Nutt left this morning for the upper portions of the Congressional district. It is reported that he will make a strong bid for the San Bernardino delegation. Mr. Nutt hopes that the arrangement will be such that the Congressional convention can be held at the close of the State convention, in order that State issues may be avoided.

SAN DIEGO BREVITIES.

From a financial standpoint the Elks' annual benefit, "The Bohemian Girl," the closing performance of which was given last evening, was the greatest success since the first benefit in 1891. The operahouse was filled to the doors at each of the three performances.

A Society of Christian Endeavor was organized at La Mesa last evening, with thirty charter members.

The British ship Aberfoyle, Capt. Tate, which has been here with a cargo of Newcastle coal, sailed yesterday afternoon for Royal Roads, where she will receive orders. She will probably load salmon.

UNDER THE CANVAS.

TENT CITY BREVITIES.

TENT CITY, Aug. 14.—Mr. Thill was in charge of the children's hayrack rides around North Island yesterday. Only the girls were taken, but the boys will have their innings in the near future.

Miss Dunnell was the hostess at a tamale supper at her tent Tuesday evening. Before going to the tent for supper dancing was enjoyed in the Casino. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Newcomb, Miss Schroeder, Miss Lillicrap, Miss Vale, Frank Bryant, Mr. Telson, Pearl Jenks, Mr. Lillicrap, George Jenner and E. A. Thill.

Miss Myra D. Tomlinson of Los Angeles has returned to camp, after a visit in the city.

The Misses McNair are entertaining Miss Edwena Chambers of San Diego.

There were many arrivals at the city yesterday, including the following: J. H. Wilson and wife, Highgrove; Miss Mamie Goodwin, Miss Lotz, D. A. Hart, W. W. Elliott, George P. Ey, Los Angeles; E. C. Bates and wife, Chicago; Mrs. J. I. Sweeney, Miss Edith Sweeney, William Giles, Houston, Tex., Frank M. Lackey, N. M. Lackey, Miss Edith Woodworth, Miss Pattie White, Cuero, Tex.; Mrs. W. C. SCHOLARSHIP MILL'S STEADY GRIND.

EVERY BODY GETTING READY FOR FINAL STRUGGLE.

Florence Darch Still at Head of the Procession—Gertrude Smith Again in Second Place—Serious Set-back for Lala Greenwade Unless Friends Prevent It.

The scholarship contest has now resolved itself into a steady grind for points to be counted in the final score. Only fourteen working days (not counting Sundays) remain, and most of the contestants are making every day count. Some are turning in all the points they have as fast as they get them. Others are saving them up for a big coup at the end. A good many that have already been turned in do not yet figure in the score on account of the time consumed by the route men in verifying subscriptions as to whether they are new or renewals. Therefore the published score does not tell the complete story of the relative strength of the contestants. However, it is interesting to study the figures as they appear and to note the changes in the list.

It will be observed that Florence Darch still heads the procession, with Gertrude Smith a close second. If anyone is working harder than Miss Darch to hold her position, it has not come to the notice of the scholarship manager, for Florence is astir early and late in the endeavor to keep her name at the top of the column. Her success so far is most remarkable considering the fact that she has had to depend almost entirely upon her own exertions to get what points she has.

Miss Smith has just concluded a round-up of the Fullerton oil belt, where she did a great deal of hard work which brought encouraging results. She will next move her headquarters to El Monte for a brief campaign in that section. That field has already been pretty well worked over by Arnold Cave, who has dropped out of the race, but if there are any pickings remaining, Miss Smith will get them.

Winifred Beckingsale has transferred her headquarters from Ontario to Riverside county for the time being, and will probably be next heard from at Corona. Citizens of the latter place took a lively interest in the contest last year, and as Riverside county has no candidate of its own this year, they are said to have decided to help Miss Beckingsale. At any rate, the latter has been invited to come and look the field over, and she usually makes it pay wherever she goes.

Bessie Beatty has again been crowded back to fourth place, but she continues to view the situation with equanimity and supreme confidence that she will get back to first place before the close of the contest.

Frank Cummings has gotten the Santa Barbara sewer water all out of his system and has his working clothes on once more. He showed this yesterday by jumping from seventh up to fifth place, while Egbert Edwards did just the opposite. Egbert has not played his trump card yet, by any means, and No. 7 is just as good as any other until it comes to the final show-down.

Rae Price, the would-be tooth-puller and "Pride of the Peatlands," sent in something over 3000 points yesterday just as a reminder that she has not retired from the contest. This leaves Miss Price in sixth place.

Elsie Anderson moved up to eighth place by retiring Gladys Edmonds to ninth position, but it is but fair to explain that the result of Miss Edmonds's last two days' work has not yet been figured into the score. It will amount to more than enough to reinstate her in her old position when it is counted in.

Philip English continues in tenth place, and sends encouraging reports from Ventura county, where he is campaigning. The Venturans take kindly to young English, as they recognize in him a lad who is determined to make the most of his opportunities, and who is worthy of confidence and support.

Mary O'Shea is just sauntering along in eleventh place, with a smile of confidence on her face, which says she could go up higher at any moment if she chose to do so. Miss Mary's friends are of the kind that not only promise but actually give it when it is needed. She has many promises of this kind that will be redeemed when she says the word.

Miss Lala Greenewade has returned from Pomona, where she met with much encouragement, only to discover that an error has occurred in her score which will cost her 6000 points, and set her back half a dozen numbers. Miss Greenwade is in no way to blame for the inflation of her score. It was the result of a misunderstanding of the conditions of the contest by an out-of-town agent of The Times who sent in approved as correct twelve renewals of yearly subscriptions in the interest of Miss Greenwade. The agent had overlooked the rule that only prepaid subscriptions were of avail in the scholarship contest, and a week or more elapsed after the 6000 points were credited to her before it was discovered that the subscribers, who were all friends of Miss Greenwade, and eager to help her, had not advanced the necessary amount of cash to make their votes count. In order to give them an opportunity to yet make good their intentions, the erroneous credits have not yet been substracted from her score. If, however, the rules of the contest are not complied with by the first of next week by Miss Greenwade's would-be benefactors, the young lady will have to be set back. There is no evidence nor suspicion that there has been a deliberate attempt on the part of anybody to give Miss Greenwade an unfair advantage. The mistake simply occurred through a misconception of the rules established at the beginning of the contest, and which must be rigidly adhered to. No doubt the many friends of Miss Greenwade will regret to see her get such a serious set-back, but they can prevent it by helping to make up the 6000 points for her before they are taken away. Miss Mullinix of Santa Ana last year had a similar experience. Through a technical error she lost, or seemed to lose, nearly 20,000 votes at one swoop. The disappointment brought on a severe attack of sickness, but friends rallied to her support, and not only made up all she had lost, but enough more to make her winner of the first prize by an overwheiming vote. Miss Greenwade's misfortune may also work to her advantage.

In the Arizona list Georgia McKee is gaining a big lead over the rest of the aspirants. She now has over 5100 votes, and is steadily increasing her score. Clifford Green of Phoenix, who is also a candidate for the Lamson Business College scholarship, has moved up into second place, while Laverna Lossing, who wants to go to the Tempe Normal School, has slipped back into No. 3. It is yet anybody's victory in Arizona, however, as time enough remains to run up scores much larger than those now held by any of the candidates in the Territory.

Excerps from letters received by The Times saying nice things about some of the scholarship candidates, especially some of those most in need of help and encouragement, could not be prepared in time for publication today, but will positively appear in the next chapter of the scholarship serial.

NEWS REPORTS FROM TIMES CORRESPONDENTS.

SANTA ANA.

WALNUT CROP PROSPECTS.

SANTA ANA, Aug. 14.—From present indications there will be an unusually large yield of English walnuts throughout the Santa Ana Valley the coming season. Secretary Wilder of the Santa Ana Valley Walnut Growers' Association has issued circular letters to all the growers, requesting them to at once forward him estimates of the crop this year. The object in getting estimates at this time is to assist the officers of the association in placing adequate orders for sacks, and other material necessary in the proper handling of the crop, as well as to give prospective purchasers of the crop something definite to figure upon. The local growers feel that the chances are favorable for good prices.

RUSSIAN BONDS LISTED.

Included Among Securities Handled in New York Stock Exchange on Application of Bankers.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—The Russian 4-per-cent. rentes, aggregating 2,310,000,000 roubles ($1,188,495,000) were regularly listed on the Stock Exchange today, the application of Morgan & Co., Belmont & Co., Baring, Magoun & Co. and the National City Bank having been unanimously approved, it is said, by the committee on stock listing.

According to the statement submitted to the Stock Exchange by the applicants, the rentes are in coupon form and range in denomination from 100 to 25,000 roubles. At the option of the holders they can be registered as to principal. Interest at 4 per cent. is payable on a quarterly basis, on the 14th of March, June, September and December, at the fiscal agencies in the United States, these dates being according to the Russian calendar, the first of those months.

The bonds have coupons attached for ten years from date of issue, as well as a talon for the delivery of additional coupon sheets thereafter. The bonds were issued by the Russian Minister of Finance in compliance with imperial ukases, dating from April, 1894, to April, 1901, for the purpose of the conversion of old state loans, bearing high rates of interest, for the purchase of railroads and for other financial operations. No fixed date is named for payment of the rentes, but the Russian government reserves the right to redeem the certificates at any time at its own option, in accordance with a decree issued in April, 1894.

PROMOTER'S BIG SCHEME.

Hope to Organize Farmers in a Co-operative Enterprise With Capital of Fifty Million Dollars.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

PIERRE (S.D.) Aug. 14.—The Farmers' National Coöperation Exchange Company has filed articles of incorporation with a capital of $50,000,000.

The purpose of the corporation is to buy, sell and deal in grain, provisions, live stock, and all kinds of produce on commission, and to build and equip grain elevators, warehouses, cold-storage plants, stockyards, and whatever may be necessary to carry on the business of the corporation.

One-fourth of the capital stock will be used for building the elevators, yards, branch offices, etc., and another fourth will be made a cash fund for the purpose of dealing in cash grain and provisions on the Board of Trade. The remaining half of the capital stock will be left virtually with the farmers in various banks, where the money has been raised, to enable them to carry their crops for a more favorable market. This will give the farmers $50,000,000 back of their interests to help them in securing better prices for their products. The stock book will be open to banks throughout twenty States.

SOME account of the recent outing of the famous Sierra Club will be given by one of the members of the party, in the Sunday Times Magazine of August 17.

LONG BEACH.

UNIVERSALIST CONVENTION.

LONG BEACH, Aug. 14.—The State convention of California Universalists will meet in this city commencing at 2 p.m. tomorrow. Among those who are here to attend and assist in the programme are Revs. J. F. Leland, Tacy Mathew, George H. Deere, Edgar Leavitt, E. L. Conger, A. A. Rice, F. T. Scott, H. L. Canfield of Ohio, Sophie Gibb, Andrew W. Cross and a number of other prominent workers in the denomination. The programme for tomorrow will include the usual formalities of opening, and organization, to be followed by reports of officers, parishes, Sunday-schools, and of the G.P.C.U. There will also be a general discussion on "The Mission and Outlook of the Universalist Church," led by Revs. J. F. Leland, Tacy Mathews and others. In the evening Rev. G. H. Deere will lead the devotional exercises and Rev. Edgar Leavitt will preach on the subject, "Prospects of the Church in View of Present Conditions." The sessions will continue through Saturday and Sunday.

LONG BEACH BREVITIES.

Landlord Knight of the Hotel Riviera has decided to close his dining-room and run the hotel on the European plan. He asserts that it is impossible to run a first-class American hotel here without the wine privilege, and experience appears to bear him out.

The Woodmen in this section of the State have decided to hold their regular annual picnic here on September 9.

Mr. and Mrs. William Harshbarger, their daughter, Miss Ivy, and mother, Mrs. Lydia Short, all of Mt. Pleasant, Iowa, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Chandler on Cedar avenue.

The Democrats have chosen the following delegates to the county convention: First Precinct, Dr. M. H. C. Vail, C. L. Foster and John Meeks; second precinct, R. R. Dunbar, M. S. Julian, L. A. Bailey, A. C. Malone, W. S. Clark. The vote cast was very light, the only interest being caused by the talk of bringing out J. Driskill for Assemblyman.

MONROVIA.

TO INSPECT THE FORESTS.

MONROVIA, Aug. 14.—Palmer T. Reed leaves tomorrow to join Dr. Porter of the Bureau of Forestry, on an extended trip over the government forest reservation between San Jacinto and the Mexican line. It is the intention of the government to increase the reservations so as to get control of the watersheds. Mr. Hall, also of the Bureau of Forestry, is expected in a few days. He will make a report on the forest reservations of Southern California, especially in the burned districts, with the idea of reforestation.

John Pinney's orange ranch in Duarte, consisting of fourteen and a half acres, and house, has been sold to Mr. De Grief of Pomona, for $13,000.

DOWNEY.

BREVITIES AND PERSONALS.

DOWNEY, Aug. 14.—Colburn Butler, a son of C. A. Butler, with his wife, arrived from Little Rock, Ark., today, for a two months' stay with his California relatives.

Miss Edna McKay, a Los Angeles school teacher, is in the valley visiting friends.

The interest at the Holiness camp meeting is growing daily, but the crowd is not so great as in former years. Something like 100 tents are now in use.

Fay Snyder, the seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Snyder, broke the small bone of the right arm a few weeks ago, and yesterday afternoon she fell and broke both bones in the same arm.

Mrs. M. R. Pendleton is spending the week with Fullerton friends.

Sam Bland of Santa Fé Springs is sinking a twelve-inch hole in search of artesian water.

Rev. Frazer and family of the Methodist Church have gone to Long Beach for a few days.

Ewell Manning and wife are home from their trip to San Diego county.

Ex-Senator R. B. Carpenter was in Downey Wednesday, looking after his ranch interests.

Mrs. Sallie Jones of Pulaski county, Ind, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stout.

Jim Townsley, wife and sister, Miss Dayle, will go to Catalina next week, to stay two weeks.

The county road overseer is preparing to straighten the road from Clearwater to Norwalk, where it now bends around the farms of Fleming and Thompson. A new bridge will also be placed over the river on that line. The work is now in progress.

Rev. Prewitt of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church has resigned his charge here, and accepted a call to the Lompoc church. The health of a young daughter has much to do with the change.

Oliver J. Newlin and Mrs. M. S. Hamerton were married Wednesday noon at the home of the bride, her father, Judge Phillips, officiating. They went to Santa Barbara for a brief honeymoon, after which they will locate in Downey.

D. S. Strine and party of lady friends went to the Downey camp in the cañon above Azusa yesterday for two weeks' rest.

Dr. W. E. Whitney, who has been visiting in Downey for four months, has decided to locate in Whittier, and has removed there.

Frank Sproule of the Union Mercantile Company is off on a ten-day vacation. He is spending it at the mountain ranch of a brother in Silverado Cañon, above Orange.

DISCUSS QUESTIONS OF EVERYDAY LIFE.

CHRISTIAN CONVENTION PROCEEDINGS AT SANTA MONICA.

Temperance Engages Attention of Many Speakers, but Other Interesting Subjects are Presented—Former Residents of San Diego Hold Reunion.

SANTA MONICA, Aug. 14.—"The Relations of the Church to the Condition and Environments of Daily Life" was the subject of several addresses in the Christian convention this morning. Rev. J. R. Shie gave the opening address on "The Church and the Saloon." Rev. Bruce Bowen of Denver followed with a strong plea for a closer bond between the church and the workingman.

During the past year the churches at Pasadena and Los Angeles have raised their indebtedness and four new houses of worship have been constructed.

Friday is to be devoted to the Christian Sunday-schools of Southern California, with J. P. Ralstin presiding. At 8:30 a.m., devotional prayer will be led by Col. Ogburn of Riverside. 9 a.m., Prof. McGarvey will lecture; 10 a.m., the Bible school by S. W. Leffingwell; 10:35 a.m., "The Text-Book; How to Use It," by Joseph Craig; 10:55 a.m., talk by Prof. J. H. Freeman on "The Principles of Teaching." There will then be a discussion on these different subjects, followed by a paper from A. H. Thomas. At the afternoon session the conference of workers will take place, led by Superintendent E. Ott, followed by talks on the home department, A. H. Thomas; primary class, Mrs. H. E. Ward; boys' class, C. W. Utter; girls' class, Mrs. F. L. Ainsworth; young people, Miss Martha Crabtree.

The concert which was given by Mrs. Princess Long this evening at the Auditorium, in connection with the Christian convention, was attended by a large audience.

SAN DIEGO REUNION.

A pleasant reunion was held on the sands this afternoon by a number of people who are now staying here, but all of whom have lived or are now living in San Diego, and a watermelon feast enjoyed. Among those present were: Prof. and Mrs. J. W. McGarvey, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Freeman and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Crabtree, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Connelly, Mr. and Mrs. George Ringo, Dr. and Mrs. L. G. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Craig, Mrs. Spence, Mrs. Leach, Miss Madge Patton, Mrs. Mathews, Mrs. and Miss Allen, Mrs. O. D. Cheatham, Mr. Hogan and Frederick Shaw.

SANTA MONICA BREVITIES.

Mrs. W. E. Pedley and Mrs. G. L. Waring gave a tea this afternoon at the Casino. Begonia blossoms intermingled with papyrus made effective decorations. The hostesses were assisted by Mrs. Rita West, Miss Elizabeth Marshall and Mrs. Mackey of Riverside. Ping-pong and tennis were enjoyed during the afternoon. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Flower, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Parker, Mrs. G. Wiley Wells, Mrs. H. A. Winslow, Mr. and Mrs. J. Erwin Hoy, Mr. and Mrs. Young of Duarte, Mr. and Mrs. Kern, Mr. and Mrs. Hodson, Mrs. J. Addison Smith, Miss Brooks, Miss Ethel Sutton, Mrs. John T. Gaffey and Mrs. George Hutton.

A jolly crowd held a picnic today at Rustic Cañon. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Perry, Mr. and Mrs Charles Dick, Mrs. E. P. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Johnson, Jr., Mrs. J. S. Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. Modini-Wood, Miss Gladys Cummings, Miss Anna Chapman, Miss Estella Heartt, Miss Edna Bicknell, Kenneth Preuss, Mr. Dickinson and Dick McGarvey.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Preuss entertained at dinner this evening at their summer home on Second street. The dining-room was prettily decorated with pink roses. NON-COMMITTAL VERDICT IN AVALON KILLING.

JURY RECOMMENDS THAT BOYD BE HELD FOR TRIAL.

Man Accused of Shooting W. H. Yeager Refuses to Testify at Coroner's Inquest—Johnson Tells Story of Too Much Drink.

AVALON, Aug. 14.—The Coroner arrived this morning, accompanied by Dr. E. H. Garrett, and at 1 o'clock began an inquest on the remains of W. H. Yeager, who was shot and killed early Wednesday morning. Dr. Garrett made a post-mortem examination before the jury convened, and found that both gun shots had penetrated the brain, one making its exit through the lobe of the left ear, making the wound supposed at first to have been slight. The other shot struck just above the left eye and is still imbedded in the brain. Either shot would have caused death. Messrs. Harriman, F. S. Hutchins, Thomas McLean, Moll and Claudius were selected as jurors.

Harry Johnson, Jr., was the first witness. He gave his residence as No. 521 South Los Angeles street, Los Angeles, his age as 19 years, and his occupation as a cigar clerk, his last employment having been with A. B. Boyd, who was with him in the room when the shooting occurred. His story was a description of a day and night of dissipation, drinks following drinks from about 11 o'clock Tuesday morning until shortly before the shooting occurred. Ten or twelve drinks of apricot brandy and whisky had been taken during the day, and the bartender's tab showed eleven rounds of drinks had been served while the game of cards was in progress. Boyd, he stated, was intoxicated, but neither he nor Yeager were much affected by the liquor.

Describing the game, Johnson testified that about 2 o'clock a.m. he quit playing, having lost $20; that at 4 o'clock Boyd was slightly ahead of the game. From that time on the drinks came swifter and Boyd lost steadily until he had lost between $140 and $150 in cash, $50 he borrowed from Yeager on a gold watch, and $50 he secured from the same source on a diamond stud. When all this was gone he asked for an advance of $50 more on a second watch. Yeager declined and said he would play no more poker then, as there was plenty of time in the future. After asking twice for the loan, Johnson said Boyd rose from his chair, and when refused a third time, drew his revolver and fired two shots in rapid succession, accompanied by a vile name.

Boyd then threw the gun on the floor under Johnson's chair and Johnson picked it up and carried it out of the saloon, delivering it at the door to a passer-by, who had been attracted by the noise of the shooting.

A number of witnesses were called, but they merely gave evidence as to what occurred after the shooting. The jury found that the deceased, W. H. Yeager, came to his death from gun shot wounds delivered by some one unknown to them, and recommended that A. B. Boyd and Harry Johnson, Jr., be held, the latter to give bond as witness to the shooting, and the former to the criminal court for further examination.

Boyd was called to the stand, but declined to testify. He was represented at the inquest by Oscar Lawler, Esq., of Los Angeles, who cross-examined witnesses, and it was upon the advice of his attorney that he declined to become a witness. He will be taken to the County Jail.

This afternoon the following telegram was received from Henry A. Yeager of Princeton, Ind.: "I have a son who was at your hotel. Was it him who was killed yesterday? Give description."

An Associated Press dispatch from Louisville, Ky., says that W. H. Yeager was a native of Princeton, Ind., where his father, Hon. Henry A. Yeager, is a prominent citizen. For the last few years W. H. Yeager had lived at Louisville. He came to California six months ago.

TUNA STILL BITING.

The tuna excitement continued throughout yesterday, but was not nearly as fierce as the day before. Several were brought in, but many more escaped, after being hooked, than were captured. Charles B. Paine of Cleveland, O., with the Lydia, caught one, weighing 150 pounds, in one hour and ten minutes. After making the tuna catch the Paine family proceeded to stock up on groupers, and in five hauls of their multi-hooked lines, secured seventy-five.

A. H. Brown of Fullerton, caught a tuna weighing 126 pounds, from the launch Violet G., in one hour and thirty minutes.

Miss Larinia M. Hendley showed her skill as an angler, and her strength and endurance by fighting a tuna for one hour and forty-five minutes, before bringing it to gaff. Its weight was 101½ pounds.

Judge Charles Ogden of Omaha captured a tuna weighing 101 pounds, in about an hour.

Eugene Atwood of Stonington, Ct., brought in one weighing 138 pounds, but was obliged to call for assistance from his boatman, Mexican Joe, just at the finish. A look at Mr. Atwood's hands would explain they why of it. For several days he has been making a hard fight for a button, and is a much better subject for the tuna hospital.

F. M. Gardner of Waco, Tex., has a grievance against the shark family similar to that of Mr. Taylor, also of Texas. His tuna was bitten off a considerable distance up from the tail, but still weighed 125 pounds when brought in. Unfortunately, none of the weighing committee was about at that time, and in the morning, when Mr. Gardner looked for his catch, it had been converted into tuna steaks, and he fears he will not be able to secure a button, that would otherwise have been his due.

DIVING FOR TREAURE.

Two Japanese divers, hunting for lost treasure, at the bottom of Avalon Bay, furnished diversion for hundreds of visitors to the isand today, and proprietors of glass-bottomed boats were kept busy carrying people back and forth to the launch Linda, from which the operations were being conducted.

Last Friday, while returning from a trip to the Isthmus, on the Ramona, and when descending from the upper to the lower deck, Mrs. W. T. S. Hammond of Los Angeles dropped her chatelaine overboard. The receptacle contained nearly $10 in money, and four diamond rings, valued at several hundred dollars. An attempt was made to get a line on the position of the boat, from Sugar Loaf and the shore, in case an attempt was to be made to locate the purse. Mr. Hammond, who is cashier of the First National Bank of Los Angeles, believed that it was possible to recover the chatelaine by diving, and sent over two Japanese professional divers this morning, and all day they have been making trips alternately, remaining down from one-half to three-quarters of an hour, searching the bed of the ocean, for the lost jewels. Before the search was begun, however, the bay had been dragged, but without success, and no better luck followed the divers. Mrs. Hammond said tonight that while she had little hope of recovering the purse, the divers would work again tomorrow.

Miss Margaret Riley of Philadelphia is spending a few weeks with friends at Avalon.

BLUEGRASS CLUB.

Former Kentuckians of Southern California Meet to Form a State Society. Many Expected to Join.

Bent upon forming a Kentucky society of Southern California, about fifteen former Kentuckians of Los Angeles met last night in the office rooms of Dr. F. S. Byington, Sixteenth and Main streets, and laid the foundation for a Bluegrass Club. They believe there are enough Kentuckians of good standing in this part of the State to form one of the strongest State societies in California, and over 150 have already signified their willingness to join in the movement.

The meeting last night was presided over by Dr. Byington, with John Urquhart acting as secretary. There was just one daughter of old Kentucky present, and to her was accorded the honor of placing her name first upon the membership roll.

The discussion of the club plan resulted in the appointment of a committee on permanent organization, consisting of Dr. Byington, John Urquhart, M. B. Jones, Louis Luckel and William Romel, who will examine into the plan of organization of the different State societies now existing here, and report upon the best system to be followed. The next meeting will be at the call of the chair.

Those enrolled last night are as follows: Mrs. Anna Clay Biddleman, Judge J. R. Dupuy, Col. Thomas A. Lewis, Col. Henry Laub, Luther Travis, William Rommel, J. W. McClellan, Mattison B. Jones, W. F. Andrews, N. W. Coffman, Charles W. Winters, L. W. Gray, John Urquhart, Louis Luckel, Dr. F. S. Byington.

FARMERS will be especially interested in our correspondent's description of the great Canadian wheat belt, its management and its profits, in the Sunday Times Magazine of August 17.

AN article on the Isthmus of Panama, its people, and the condition of the abandoned canal, will be a special feature of the Sunday Times Magazine of August 17.

BAKERSFIELD.

LOST BOTH HIS FEET.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

BAKERSFIELD, Aug. 14.—John Darathin, while beating his way, fell from a freight train near Wade on the Southern Pacific, about five miles south of this city, about 6 o'clock this evening and both his feet were cut off. The engineer of a train following saw Darathin lying near the track and stopped his train, backed up and put the man aboard. He was immediately brought to the Southern Pacific Emergency Hospital in Kern City. He was later removed to the County Hospital. His chances for recovery are slight. He was formerly in the employ of the Southern Pacific Company and about 45 years of age, single, and hails from North Adams, Mass.

The World's Volcanoes

The Times offers its readers a complete history in folio form of the volcanoes of the world.

These folios are ten in number and profusely illustrated with half-tone photographs of all the great volcanoes, including:

... Mont Pelee, La Soufriere ...

AND THE

Martinique and St. Vincent Islands

Since the Terrible Eruptions of These Volcanoes.

These folios, from number one to seven inclusive, are now on sale at The Times office and can be secured according to the directions given below:

ILLUSTRATIONS

The illustrations are from photographs, many of which were taken at the risk of the lives of the daring photographers, and include views of the various Islands and their people, more particularly of Martinique and St. Vincent. Forty of these views were taken while Mt. Pelee was still in eruption, and convey, better than any text, an idea of the destruction and desolation of this dreadful disaster. Many views are given of Guadeloupe, St. Lucia and Dominica, in which many of the inhabitants of the stricken country have taken refuge. The views of the country and people in the Danish West Indies give a faithful representation of what promises to be soon a portion of the United States.
